The Community Chest Campaign

A few years ago hundreds of friends rang door bells each year and wrote us touching letters as to the needs in our neighborhoods at large. Today one loyal worker calls at our door, representing a stalwart organization, the Community Chest, staffed by capable, generous men and women who not only direct the operations but check every cent of outlay and take much time in careful consideration as to economy and efficiency.

To make all patients pay full hospital costs would be like making those who have fires this year pay the full annual fire department costs. When you and I or our children, or friends (above all, let's think of others) need the hospital it must be there in operation. Then comes the visiting nurses, the services for the handicapped and the needy in so many ways (maybe family problems), youth, children, Scouts, the Y.M.C.A., in all some 330 agencies cover the field.

All hail this door-opener as he or she greets you! He carries the story of those great needs, and gladly let's decide that the annual high outlay for movies, cigarettes, refreshments and countless luxuries justifies from each of us a pledge commanding our personal self-respect.

Newton has always cared for her own and more. That is our heritage. May your greeting be warm and your response generous, gatifying.

A PROCLAMATION

By His Honor

PAUL M. GODDARD

Mayor

We in Newton again stand ready to answer the annual call of the Greater Boston Community Fund which includes our own Community Chest. This is a call to the highest service, that of hard and untiring effort to help not ourselves, but others.

Let's "Ring the Bell" which will promise kindly and understanding assistance to all those in our Community who are in need of our various Red Feather services. Let's "Ring the Bell" in this campaign which will signify that Newton has done its job, that it will assume its share, and that it will not fail any of those who are in need.

We have worked and sacrificed during the last few years in meeting a great National emergency. We have drawn upon the spiritual and moral resources of our citizens who never paused to count the cost. We are now confronted with the necessity of providing the basic needs of living for those who have to face distress and suffering, and we must rebuild and strengthen the moral fibre and sinews of the Nation.

The future of Democracy may depend on how well we meet this challenge, which we can and will do with continuous inspired effort. Let's "Ring the Bell" with a firm and neiping hand, let's ring it loud and clear, let's send its message to all who are waiting for its promise and assurance.

PAUL M. GODDARD,
Mayor.

Larger Contributions, More Subscribers Needed to Meet Increased Costs And Greater Demands for Services; Hoyt Confident of Success

The Newton Community Chest General Campaign will start following the Opening Dinner, to be held at the Newton High School tonight, November 7th, at 6:30 p.m. The goal of the Greater Boston Community Fund, with which the Chest is associated, is $7,000,000. Newton has accepted $321,000 as its share of this goal. A substantial part of the sum raised will be allocated to the local Red Feather Services during the year 1947.

More than 2300 Newton citizens are enrolled in this campaign. 2100 of these volunteers are in the soliciting organization, of which 500 have already been at work during the past two weeks in the Advance Gifts, Manufacturing, Mercantile, and Municipal Divisions. The other 1600 in the Residential Division are planning to intensify their calls over the coming week-end. The Newton Campaign will end on November 21st with a closing night gathering at the Chest office on that date.

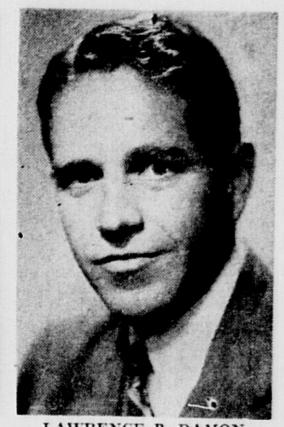

The theme for the campaign this year is "Ring the Bell." In Newton and the 50 other communities associated with the Greater Boston Community Fund, the workers will be busy during the next fortnight ringing door bells. Church bells will ring on Red Feather Sunday, November 10, and Newton and all the other cities and towns hope to be able to "ring the bell" at the end of the campaign, indicating that the campaign has been a huge success.

Participating in the campaign will be the 14 local health and social Red Feather services and 316 other Greater Boston services. The member agencies of the Newton Community Chest who will participate in the Community Chest Campaign for 1947 operating deficits are Newton-Wellesley Hospital, Newton Y. M. C. A., Family Service Bureau, Newton District Nursing Association, Norumbega Council Boy Scouts, Newton Local Council Girl Scouts, Newton Catholic Welfare Committee, Stone Institute, All Newton Music School, Rebecca Pomroy House, West

Financial Policies of Red Feather Services Supervised by Comm. Chest

Newton has 13 Red Feather Services in addition to the Newton Community Chest itself. In one campaign in the fall of each year, the Chest endeavors to raise the funds for its Newton Red Feather services and to supply substantial additional funds for the Greater Boston Community Fund, which now includes 330 member agencies.

The Chest office handles all the details in preparing for the yearly campaigns. Pledge cards and control sheets are prepared, a complete record of contributors and prospects is kept, and special campaign records and statistics are made for use in preparing for future campaigns.

The financial policy of Newton Red Feather Services is supervised by its officers, board of directors, and the budget committee, and all allotments of funds to provide the yearly agency deficits after considering all estimated income are made by the Chest. The general policy of operation is agreed upon between the Chest and its agencies and guidance and advice towards economy and effectiveness of operation is given by the Chest.

The funds for Red Feather Service operations in Newton come from the Greater Boston Community Fund and the Newton Community Chest dispenses these funds directly to the agencies as needed during the year. Financial reports in detail are filed monthly by the Red Feather agencies and complete reports of all financial operations are kept by the Chest. Each fall, prior to the campaign, the budget committee holds two days of hearings when agency requests for the coming year are presented and discussed and following which the budget committee makes its recommendations for

Why $7,000,000 Is Needed

—o—

The goal thtis year is $7,000,000. That is the amount which the Budget Committee and Board of Directors say is the minimum needed to enable the Red Feather services to carry on their work in 1947. The Budget Committee is a group of volunteers from business, the professions, union labor, who spend hundreds of hours yearly examining the financial situation of the Fund services. They know the needs. You can trust to their judgment.

Budgets of most of the Red Feather services have increased, largely for two reasons:

1. Costs have risen during the past year. Costs of supplies affecting the service to people have increased tremendously. Repairs to buildings and equipment, neglected during the war, must be made. Agency workers have not had the wage increases that most everyone else has had.

2. Services rendered are greater than ever before. Unhappy homes, caused in many cases by hasty marriages, have placed a heavy burden on family and child-care agencies. Juvenile unrest, with increasing maliciousness and crime, is a challenge to youth agencies. Service to returned veterans has added to the work of the agencies.

The Story of the Red Feather

—o—

The Red Feather has been used used for hundreds of years as a "badge of courage". Great eagle feathers, dyed red, were worn by American Indians to show a victory over the enemy. Robin Hood's men won it for special acts of goodness. During the Crusades, the Black Prince awarded it for unusual valor or chivalry.

Today it is still the emblem of courage and the fight against sickness, distress and despair. The Red Feather is a symbol of our desire to bring health, happiness and opportunity to all the people of Greater Boston and of our willingness to share what we have with the less fortunate. Combined with the 12 blue stars which represent twelve months' service to people, the Red Feather is as much a distinguished service medal as any won on the battlefields of the recent war.

Rebecca Pomroy House Shows People How to Help Each Other

The Rebecca Pomroy House is a Red Feather Service to the people of the Newton Corner Community. Although the greater number come from this area, there are a great many from Nonantum and Newtonville and others from West Newton and other Newton villages.

All ages find things which interest them. The youngest of Pomroy House participants are brought by their parents to the Well Baby Conference and the Nursery School. Children, young people and adults find the program stimulating and interesting and suggest other activities through which they may find satisfaction. Youngsters find the playground apparatus and open area a place to expend their energies in clean wholesome fun.

For those who have an interest in creating, there are clubs and classes in sewing, knitting, cooking, etc., whose results prove their usefulness and where proud parents may boast of the accomplishments of their offsprings. Women who are energetic may do many of the things which help to make budgets go farther or may join in the programs provided for them to increase their morale and that of their families.

An important part of the Pomroy House program is getting people to help each other. A number of young girls give service, after a training course, during the summer months on the playground. High School age members and mothers teach household arts. Members, like the little fellow pictured, make things for themselves and for others to tide them over during these days of shortages and high prices. Giving pleasure and satisfaction to others brings greater pleasure and satisfaction to all.

Co-operation is going to make a better world, we all agree. At the Pomroy House everyone does his part, and the effects, it is felt, may be far-reaching.

"I brought happiness to somebody else, too, when I made this doll carriage out of scraps for my little sister!"

Ed Gardner as Archie is the star of "Duffy's Tavern." He says: "Leave us face it... by contributing to your Community Chest, you'll be helping some kid stay off the street—and away from places where trouble starts, 'cause the Community Chest provides funds for such Red Feather services as kids' clubs and Scouting and the 'Y's.' So g'wan and give—don't let some kid in your town grow up to be another Duffy!"

NEWTON GIRL SCOUTS—Martha Rowley and Priscilla Ford who have given 462 hours of service to the Newton-Wellesley Hospital as Junior Aides, at work on a project in the laboratory, under the watchful eye of Miss Stewart McLean, laboratory technician.

Girl Scouts Founded Nearly 35 Years Ago

"On this, the eve of the Community Chest Campaign," states Mrs. Henry Whitmore Jr., Commissioner of the Newton Girl Scout Council, a Red Feather Service, "we call a nation-wide 'time out' from trial, stress, and atomic bewilderment for a glance at a very refreshing and inspiring picture. The picture is that of the Girl Scout organization, whose more than a million members will embark this month on the second year of a two year postwar active citizenship program designed to make 'Better Citizens to Build a Better World.'

"Under the competent direction and supervision of trained volunteer leaders, Girl Scouts everywhere are becoming more and more an indispensable part of community, national and international life," Mrs. Whitmore states. "How? By learning, within their own troops, to be useful and active citizens able to make decisions; to respect the right of others; to participate in group planning and the carrying out of plans; by keeping abreast of current changes, trends, and activities, being able and ready to offer their skills and services, whenever and wherever needed."

Newton Girl Scouts have carried out this program concretely in their service to the Newton-Wellesley Hospital where 68 Girl Scouts have given 462 hours of assistance throughout the past year and among other things by filling 112 Friendship Bags and Thinking Day Boxes for the Girl Scouts and children in the war torn countries. These friendship bags went to children in Luxembourg, Norway, Lithuania, Holland, Greece, Czechoslovakia and Italy. Through the efforts of Newton Girl Scouts too, 30,000 cans of food were collected and sent to Europe this past year. The Girl Scouts have also wrapped Christmas gifts at the Red Cross Office for men on the high seas and assisted the Community Chest in many ways at campaign time.

Girl Scouting, the largest organization of its kind for girls in the world, was founded in the United States almost thirty-five years ago by the late Juliette Low, in whose memory national Girl Scout Week has just been celebrated. The traditional Seven Service Days, as they are called, are set aside to demonstrate the many and varied activities which are made available to girls through the Girl Scout program. On Sunday uniformed troops attended services in their own churches. Monday was Homemaking Day; Tuesday, Arts and Crafts Day; Wednesday, International Friendship Day; Thursday, the anniversary of Mrs. Low's birth, was Citizenship Day; Friday, Arts and Crafts Day; and Saturday, Out-of-Doors Activities' Day.

"The children of the world today will be the citizens of the world tomorrow," said Mrs. Whitmore. "The future, the job of digging new ditches through which the waters of peace and economic stability are to flow belongs to them. But these girls must be backed up. They must be guided and helped, and that job belongs to the adults."

Girl Scouting, the common ground of understanding to all girls, regardless of nationality, race, or creed, now serves in Newton 1,957 girls and over a million in the United States. With sponsorship and more volunteer leaders it could serve a million more.

All Newton Music School Instructs Pupils in Elements of Music, Provides Instrumental Lessons

The All Newton Music School, a Red Feather Service, has shown remarkable progress during the past year. The services of the school are open to all economic groups, and provide an opportunity for musical growth and development to students regardless of race, color or creed. Over five hundred young people from every part of Newton are enrolled.

Especially valuable are the many music group classes which are conducted each week. These provide good teaching under democratic conditions, and give excellent training in ensemble playing and singing. Five classes in Theory of Music with children ranging from six to twelve years of age meet every Tuesday afternoon. These classes instruct pupils in rhythm, notation, construction of scales, teach the various elements of which music is made, and give a foundation in the knowledge and skills essential to the trained musician.

Orchestral training is started early at the Music School. Three junior orchestras meet weekly and prepare boys and girls for the senior orchestra. To be eligible for the "big orchestra" is the ambition of every student of instrument.

Many hundreds of lessons are given during the season in piano, violin, cello, clarinet, flute and voice. Recitals and concerts are given to allow pupils to play before audiences several times during a school term. Since its beginning, the school has provided a musical education to thousands of students.

The All Newton Music School is one of many community music schools in this country. These schools are an outgrowth of the music settlement idea, and the sincerity of this movement has done much for the morale of youth and for the advancement of our national culture.

AIR PARENT-TEEN AGER PROBLEMS AT FORUM IN NEWTON HIGH — Scene on the stage of the Newton High School Auditorium recently during forum discussion of parent-teen ager problems. Community Council Sponsors Lectures, Radio Programs, Under Leadership of Prominent Educators

The "Teen-Age Community" climaxed the series of four programs entitled "We, the Parents" sponsored by the Newton Community Council, another Red Feather Service, and the Newton Council of Parent-Teachers' Association in cooperation with the Newton Public Schools during the four Monday evenings in October.

Radio Station WHDH turned over one of its feature public service programs, "Citizens of New England—This Is Your Business" conducted by Ray Kierman, WHDH News Editor, to broadcast the proceedings from the stage of the Newton High School Auditorium. The four students who participated had discussed the questions with their fellow-classmates for two weeks in advance of the program and generally agreed that parents should have more confidence in the judgment of their teen-agers — that they ought to treat them more as adults and not as small children. Leading the discussion was Mark A. McCloskey, Director of Community Education in the New York Public Schools, who was recently awarded the Medal of Merit by President Truman for his work on national community problems during the war. Clarence R. Mease, Executive Director of the Newton Community Council and Secretary of the Y.M.C.A. in Newton acted as chairman of the meeting.

During the series "We, the Parents," the sponsors and the steering committee were able to bring to Newton other speakers of national repute in the field of parent and children's problems in the persons of Dr. W. Lin wood, Chase, Professor of Education at Boston University and Mrs. Ava E. Burrows of Harvard University Research staff who put the "Spotlight on the Family"; Dr. Harold C. Stuart, Professor of Pediatrics and Child Hygiene at Harvard School of Public Health, who discussed the "Health and Physical Fitness" of our children; Dr. Herbert Barry, Jr. of the staff of several Boston hospitals and a practicing psychiatrist who, speaking on "Mental Health and Happiness," stressed parents affection as the greatest boon to a child's mental health. Four prominent Newton citizens acted as chairmen of these meetings—Harold B. Gores, Assistant Superintendent of Schools, Dr. Chester M. Alter, Dean of the Graduate School of Boston University, Dr. Kirtley F. Mather, Professor of Geology at Harvard University, and Clarence R. Mease.

A total of nearly 3000 people attended the four meetings and the sponsoring officials are confident that parents went away with at least a few answers to some of their perplexing problems on family relationships. At the last meeting Mr. Mease invited the audience and their friends to send in suggestions or criticisms of this year's series so that if a similar series is to be given next year, they may present the type of programs that will be of real help to parents and teachers. From the beginning it has been the hope and expectation of the sponsoring committee that the general topics selected would stimulate local parent-teachers' groups to discuss some of the more specific aspects of these problems in their meetings this winter and they have announced that they would be glad to be of assistance to these local organizations in obtaining speakers and planning such programs.

Newton-Wellesley Hospital

Why It Needs for 1947 Much Greater Financial Support Than for 1946

A Statement from Clifford H. Walker, President

"For 11946 the hospital believes that an operating deficit over and above its grants from the Community Chests and the Wellesley Hospital Fund cannot be avoided. This results from increases in general expenses not foreseen when the 1946 budget and the grants for this year were made. Community support for 1946, therefore, is apparently not large enough for actual needs.

"For 1947 the expenses of Newton-Wellesley Hospital will be even greater and, if its service to the public is to continue, much larger grants from the Community Chests will be necessary. In 1947 there will be felt for the entire year the burden of certain major cost increases which in 1946 is falling most heavily upon the latter months. Its 1947 budget shows that, with due allowance for rising costs, considerably more than twice its 1946 grant will be needed. In almost every department expenses have increased and are still increasing. For example, the cost of nursing care is estimated to exceed the 1946 cost by some $50,000, that of housekeeping by over $20,000, that of dietary (meals) by $20,000 and so on. In each cost, wages are included.

"To try to meet the burden of these increased costs every effort has been made to attain economy of operation, and repeated increases in rates and charges have been effected. Expense, however, continues to exceed income.

"Why does the hospital feel this burden of rising costs so much more than other agencies?

"The short answer is that it performs a wider range of services to a greater number of persons.

THESE STUDENTS of the Newton-Wellesley Hospital School of Nursing are receiving instruction in the technique of taking a patient's blood pressure. One student nurse is playing "patient." They first learn the art of nursing by practicing on each other before undertaking actual care of patients under supervision.

"Its services go far beyond the provision of room, board and skilled nursing care. It maintains in its laboratories and X-ray department skilled technicians and costly equipment; it educates and trains nurses, dietitians, medical students and interns; it has its own pharmacy and makes some of its own supplies; it runs its own laundry; it maintains its own plants for heating, lighting, power and refrigeration and attends to the upkeep of extensive buildings and grounds; it cares for accident cases and in its out-patient and social service department treats medically and by wise counsel thousands of cases not hospitalized; it cooperates with the city and town health departments in the prevention and control of disease; it provides a meeting place and other facilities for doctors, where new methods of treatment and modern techniques are demonstrated and discussed. Besides caring for the sick, it has some of the functions or aspects of a hotel, a school, college or university, a business establishment, a health center, a social service agency and a charitable institution. For every patient in the hospital there are required, as a minimum, 1½ paid employees of all kinds, in addition to student nurses and volunteer help. Many of the paid employees are provided with food, lodging, laundry, medical care and incidentals at substantial cost, in addition to wages and salaries, and all of the student nurses and many or most of their instructors and supervisors receive such items of maintenance and care. Few people realize that an important service rendered by the hospital to the community is the training of nurses. In its school for nurses there are from time to time as many as 200 students who are thus made available for the care of the sick in their homes and in hospitals, for public health work, for service in doctors' offices and industrial establishments and for military service in time of war. The maintenance of this school, with its paid faculty and the support and education of its students, adds materially to the hospital's cost, while benefiting greatly the citizens of the two communities.

"The performance of all the above-named functions involves a wide range of expense, in which price increases, and the enlarged demands of labor are heavily felt.

"From another standpoint the number of persons to whom services are directly rendered is an important factor in the situation. For each of these, medical, accounting, clerical and statistical records are required, involving a considerable administrative, clerical and accounting force, in addition to those employees immediately concerned with the care, feeding, housing, plant maintenance and other services rendered.

"In 1945 there were created in Newton-Wellesley Hospital 6295 persons, of which number 5526 came from Newton or Wellesley. In that year 6836 out patient treatments were given, 2728 operations were performed 7295 persons had X-ray pictures or treatment, and 39,807 laboratory tests were made. The volume is expected to be greater for 1946 and 1947.

"The general problem now faced by the hospital was covered by my statement published in the local papers last September. From that article the following pertinent extracts are taken:

'In general all hospitals are meeting the same or similar problems and difficulties involving increased costs of operation. Everyone realizes that costs of food, supplies and equipment have increased markedly and are continuing to increase. It should also be realized that the relatively low compensation traditionally paid to hospital workers will not, under present economic conditions, retain all present employees and will not attract efficient new ones. Furthermore, justice and fairness to those who serve us loyally and faithfully in our hospitals urge us to wish to reward them adequately. It should be understood that the paid personnel of a hospital includes not only nurses and technicians, but laundry, kitchen and housekeeping workers as well as engineers, mechanics, painters, carpenters and others. Their work has borne heavily upon them because it has not been possible to obtain an adequate number of workers.

'Saving money could to some extent be effected by discontinuing in whole or in part free or partly free service to patients unable to pay in full, or at all, the established rates. That would be failing to meet an important or perhaps we might say an essential purpose for which the institution was organized. It would furthermore be unfair to the interns and doctors of the active medical staff because it would reduce or greatly lessen the number of ward patients served by such persons, and therefore detract from the valuable experience received by such professionals through their present service.

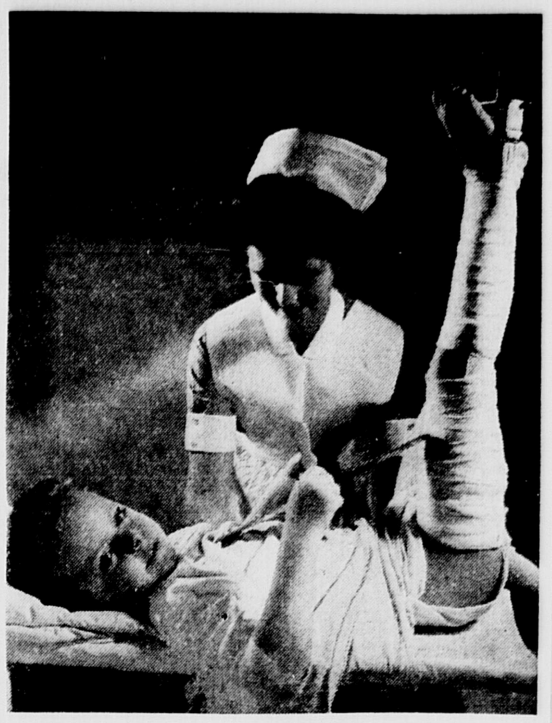

'Another method almost as impracticable would be to shut down part or all of the plant, including the facilities now utilized for ward patients. This would not effect all the saving that might be needed because the maintenance of the organization as a whole would require certain essential overhead expense and the closing of facilities would greatly reduce the income from patient care.'

"Until a general decline in costs occurs, if it does occur, or greater income with less proportionate expense is realized from the construction of an enlarged and more efficient plant, the hospital can continue to serve the citizens as it now does only by their furnishing through their Community Chests a larger fund from which it can meet its increased burden of expense. It is, of course, the obligation of the administration of the hospital to seek increased income and increased savings from all possible sources, such as charges for service, endowments and operating economies, before appealing to the citizens of the communities to take care of operating deficits. This it will do. There are, however, severe limitations as to how much more such sources can yield in 1947 over 1946. Help, therefore, must come from ALL citizens. To ask the unfortunate sick to provide the greater part of the increased cost through further increased rates to patients is neither feasible nor good community policy. Many patients cannot afford to pay in full the rates now existing and some can pay nothing. Furthermore, it means much to each citizen just to HAVE a hospital ready to care for him if he be taken ill and, for that protection, which might be deemed insurance, it is proper to ask him to help provide funds.

"The discontinuance or curtailment of the service rendered by the hospital to our citizens, through lack of funds derived from community support, would be too serious a catastrophe to be permitted to occur. Except as increased income and increased savings can be found from other sources (and, as earlier stated, there is faint hope that such increases can be found) the only certain way to avoid such a catastrophe is by increased generosity on the part of citizens in their donations to their Community Chests."

AMOS AND ANDY TALK COMMUNITY CHEST

Amos: "It's a fine thing, Andy, that once every year people get a special chance to help make their home town a better place to live in by contributing to their Community Chest."

Andy: "That's right, Amos. And just think how everybody benefits. The Scouts; that baby that needs a good-home; that family that's sick. I tell you the war has left a lot of trouble behind it for a lot of people."

Amos: "So give all you can."

Andy: "You'll never know how often you'll be blessed."

"I'm not as worried as I look, folks"

Could it happen here that the Community Chest campaign would fall short of the quota?

... that we'd cut down on the services of our Visiting Nurses, our clinics, our hospitals ... the care to the aged ... the Scouts, the "Y's," the camps, and the recreation and community centers that mean so much to our youth?

It can't happen here! It WON'T happen here. NOT IF YOU'LL DIG DOWN AND GIVE—GIVE GENEROUSLY TO YOUR COMMUNITY CHEST.

LET'S KEEP 'EM SMILING!

Children may have little bodies, but they have awfully big hearts.

Did you ever see a kid swell up and practically burst when he felt he wasn't "getting the breaks"?

You just melt and want to give him the world.

And you do give youngsters a bright new world when you give to the Community Chest.

The Chest includes such Red Feather services as the Scouts, the "Y's" and Community Houses. It means that every child can go off on hikes in the summer . . . or build model planes, learn hobbies and play games in the winter.

It means, too, that there will be visiting nurses, clinics and hospitals to keep them healthy and strong.

So let's buy the kids in our area a great big chunk of happiness. They're only young once. Let's give them a childhood to remember!

The good your Community Chest Dollars do

Teen-agers of Scouts, Camp Fire and the "Y" learn valuable lessons of leadership and service as junior aides in community day nurseries or playgrounds.

"Heart O. K." says the doctor — and yours is o. k. too when by your gift you offer to everybody's baby the kind of protection and care you'd want for your own.

Parents know that Jimmy is busy, absorbed and happy when he's at the Community Center—and best of all, they know he's with a mighty good gang!

When illness strikes or operations loom, it's reassuring to know that your Red Feather services offer you—and everybody—the finest in healing care.

Nothing was ever truer than the maxim: "An idle mind is the Devil's playground." By providing youth with healthy recreation, the Chest's Red Feather services go a long way in preventing juvenile delinquency. As you know, you'll never find a healthy, happy child in a juvenile court.

Norumbega Council, Inc., B.S.A., Active in Developing Scouting

Norumbega Council, Boy Scouts of America, embracing 56 Units of Cub Scouts, Scouts and Senior Scouts, is the organization which for over twenty-five years has been responsible for developing Scouting in the Newton-Wellesley area. This Red Feather service is associated with the Newton Community Chests in the Greater Boston Community Fund, which begins its Wellesley campaign for 1947 funds on November 7. To assist in preparation for the campaign, Scouts of the Council delivered Community Fund leaflets to 20,000 homes between November 1 and 5.

One of more than 540 Boy Scout Councils in the United States, Norumbega Council ranks high for the breadth of its activities and for its standards of achievement. For administrative purposes the Council area of Newton and Wellesley is divided into five districts. The Council has its headquarters at 259 Walnut stret, Newtonville, and possesses a cabin-equipped camping reservation at Nobscot, located in Sudbury and Framingham, for year-round use.

The many men and women in Newton and Wellesley who devote much of their time to the Council's work call themselves Scouters. They perform a wide variety of duties in cooperation with the Council officers, of whom F. Brittain Kennedy is President. The Council's Scout Commissioner is Edward C. Michaud, and its Scout Executive is Robert E. Pettit.

Scouting under the guidance of the Boy Scouts of America has been an American Institution since 1910. In the early years, Scouting was a program for boys of 12 years of age and over. But for a number of years now, its program has been designed to meet the interests of boys from the age of nine up to the time they become voting citizens. Throughout, the program aims at inculcating high ideals, giving opportunities for acquiring and practicing skills in many fields, and developing qualities of self-reliance and leadership.

In Norumbega Council, Boy Scouting includes the three major divisions of the National program —Cub Scouting, Scouting, and Senior Scouting. A boy at nine becomes eligible to be a Cub Scout, at 12 he can become a Scout and as such he is a member of a Patrol within a Troop. When he reaches 15 he can enter Senior Scouting, remaining as a member of a Troop, if he chooses, or entering into the specialized activities of Air Scouting, Explorer Scouting, or Sea Scouting.

Of Norumbega Council's five districts, four are in Newton, as follows: — Quinobequin (Newton Highlands, Upper and Lower Falls, Waban), of which Wilbur Bullen is District Commissioner; Sachem (Newton Centre, Oak Hill), James Blackall, District Commissioner; Squanto (Newton, Newtonville, Nonantum), Walter Chase, District Commissioner; Viking, (Auburndale, West Newton), Frank Dowcett, District Commissioner. The Wellesley District is named Maugus and Page Sanderson is its District Commissioner.

Scouting policy does not provide military training, but sufficient drill in marching is necessary when parades are scheduled. The Scouting program is intended to supplement rather than duplicate the usual school recreation activities; therefore athletics are given a minor rather than a prominent part. Scoutcraft and a knowledge of nature are stressed in the program, with camping topping the list as best-loved by all the Scouts.

Norumbega Council is fortunate in having its own reservation for camping—a privilege enjoyed by very few Councils in the United States. The Nobscot Reservation, located partly in Framingham and partly in Sudbury, consists of some 200 acres presented to Norumbega Council by friends of Scouting. It was dedicated October 12, 1928, and a full-time Ranger is in charge. Cabins have been erected by 27 troops, usually with the whole-hearted assistance of Scout fathers. Several troops have raised sufficient funds to build their own cabins but at the moment are unable to secure building materials. Part of the reservation has been designated for outdoor camping with tents.

It would be impossible for an individual Boy Scout to earn every one of the 113 merit badges listed, so great is the scope and variety of the knowledge and skills involved. To become an Eagle Scout, the highest award in Boy Scouting, the requirement is 21 Merit Badges. These usually include proficiency in the fields of Pioneering, Life Saving, Swimming, First Aid, Forestry, and Camping (at least 40 nights). Over 400 Newton boys have earned the rank of Eagle Scout.

At the outbreak of the war, the late President Roosevelt early requested the drafting of the Boy Scouts of America for Emergency Service. More than 200 members of Norumbega Council were among the first in the nation to be sworn in for Civilian Defense duty, the Newton boys being sworn in by the Mayor of Newton. These Boy Scouts were then trained for messenger and courier service; their duties were to carry messages at the Newton Air Raid Control Center, to act as personal couriers to Zone and Sector wardens, and to cover the courier communication posts established in the Newtons. The prime purpose was to condition and prepare the Boy Scouts, both as individuals and as troops, to effectively meet any emergency or disaster in cooperation with the Red Cross, Office of Civilian Defense, Police or Fire Departments.

During the war the boys of Norumbega Council originated the V-Mail Scout plan whereby they wrote to neighbors serving overseas, and for a considerable period an average of 1000 letters a month were written by members of Norumbega. This local project so impressed the Executives at National Headquarters that it was adopted on a country-wide basis. Countless Boy Scouts in America kept their friends overseas in close touch with home-front activities.

A number of other war-time projects were executed by the local Boy Scouts: they distributed government posters in co-operation with the Red Cross. During war bond drives they distributed posters, ushered at rallies, served as messengers and worked at headquarters. During the salvage campaigns they collected over 249,860 pounds of waste paper, also large quantities of rubber, metal, tin cans, grease; then milk weed pods for life jackets, books for military camps, clothing for the victory clothing drive, and canned food for UNRRA.

The General Eisennower award was presented to 189 Newton Boy Scouts who each collected over 100 pounds of scrap paper. Those who served during war bond drives received citations from the United States War Finance Division and the United States Treasury Department.

Under the "Food for Freedom" project every Norumbega Council Boy Scout had to plant at least 400 square feet of vegetables and grow them for consumption. Under the government's Forestry conservation program, the Norumbega Scouts participated in planting trees and shrubbery at their Nobscot Reservation. They also assisted in Red Cross and Community Fund drives and marched in the parades on Armistice and Memorial Days.

At U.S.S. Catfish Launching

On November 9, 1944, Norumbega Scouts participated in the launching of the Submarine U.S.S. Catfish at Groton, Conn., and the Council's name was included on the plaque presented to the Submarine as being among the workers in the War Bond drive that financed the craft.

Held Scouting Exposition

Also during the war period the Boy Scouts of Norumbega Council organized a mammoth Scouting Exposition which was held April 7, 1945, at Newton High School. Attended by 7000 parents and friends, this event presented colorful displays of all Scouting techniques and activities.

Although now back on a peace-time schedule, the Boy Scouts of Norumbega Council are still concerned with the effects of the war on brother Scouts in distant places. The current "Shirts Off Our Back" drive is a vigorous effort to collect the Scouts' own outworn or discarded uniforms and equipment to be sent to needy Boy Scouts overseas.

Norumbega Council has reason to be proud of the fact that two former members of its own Executive Board are now serving on the National Executive Board; they are John M. Bierer of Waban and William V. M. Fawcett of Newton.

The Scouting Movement started in England and was founded by Robert S. S. Baden-Powell. Since its inception, Boy Scouting has become world wide. As the "Movement" grew in the United States, local Councils were organized all over the country. Scouting in Newton started three decades ago and Norumbega Council was chartered in 1924.

Newton's Scouting Units today total 39, with a membership of 1600 boys and 500 Scouters. There are 13 Packs of Cub Scouts, 26 Troops of Scouts, 1 Air Squadron, 1 Explorer Unit, 1 Senior Outfit, and 3 Sea Scout Ships. Cubmasters of Quinobequin District are: H. M. Deming, Stephen Hopkins, Fred Newcomb; Sachem District: K. Huberman, P. E. Eden, H. H. Gaffney, Donald M. Hill;— Squanto District: James Riggs, Ralph Angier; Viking District: George Kolar, Sidney Thomas, R. C. Reed, O. Vaccaro.

Scoutmasters for Quinobequin District are: Samuel Melick, R. Schroeder, Donald Nordbeck, T. G. Doyle, S. N. Hamilton, Robert O'Leary; Sachem District: R. N. Means, Warren Green, D. M. Carr, M. G. Chamberlain, Paul D. Foley, James Blackall; Squanto District: C. S. Cronan, Nelson Boudrot, Ralph Hinckley, R. H. Creed, Gustav Hagen, Geo. Larsen, Daniel Welch, Geo. Kunerth; Viking District: E. C. Hilliard, Don Fifield, H. A. Amidon, Geo. E. Higgins, Geo. MacDonald, Maurice Mosher.

Leader of the Air Squadron is C. W. Forbush; of the Explorer Unit, John Cox; and of the three Sea Scout Ships, Herbert Smith, Richard Brown and Abbott Rodenhiser.

A prominent director of boys' and girls' recreation recently stated that America's youth problem is equally as important as our foreign relations problem or our domestic, internal problem. Unless the youth of today are trained to grasp the principles and exercise of good citizenship, the United States of tomorrow cannot hope to live in a world of peace and good will.

For this reason the present stress on citizenship training and character building found in the program of the Boy Scouts of America is the paramount answer to the preservation of our democratic way of life. The Boy Scouts of America bring together the youths of all races, colors and creeds to live together, play together, and work together—forming a national unity that cannot be broken by individual or corporate selfishness or greed.

In striving to maintain the ideals of the Boy Scouts of America, the Cub Scout makes this promise—"I promise to do my best, to be square, and to obey the law of the Cuo Pack."

When the Cub Scout becomes a Scout, he takes this oath: "On my honor, I will do my best to do my duty to God and Country, and to obey the Scout Law; to help other people at all times; to keep myself physically strong, mentally awake and morally straight."

The Senior Scout Citizenship Pledge is as follows:—"I will continue to live the Scout Oath and Law. I will keep myself familiar with the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States—with its Bill of Rights and obligations. I will respect and obey the law—to further that true freedom and security for all, which comes with liberty under law. I will wholeheartedly cooperate in the responsibilities of my home, and will participate in the civic and social activities of my school, church, neighborhood and community, and when legally qualified, I will regularly register and vote in community, state and national elections."

NORUMBEGA COUNCIL, Boy Scouts of America, of Newton and Wellesley, a Red Feather agency, installs its newest scout troop at the Peabody Home for Crippled Children, Newton Centre. Members of the new troop, No. 8, at the conclusion of the ceremony, when the new Tenderfoot Scouts received Tenderfoot pins, certificates, and Scout neckerchief, are assembled with Senior Scouts and committeemen who will sponsor the troop. Left to right: George Durand, Frank Harriman, Norman Dubois, John Hughes, Hernan McDowell, Charles French, and Paul Johnson—all new scouts; John McAloon, Ned Grade, Leonard Kent, John Cummings, Milan Dickinson, Peter Cummings—senior scouts; Henry S. C. Cummings, committeeman; Robert E. Pettit, scout executive; Edward Michaud, Scout Commissioner; E. T. Dickinson and Worthing West, committeeman; and James D. Blackall, who organized the troop. (Camillen LaFlamme also qualified for Tenderfoot rank, but was discharged from the home a week before the ceremony to return to his home in Vermont.)

Making Every Gift Count

Twelve years' operation of the Community Fund has shown that on campaign once a year in place of 330 separate campaigns saves from 11% to 19% of the money contributed. The contributor can plan his gift for a whole year to 330 Red Feather services. One campaign saves the time and effort of the giver and the volunteer solicitor.

The money you contribute is made to do the greatest possible amount of good because of economy and efficiency and because of the Red Feather services working and planing together to help people.

These 330 Red Feather services cooperate to help keep us a happier, stronger community . . . Children's services, hospitals, clinics, youth services, day nurseries. . . Veterans' services . . . Homes for aged people. . . Opportunities for the handicapped . . . some of these famed throughout the country, but accepted as a natural thing here in Greater Boston. We pay for them. We run them. We use them when we need them. Our privilege—yes, our obligation—to help others is something we should cherish. . . not only because it numbers us among the generous people of our community and because we are helping to build a stronger community . . . but because we are proving to ourselves that we have the determination to keep democracy alive.

BE PROUD TO LIVE IN NEWTON. GIVE TO YOUR COMMUNITY CHEST.

"I'M NOT AFRAID... I'M NOT AFRAID... I'M NOT AFRAID... I'm"

"They're giving me the ether now. But I'm not afraid. Just tired. So very, very tired."

"The Visiting Nurse was a wonderful friend. She arranged everything . . . the clinic . . . the hospital . . . I don't know what I would have done without her."

"Did somebody leave the window open? There are bees in here . . . buzzing . . . buzzing."

"Jimmy, darling. Don't cry. Mommy's just going to the hospital for a few days. This nice lady is going to take care of you while I am gone."

"Jimmy! Stand back! I'm falling . . . Doctor! Nurse! I'm falling . . . FALLING . . . F-A-L-l-i . . ."

Somewhere . . . this very minute . . . Community Chest dollars are answering the prayers of someone who needs help desperately.

Every dollar you give is a white banner of hope to the lame and the blind . . . the sick and the aged . . . and the homeless.

Every dollar you give helps someone face the future unafraid.

Those dollars also help to build a better community by providing Red Feather family and youth services and educational programs available to everyone.

So give generously! It means so much to so many.

"LET'S GO!" A group of ten boys from the West Newton Community Center ready to pile into the station wagon and go off for a picnic.

West Newton Community Center Teaches Crafts, Stimulates Hobbies, Provides Summer Day Camp, Etc.

"Do you know of any men or women who are interested enough in young boys or girls to give an hour or so a week to meet with them and have a class in some craft or hobby at the West Newton Community Center?"

Not many years ago this question was put to a resident who had no idea that there was such an organization as the Center or a need for one. The need, always a few steps ahead of the fulfilment, is as urgent today as it was then, with growing families all about the Davis School Portable which is its home. But such a group does function earnestly and enthusiastically.

The people who go to the Community Center classes are your neighbors. The people who so generously give of their time and energy to run the Center are your neighbors. There is knitting, wood-working, home nursing, sewing, cooking, and swimming. There is basketball, social games, story telling, acting, dancing and art. The directors are always quick to recognize any new possibilities.

There is the summer day camp and picnics and under it all runs the thread of one person helping others toward wider horizons with as much repayment to those who give as to those who get.

The West Newton Community Center and a Red Feather Service is a community project as much for the people who can afford to give their youngsters music and dancing and drawing lessons as it is for those who can not, but who appreciate these things as adding graciousness and solidity and aims to our lives, and is in the American tradition, a reaching out and up freely for the better things.

Returned service men, alumni of the Community Center, have such a feeling of 'belongingness' that they make the Center one of their first calls when they come back.

The Center, now in its fortieth year of service has as its primary aim the fostering in its members of all the principles of fair play and mutual helpfulness.

A familiar word heard from everyone's lips at and about the Center is 'activity.' This and that activity is being considered; these or those people are pursuing a new line of activity. In such a spirited atmosphere of give and take, of real experiences in democratic living, it is only too apparent that in the West Newton Community Center people are actively working toward a full and useful citizenship.

Catholic Welfare Committee Renders Unusual Service

Keeping A Home Intact

A young mother, separated from her husband, requested placement of her two children in an institution. She was discouraged and bewildered and was acting upon the advice of her relatives.

Through contacts with the Newton Catholic Welfare Committee, a Red Feather service, the mother came to realize that she did not wish to part with her children and actually wanted to become reconciled with her husband. Gradually both parents became more tolerant of each other's faults as they discussed them with the committee, the worker, and with each other. They became reconciled after six months and re-established their home in a new neighborhood.

Adjustment Through Temporary Financial Help

Mrs. M. was pretty desperate when she applied to the Agency for temporary financial help. Her husband was ill; there were two young children to be provided for, and there were debts. She was willing to go to work but her husband and children needed her care.

The family was given temporary financial help until Mr. M. was able to return to work. Mr. and Mrs. M. were given encouragement and counseling with regard to their budget and the family is now out of debt and again looking forward to their father's functioning normally.

A Good Citizen in the Making

Tommy, aged nine, a likeable but mischievous boy, seemed to have a knack of getting into one difficulty after another. Finally he came to the attention of the Juvenile Court and was subsequently referred to one of the Committee's Volunteer Workers. Investigation disclosed that he was not having normal happiness at home. His father was an invalid and his mother worked. An older brother to whom he was attached was in the Army overseas. School reports were poor, and Tommy was inattentive at classes. It was evident that Tommy needed to be separated from his associates and that he needed a period of training in a controlled environment. A Catholic institution was selected and approved by his parents, who assumed responsibility for his support.

Tommy has been placed for about a year. He is making excellent progress and his family is delighted with his improvement. He is permitted to visit them regularly; and the Conference is keeping in regular touch with them in the hope that after another year under stabilizing influence Tommy may be returned to an improved home situation.

Bill Returns to His Community

Bill, who is sixteen years of age, was orphaned in early infancy. Subsequently he was placed in an institution by interested friends, where he remained until he became fifteen, when he was referred to the Agency.

He was placed in a foster home, with foster parents who had experience in caring for boys of his age, and who had the warmth necessary to make a boy feel that he belonged with them. A factory job was found for him and after a study of his aptitudes had been made, special training was arranged for him. Bill has had two years of normal life and now feels that he is a member of a family group.

These illustrations are typical of the helpful services rendered by the Newton Catholic Welfare Committee.

LET'S RING THE BELL!

THIS CLASSIC SHOT, caught by the camera man on the daily rounds of a visiting nurse of the Newton District Nursing Association, was selected from hundreds of Red Feather service pictures as one of 11 illustrations used in the workers' handbook for the Greater Boston Community Fund campaign. The District Nursing Association is one of 13 Red Feather services of the Newton Community Chest for which Newton citizens will be asked to give generously in the November campaign.

Newton District Nursing Association Furnishes Care to Citizens at Cost

On any day of the year, in rain, in snow or in sunshine, you can see the district nurse on the streets of our city headed toward one of our many homes. She is probably answering a doctor's call for service to his patient and will promptly give whatever care or treatment he wishes. At the same time, she will instruct some member of the family in the care of the patient during her absence.

The Newton District Nursing Association, a Red Feather service, is one of the oldest organizations of its kind in the United States and has for one of its objectives part time care of the sick in their homes under a doctor's instructions. This care is available to all citizens of the community and the fees charged those able to pay are based on the actual cost.

Through the generosity of friends and board members sickroom supplies and equipment such as hospital beds, wheelchairs and invalid walkers can be loaned to the patients nursed to make sickness a little easier to bear.

Two other important objectives of the association are the prevention of disease and the promotion of health. These are partly accomplished by holding Well Baby Conferences in different parts of the city. There are seven of these conferences located in Nonantum, Newton Corner, Newton Highlands, West Newton, Auburndale, Newton Center and Newton Upper Falls. Some of these conferences hold weekly sessions and some twice a month. There is always a doctor, nurse and often a nutritionist present so that the mothers may receive the advice of experts in the proper care and feeding of their babies.

Immunization against some of the communicable diseases of childhood such as diphtheria, whooping cough and smallpox is also available for the protection of the baby. Intermittent home visits are made by the nurses to make sure the mothers understand and can follow instructions in their own homes using their own equipment.

Service to expectant mothers is given in the home and busy doctors have found it invaluable to have the district nurses supplement the office or clinic visit to the mother. They also appreciate the speedy report of abnormal symptoms when they exist.

In her own home, with the tensions of a busy clinic or doctor's office removed, the mother is relaxed and in a mood to discuss her difficulties and find friendly help and advice. The nurse has time to discuss many of the important issues which have to do with child-bearing and the healthy rearing of children. This is particularly true of the little lady having her first motherhood experience. The mother's journey to the hospital for the birth of her baby does not end the visits of this understanding person, for the association is advised when she is to return home again and the friendly, helpful contact goes on as long as the mother wishes. Sometimes the nurse finds it necessary to call daily for a short time, until the mother feels strong enough to take over.

Space does not allow us to review all the ways and means in which the district nurses have made themselves an indispensable part of a community health and welfare program. These advantages are available because of the financial and moral support received from you through your Community Chest, as more than one-half of the budget on which the association operates is provided in that way.

Comm.-Chest

approval of the board of directors.

The budget committee of the Chest enjoys a friendly relationship with the officers and directors of the Newton Red Feather Services. One member of the budget committee is assigned as contact man for each agency. This member meets frequently with the boards of directors and finance committee of his agencies and through this contact, complete understanding is enjoyed so that financial matters are handled cooperatively and substantial savings frequently effected.

The Chest is administered by an executive director and an office secretary. Volunteer and part-time paid personnel are used to prepare for the campaign and in keeping campaign records.

The Chest works in close harmony with the Newton Community Council in the program of planning, elimination of duplicate services, and public relations. No agency is admitted to the Chest except on recommendation of the Council after thorough and careful study as to the services rendered and the need for those services.

Jim's heart must weigh darn near 2 pounds!

The average heart—so the docs say—weighs around 10 ounces. We figure that Jim's heart is a lot larger.

For Jim is not only giving a man-sized chunk of money to the Community Chest, but he's ALSO donating his time and energy as a volunteer solicitor.

If he calls on you at your office, give him a good break. Remember that the time he's taken from his own work will probably have to be made up at night.

If he (or his good wife) calls at your home, remember that he's giving up spare time that is precious to him . . .

He's got storm windows to paint and screens to take down. He'd like to be out bowling with the gang —or sitting down to a game of bridge. He, too, "brought some work home from the office." He, too, would like to take his family out for a ride in the car.

But the most important job in life this week, he figures, is to make a success of this drive for our Community Chest and its Red Feather health and welfare services.

As a matter of fact, Jim's heart is pretty light. When he sees neighbor after neighbor cheerfully dig deep and give—HE KNOWS HE LIVES AND WORKS IN A TOWN THAT CARES.

Won't you have your contribution ready for him when he calls on you?

Nutrition Center Checks Diets, Solves Eating Problems

In case the reader wishes to find a nice steak at the prewar price of 35c a pound, the Newton Nutrition Center is NOT the place to call. (We only wish we knew.) However, if you wish to know how to make one pound of hamburg satisfy four people, or what to use in place of meat, the Nutrition Center IS the place to call.

Answering questions and giving nutrition and budgeting advice in person or on the phone is, of course, just one part of the Nutrition Center's program. But before discussing more of the program, let us tell you about our organization and its development.

The community nutrition program originated in Newton in 1933 under the auspices of the Newton Chapter of the American Red Cross. At that time the foundation of a nutrition program was established. In 1935 the City Health Department, in cooperation with the Newton Community Chest, assumed the responsibility for the program realizing that it was a community service. The Health Department and Chest contributed towards its financial support. Since there was only one nutritionist on the staff, the scope of the program was necessarily limited. Restricted services were offered through the Newton Health Department, Newton Hospital, Newton District Nursing Association and the Family Service Bureau.

Soon after the outbreak of the war, it became apparent that the program was not broad enough to reach all the areas in the community. Through the Newton Community Council, a Nutrition Committee was appointed to survey the needs of the community and to make recommendations for revision and expansion of the work. The community was fortunate when Dr. Frederick Stare of Waban, accepted the appointment as chairman. Dr. Stare is Associate Professor of Nutrition, Schools of Medicine and Public Health, Harvard University; Associate in Medicine, Peter Bent Brigham Hospital; and Editor of "Nutrition Reviews," a journal which provides authoritative reviews of current literature and scientific research in nutrition.

The Newton Nutrition Committee held several meetings throughout a period of some months and consulted with the agencies in Newton interested in various phases of nutrition. The essence of these discussions was that the agencies already being served could effectively use considerable more of the nutritionist's time and that other organizations were desirous of having this service made available to them and integrated with their own programs. These recommendations were approved by the Newton Community Council in May, 1944. The expanded program required an increased budget. This was made possible by additional funds appropriated by the Newton Community Chest and the Newton Chapter of the American Red Cross and continuing interest of the Newton Health Dept.

Attention has been focused in recent years on the important role of nutrition in the fields of preventive medicine, curative medicine, and the broad field of public health. Federal, state, and municipal governments are sponsoring extensive programs in nutrition education.

During 1947, the three agencies—the Health Department, the Red Cross and Community Chest will be sharing equally the expenses of the Center. The Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association is providing office space in West Newton for the What.

The sponsoring agencies are backing the Nutrition Center's program because of the need in the community. In the last few years, extensive studies have indicated that a considerable portion of the population of the United States consumes a diet which is not as good with respect to several essential nutrients as most nutritionists recommend. A large study conducted by the Bureau of Home Economics of the United States Department of Agriculture revealed that 40 per cent of the families failed to receive what could be called a "fair" diet, and over three-fourths were not getting a "good" diet. A startling figure was also reported at the time of induction for military service—about one man in seven was disqualified because of conditions related to poor nutrition.

Perhaps the most important practical observations of recent years regarding nutrition are those which have shown that women who have eaten a poor diet during pregnancy suffer more complications and their infants are of poorer physical development at birth.

Other workers have shown that an increased intake of milk, fruits, and vegetables in the dietaries of children is followed by a great reduction in the occurrence and severity of dental decay.

Studies in industry have shown that the diets of a great many industrial workers are below "standard" and are not proper for health an efficiency. Although Newton residents may wonder if these average findings for the United States apply to this particular community, it is important to realize that adequate income is no indication that the family is well nourished. Poor food habits, indifference, and improper preparation of foods, resulting in loss of important food constituents, are major problems which may easily result in a poor nutritional status.

The Nutrition Committee trys to reach every age group in Newton. Because the early formation of good food habits is so important, a large portion of the nutritionists' time is spent with children. The District Nurses Well Baby Conferences provide an excellent opportunity for the nutritionist to help mothers when "Johnny won't eat."

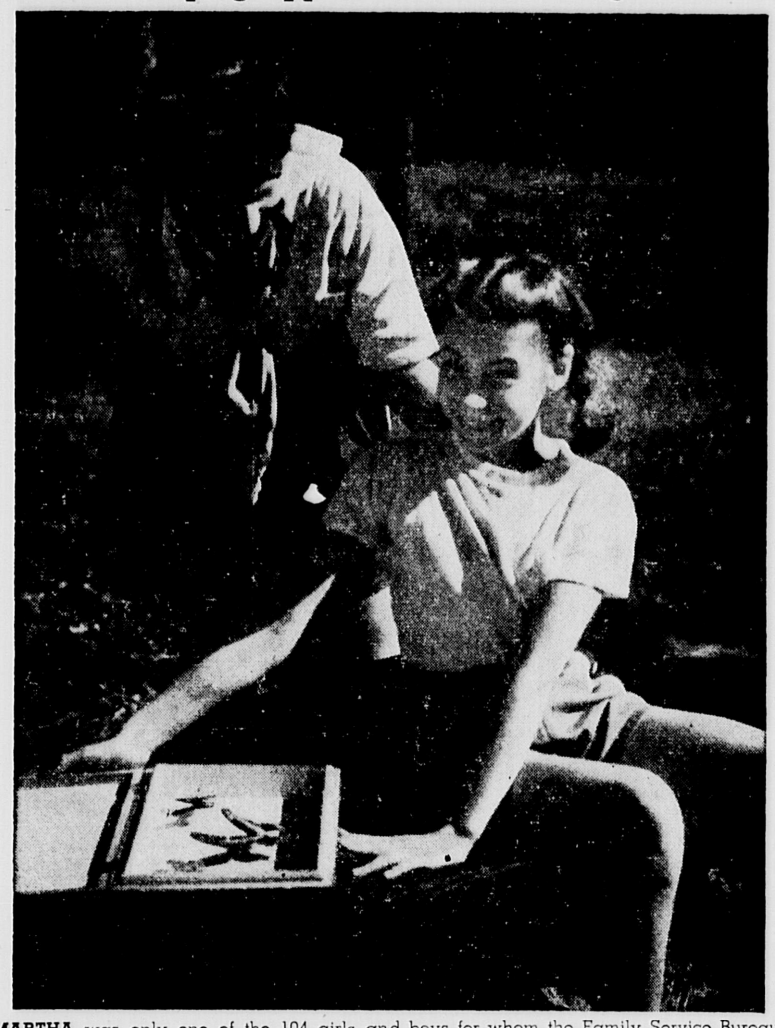

When children from 2 to 5 years of age attend the Pre-School Conference at City Hall, the Nutritionist is there to check diets and help straighten out eating problems.

When school children plan a party for their parents and want help with the menu and quantities of food needed, they may consult a nutritionist. Teachers in need of materials and references may also call a nutritionist for consultation. Girl and Boy Scout Leaders may have a Nutritionist talk to their troops and help plan badge work.

Adults are reached not only as parents in clinics and schools but also in groups and as individuals. The City Welfare Department and the Family Service Bureau consult a Nutritionist upon special cases. The Nutritionists talk to clubs and organizations and give demonstrations and classes on foods and nutrition. Three of the industries in Newton and all the suburban railroad stations have a monthly nutrition poster service. Food and nutrition information appears regularly in the papers.

Although much of the Nutrition Center's work is done through agencies and organizations, any individual may request information or assistance by calling or visiting the Newton Nutrition Center, 1357 Washington street, West Newton, Bigelow 4912.

Family Service Bureau Helps Solve Family Problems; Provides Camping Opportunities for Youngsters

MARTHA was only one of the 104 girls and boys for whom the Family Service Bureau, a Newton Red Feather Agency, arranged a total of 439 weeks at camp this year.

"Come quick and see—just see," exclaimed twelve-year-old Martha, her brown eyes glowing, as she showed her camp councilor the contents of a white box open on her camp cot. "Aren't they beautiful? I caught them myself and they are mine," she enthused breathlessly gazing down at three gorgeous butterflies and then eagerly up into her councilor's face. "I can't believe it! Miss Thomas, the case worker at the Family Service Bureau, said that there are lots of places where I can go and see hundreds of butterflies and bugs—that there are even schools where you can go to learn this kind of work. Imagine having such a wonderful job!"

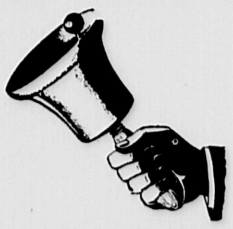

Martha was seeing a new world open its doors to her—what a different Martha from the worried, retiring little girl she had been just four weeks before. Her school teacher had referred Martha to the Family Service Bureau for camp because for the past six months her usual fine marks had gradually dropped lower and lower and she had withdrawn from her friends, seeming to be engrossed in some unsolvable problem of her own. It was finally decided that a month at camp for Martha would enable her mother to get started with fresh plans and would take her away from a family problem that her young shoulders should not carry.

Martha was only one of the 104 girls and boys for whom the Family Service Bureau of Newton arranged a total of 439 weeks at camp this year. There were John and Eddie, a fine pair of campers in spite of their being only seven and eight years old. Their father had recently returned from Germany where he had been a prisoner of war for two years, and their mother was ill and unable to care for them. Four enthusiastic little campers were Anne, Beatrice, Carrie and Jean who went to camp while their mother was in the hospital for a serious operation.

This year the Family Service Bureau of Newton, a Red Feather Service, had 164 applications for camp placement, the largest number in its history. But camp placement is only one phase of the service rendered by the Bureau. Its staff of skilled case workers are trained to help solve family problems such as: helping families to use their resources to best advantage; directing them to other community services, for example, clinics and special schools; assisting families to overcome difficulties causing drastic discord and children's habit problems, and helping in the readjustment and training of the bread-winner to do his work in industry.

The higher costs of living have made themselves felt sharply in all the activities of the Family Bureau but it is the Bureau's aim to operate during 1947 with but a nominal increase in its present budget.

"'Tain't funny, folks!"

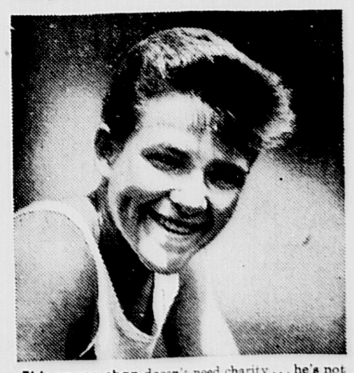

A message from
FIBBER and MOLLY McGEE to the citizens of Newton

"Every town would really be in a mess without a Community Chest . . . a worse mess, even, than our closet. Imagine the situation with social and health agencies falling over each other to raise money . . . and campaigns raining thick and fast on the heads and pocketbooks of sympathetic citizens. That wouldn't be good, would it? So let's all get behind our Community Chest campaign again this year . . . everybody gives and everybody benefits."

The entire community benefits when boys and girls find wholesome outlets for their energies in Red Feather youth centers, clubs and summer camps. Your Community Chest makes these activities possible. Your contributions are in the interest of everybody's health, welfare and happiness.

This young chap doesn't need charity . . . he's not underprivileged. But he benefits directly from the Community Chest. The Community Chest helps support youth organizations like the Boy and Girl Scouts and the "Y's."

Our town would suffer dangerously if it didn't have such Red Feather services as hospitals, clinics, nursing care, health and recreational agencies. Your support of the Community Chest helps make these needed services possible.

YMCA Provides Social, Educational, Physical Activities for Men, Boys

The Newton Y.M.C.A., a Red Feather agency, with a membership of over 2000 provides a program of social, educational and physical activities for boys and men in the community.

During the past year over 1500 ex-servicemen have accepted the free, three months membership which was available to all veterans of this war living in Newton and immediate vicinity. A very large percentage of this number renewed their membership and are continuing their activity in all phases of the Y.M.C.A. program.

Boy's Division

Activities and membership in the Boy's Division are at an all time high. In addition to their regularly scheduled gymnasium classes and sessions in swimming and swimming instruction, their program includes craft work, movies, clubs and game room facilities. Also a Tri Hi club and Hi Y club are very active in the affairs of both the local high school and Y.M.C.A.

Physical Department

Gymnasium classes, swimming and boxing instruction, squash, handball, badminton and weight-lifting are available to every member of the Newton Y.M.C.A. Men's Division. Also teams in basketball, swimming, baseball and tennis represent the Newton Y.M.C.A. in competition with other organizations.

Program Department

Such groups as the Round Table and Toastmasters make public speaking easy. The Rhythm Section (orchestra), Y's Men of Harmony (quartette), chess and stamp clubs plus a table tennis club provide the activity for many members who have a special interest or hobby.

The House and Church bowling leagues, duplicate contract bridge tournament, contract bridge class and coffeepot club make up the social aspect of the Men's Division program.

One of the most important groups in any Y.M.C.A. is the Y's Men's Club—the service club of the Y.M.C.A. Such an organization was started at the local Y.M.C.A. last spring and is now making a definite contribution to the program of the local Association.

A "Young Men's Nite" and "Tuesday Nite Movies" complete the regularly scheduled Men's Division program.

Girl's Work

Every Friday afternoon, October through May, the facilities of the Physical Department are made available to school girls in the city, ages eight to eighteen. Classes in the gym plus swimming and swimming instruction prove a popular Friday afternoon program.

Camping

Three camps were conducted by the Newton Y.M.C.A. this past summer. Two day camps, Camp Massasoit and Camp Chicami provided recreational activities for 300 boys who remained in the city during the summer months. The former was conducted on the Y.M.C.A. grounds and the latter's program at the Riverside recreational grounds.

Camp Frank A. Day played host to over 250 boys in its nine weeks season this past summer at Brookfield.

Community Program

Work with boys of Gra-Y age (grades 4, 5, 6) and Junior High age (grades 7, 8, 9) is being carried out on a much larger scale this year than last in the villages of Waban, West Newton and Auburndale. Available to those boys who live quite a distance from the "Y," the program gives them recreation and club work under Y.M.C.A. sponsorship and leadership.

Cooperation

The Newton Y.M.C.A. has opened its building and facilities to many groups and organizations during the past year. Regular swim periods have been and are enjoyed by the Newton Boy Scouts and West Newton Community Center members, both Red Feather agencies. Such clubs as Lions, Kiwanis, church groups, Girl Scouts and many others use the building for meetings and special events. In addition other activities as the Church Basketball league and Church Bowling league bring outside organizations in on a "Y" sponsored program.

The Y.M.C.A. has been a part of Newton for sixty-nine years. With the help of the Community Chest it looks forward to many more years of fulfilling its purpose of developing body, mind and spirit.

Aged People Find Peace and Security at Stone Institute

Living in peace and security at the Stone Institute and Newton Home for Aged People are twenty-five elderly ladies ranging in age from 65 to 90. The Institute, which is a Red Feather Service, is located in Newton Upper Falls and the residents have comfortable homes, a sun parlor, unrestricted use of the Home, and are provided with well balanced meals, including fresh vegetables in season, grown in their own garden.

Every physical need is met by a staff of four nurses, a special physician, and a dentist. The Home is supervised by a matron with years of experience.

Life is smooth, comfortable and protected for those who live here. The residents have time to read, rest, visit, sew, chat, and listen to the radio. Concerts and special events break the monotony. There is nothing exciting or spectacular, for comfortable living is the objective. Children, grandchildren, and friends visit often and the residents have them as their guests for dinner or supper on occasion

Stone Institute is in its 47th year of existence and has been at its present location since 1915. There is a longer waiting list now than ever and plans have been drawn which will double the present capacity to care for men as well as women. It is planned that in the near future the Home will be enlarged.

A medal makes a poor father

It makes a little fellow mighty proud to have a hero for a father . . . a guy like General Washington or John Paul Jones. But along about dusk when the other kids are starting out for the movies with their dads . . . when the fish are nibbling in the nearby brook . . . or when he just craves real he-man conversation, there's an ache in his stout little heart that no medal can cure.

For thousands of such fatherless children throughout the nation the Red Feather services of the Community Chests of America are doing their utmost to make life easier. Through Boy Scout organizations, settlements, clubs and other group activities, healthful recreation is provided. And there are clinics, hospitals and visiting nurses that guard their health and see that they grow sturdy and strong.

And for the mothers faced with the tremendous task of raising their children alone, your Community Chest has established Family Service Agencies staffed by experienced social workers. These men and women give mothers all types of help and advice on raising their families . . . keep the youngsters sound, useful citizens of the community. In this way countless juvenile delinquency cases are prevented.

Everybody benefits from Community Chest Red Feather services. That's why everybody gives. Do your part to make your community a better place for your own family, your neighbors and those children who are left with only memories of their fathers.

Our campaign is to raise funds sufficient for our Newton and Greater Boston Red Feather Services to carry on essential work in 1947. With the war over, it is a 100% Red Feather Campaign. It is a year of challenge because, with rising costs and increased demands for service, larger subscriptions are needed from all contributors. It is a year of decision. The question lies squarely before our people. Are we going to carry on our health and social services to humanity and keep our community strong or must services be curtailed? "I am confident that the people of our city and of the Greater Boston communities will meet the challenge and that Newton will surpass its goal as it has for many years."

Politics With Color

by P. W. C.

(The opinions expressed in this column are the writer's own, and do not necessarily reflect the views or policy of this newspaper.—Editor's Note).

G.O.P. Landslide

Obviously the voters in our forty-eight states had "Had Enough" and they followed the oft-repeated suggestion of voting Republican. The extent and the magnitude of the nation-wide sweep, however, are a bit staggering. Very few trained observers envisioned a drastic overturn in the U. S. Senate, where the Republican party was favored to work a miracle in order to gain control. The G.O.P. now has 51 seats as against 42 for the Democrats, with three seats not yet accounted for. Already there is talk of Taft of Ohio as the leader in the upper branch.

In the House of Representatives the G.O.P. picked up 29 more seats than were necessary. As this column is being written, the G.O.P. has 247 seats and the Democrats have only 185. Three contests are not yet decided.

Congressman Joseph W. Martin of No. Attleboro will be the next Speaker of the House. He has dreamed about this great honor for many years. What a cruel blow fate would have dealt Martin had the Sharp lady from Wellesley defeated him.

Once again the Republicans will have a clear majority of all Governors in the country. With one contest still in doubt, the G.O.P. has 25 to 22 for the Democrats.

Frankly, I doubt if one Republican in a thousand dared to hope for such an overwhelming victory. This victory, however, must be taken in the spirit of a command from ALL voters, Republicans, Democrats and Independents, to turn back our government to the people, in state as well as in the nation. The people are sick and tired of constant crises and emergencies, just as they are sick and tired of regimentation, shortages and constant confusion, muddling, waste and extravagance. What must our returning veterans think of the terrible mess in which their country has been wallowing for over a year since V-J Day. To these men in particular the Republican party is obligated most heavily. Veterans' housing should be the first order of business in 1947, when the newly elected Congress gets down to work. The next order of business might well be the attempted solution of labor-management problems, followed by an earnest attempt to balance the budget.

State-Wide Results

My sincere congratulations go to Governor-elect Robert Fiske Bradford, Senator-elect Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., and the other members of the G.O.P. state ticket. The heavy and rather unexpected margin of votes separating Messrs. Bradford and Lodge from Governor Tobin and Senator Walsh are the result of a huge protest vote all over the state. Let's be honest about the matter. Thousands of votes were cast AGAINST Messrs. Tobin and Walsh, and especially Governor Tobin. I have every reason to believe that Lt. Governor Bradford himself would be the first man to admit that. In a later column I shall consider what the humiliation of the Governor in Boston and in his own ward may mean in terms of future elections and also in terms of the Governor's personal future as a public servant.

The victory of Curtis over Hurley, one of the two magic names in this state, is of great interest to those of us who are naive enough to believe that what a man is and what a man does for the public is more important than his name, which, incidentally, was thrust upon the gentleman by forces beyond his control. To be sure, Arthur W. Coolidge, who is another apparent winner, in the Lt. Governor contest, also had the benefit of an important name. Coolidge, however, worked his way up the political ladder and did not owe his first victory to the name his parents gave him.

The triumph of Cook, who appears to be the official Secretary of State for as long as he lives and the handsome victory of Barnes over the noisy and unstable Frankie Kelly are also significant results. Especially significant is the passage of the Barnes referendum, despite a barrel of money spent by labor leaders to defeat it. My hat is off to Clarence A. Barnes, a man of unusual courage for a public servant.

Herter, Whitney and Lee

My hearty congratulations to Congressman Herter, who survived a nasty radio campaign against him, to Governor's Councillor Whitney of Concord, who ran ahead of both Coolidge and Wood in Newton and who almost equalled Lee's vote for the State Senate, and to Senator-elect Lee, another man who "has what it takes." Three high-grade men placed in three important positions. Watch the progress of all three in years to come.

Lower House

Congratulations also to Rep. Margaret Spear and Rep.-elect Whitmore, who polished off the Democrat who did not see fit to conduct his campaign AS A DEMOCRAT and who also tried to use the G.O.P. slogan. Lee's opponent also did not see fit to tell the voters that he was the regular Democratic nominee. What's the matter with these men?

Will Mr. Truman Resign?

My answer to that question is "No." And I think he is right. Why? Read this column next week.

Newton Free Library Observes Book Week Nov. 10 to 17

—o—

The Newton Free Library, at the Boys' and Girls' Library, 124 Vernon street, Newton and at the Branch Libraries, located in the different villages of Newton, will observe BOOK WEEK with suitable displays and exhibits of new books and worthy favorites of other years. This is a national observance, sponsored by libraries, publishers, authors, book stores, and the many organizations interested in youth. The Book Week exhibits are not only greatly enjoyed by boys and girls, but they also provide an excellent opportunity for parents, teachers and club leaders to examine and become acquainted with the latest and best books. There have been great improvements in the writing and producing of books for young people and BOOK WEEK has had an important share in calling attention to the best of these books.

The theme or slogan for BOOK WEEK — 1946, is "Books Are Bridges." Some of the books that can serve the reader as bridges are: to understanding other people; to lands around the world, to realms of imagination and joy; to facts and information; to the world of nature; to the wonders of science and industry; to new experiences; to sources of fun and entertainment; to appreciation of the past; to the building of the future.

A number of school classes are expecting to visit the library exhibits and displays during BOOK WEEK. The final event of the Newton program of observance will be a Library Board - Library Staff, Tea, which will be held on Sunday afternoon, November 17 at the Boys' and Girls' Library. This will have a Book Week setting and will be especially in honor of Mrs. William H. McAdams recently appointed member of the Board of Library Trustees.

The book exhibit at the Boys' and Girls' Library will be open Tuesday November 12 through Friday, November 15, from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. and on Saturday from 9 to 12 noon and from 1 to 6 p.m.

Halloween Parties Great Success More than 10,000 Children Have Merry Time at 240 Gatherings

Newton's fifth annual Halloween celebration came up to all expectations and many reports from building chairmen indicate that this year's parties were the best since this all-city enterprise was first planned and put into effect.

Mrs. Ragna Hovgaard, Supervisor of Recreation and Chairman of the Halloween Program Committee, expressed herself as highly pleased with the celebration and spoke in great praise of the parents and teachers, to the number of some 1500, who had spent weeks in shaping up programs. "The fact that the parties ran so smoothly," said Mrs. Hovgaard, "is ample evidence of the wonderful work and co-operation of every member of every committee. This celebration is a huge job. And it couldn't have been done better."

Mr. F. Ewing Wilson, Commissioner of Recreation, also voiced his satisfaction. "And the attendance was better," he added, "than I'd hoped for, in view of the conditions at the time. I believe that there was very little cut in attendance excepting, of course, in the case of the three parties which were cancelled. I visited many of the gatherings; and every one of them was going well and the children were undoubtedly enjoying themselves thoroughly."

Mr. Harold Gores, Assistant Superintendent of Schools, stated that many of the parties were exceptionally fine and that all of them were certainly up to the usual high standard.

Mr. Roy S. Edwards, President of the Newton Chamber of Commerce, made a complete tour of City. "The parties went off exceedingly well," he said, "and experience proves that they are serving the purpose for which they were intended. The citizens are behind them and are well justified in their feeling that our controlled Halloween celebrations are a splendid thing for the children."

Mr. William G. Read, General Chairman, who also made the rounds of the parties, was most enthusiastic about them. "When I saw how well the parties were being run, I realized how fortunate I had been in having the assistance of so many public-spirited men and women who gave their time and energies so freely to this great community endeavor. I am most grateful to all of them."

Chief of Police Nicholas Veduccio, who toured the City with Mr. Edwards, said that damage was negligible. "The only real trouble came from groups of large boys who came over the line from Boston; and even the damage they did was not serious. I'm happy to say that our own Newton children did very well." Fire Chief Keating haid he was "all for the parties. We had some fires. But those were set while the parties were going on and the children were off the streets."

Mr. Rupert C. Thompson, Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce said that "the merchants of Newton are completely sold on our Halloween parties. They've had plenty of proof that these neighborhood gatherings are definitely to their advantage and that since they were started, five years ago, the damage to property has been practically nil. Naturally, the businessmen's attitude towards them is most favorable and that's why they back our efforts wholeheartedly."

It would be of interest to give details about every one of the 240 parties, but space limitations prevent; therefore, only a few brief highlights can be given. They are, however, typical, and it would be difficult to make selections on the basis of merit, alone. For all the parties were excellent.

At the Hyde School, Newton Highlands, including children from the 2nd through the 6th grade, there was a fine costume parade. Games, songs and stunts—not to mention an exciting Chamber of Horrors—provided plenty of jollity. There was almost 100 per cent attendance.

The feature of the Junior High School party, at the Newton Highlands Congregational Church, was a pumpkin carving contest, that caused a great deal of merriemnt.

The Angier School, Waban, was the scene of several gatherings. There were movies, singing, games and a Chamber of Horrors that was most popular. A horse created a lot of fun with its antics—the antics being furnished by Archibald Price and Homer Hervey, who were the horse.

More than one hundred attended the Junior High party at the Waban Neighborhood Club. There were movies, guessing games with prizes, and music was supplied by a Victrola with an amplifier.

The Junior High students of the F. A. Day school, Newtonville, had two parties: on for dancing at the Day, itself; the other, at the Senior High School, where games were played. At the Day, music was furnished by Andy Jacobsen's orchestra. Featured, was an elimination dance. Prizes were a baseball glove and a billfold, awarded to the last couple remaining on the floor. The Junior High game party, at the Senior High, was in charge of Edward Abell, Director of Physical Education, Lexington, and Mrs. Wilma McCartney, formerly Superintendent of Recreation, Hacketstown, N. J.

The Bigelow Junior High party had an unusually good orchestra. About a hundred students played games, danced, watched movies and got a thrill out of the Chamber of Horrors.

More than 450 children participated in the fine get-together at the School of Our Lady, Newton. There were a great many clever costumes and the movie, "Ten Gents from West Point," went over in a big way.

One of the very popular events at the Levi Warren Junior High, was the prize dancing in the Night Club, which had been gayly decorated and provided with a juke box. Another joyous event was the costume parade, with prizes awarded for the best and worst costumes. In addition, there were grand prize drawings, the winners getting 24 tickets to the West Newton Theatre and 2 tickets to the Yanks football game. About 275 young people were present.

The Auburndale students of the Levi Warren held their party at the Normandie Room, Norumbega Park. There were games, square and ballroom dancing, and George Gillette, a well-known entertainer, put on a good show. About 150 attended and over 50 worthwhile prizes were distributed. Mr. William Rauha, Building Chairman, paid tribute to Mr. Gill, of Norumbega Park, for his splendid co-operation which did much to help make the party a success.

Upwards of 150 took part in the fun at the Stearns School, Nonantum. Kindergartners thru 6th graders had a wonderful time trying to outguess a magician, watching movies and parading around in costumes. More than 56 costume prizes were awarded.

Probably no student of the Senior High School will forget the party at the Totem Pole, Norumbega Park. It was estimated by Donald Cox, Building Chairman, that at least 1600 danced to the sparkling music of Baron Hugo's orchestra. School talent provided a most entertaining group of vaudeville acts and the applause after each number was deafening. These very clever and talented young people were: Peggy McClellan, Norma Gildersleeve, Jean Saunders, Carolyn and Johnny Mitchell and Jack and Bill Raleigh.

At all parties in fact, there was the greatest enthusiasm; and the hundreds of committee members who planned them can take great satisfaction in the realization that Newton's fifth all-city Halloween celebration was an unqualified success.

Newton Highlands Men's Cub

The Newton Highlands Men's club held its monthly dinner Tuesday evening, November 5, to a capacity house including several guests and eight new members.

During the dinner and for a brief following period the club was entertained by Charles Carrado, an accordionist of extraordinary ability.

The speaker of the evening was Irvin D. Shapiro, a Boston lawyer with considerable experience in conciliating labor problems. The subject "The Road Ahead for Labor-Management" is both technical and timely and the speaker gave the club a very excellent picture of the current labor-management problems and suggestions for solution.

Mr. Shapiro is particularly favorable to the adoption of incentive systems by management for the purpose of giving each employee a definite interest in his job and in the success of his company. He also feels strongly that government has a definite and most important mission to fill as the third party for settling disputes with and keeping management and labor happy and content. It was emphasized however, that this can be done successfully only by non-political conciliating or arbitrating boards which are fair and honest to both sides and in which both have friendly confidence. The opinion was strongly expressed that both management and labor need and would welcome boards of such nature to which it could turn for advice and relief.

The President announced a penny carnival to be held by the club on January 24. The club hopes through this event not only to provide enjoyable entertainment, but also to produce a profit which it is planned will be devoted to the establishment of a club house building fund.

OUR TOWN AFTER MIDNIGHT

By PAUL CONSIDINE

The election returns are all in, Ol' Doc Marcoux was unanimously elected president of the Newton Kiwanis Club, too, and the Newton Chamber of Commerce turned its big guns on Communism this week. Phil Carter, the Graphic's political commentator, called the turn on the general political outcome, also. The Chamber of Commerce, according to Secretary Rupert Thompson, is campaigning, so's to combat current "Communist infiltration in the United States," and city employees, in almost every branch of the city's service, are also campaigning for a slight increase in the weekly pay envelope, it is hoped, will enable them to keep abreast of the increased costs of living.

WAGE INCREASES . . .

Concerning the request of Newton's fire, police and other departments for a raise in pay, members of various branches of the Garden City's service units have informed this pillar that their "take home pay" after deductions for taxes, contributory pensions, etc., is somewhere in the vicinity of the thirty dollar bracket, per week. This sum, they continue, does not allow for the maintenance of a family.

The writer meets a more or less representative group of city employees nightly, firemen answering alarms, police patrolling the city and members of the city's emergency highway and water departments, are but a few. They all tell pretty much the same story. Attempting to exist, feed, clothe and provide shelter for their families, many of them are admitting that, for the first time in their lives, they are "falling behind." Owing an increasing number of debts, they tell you that they're utterly unable to "catch up."

The great majority of Newton's employees have been loyal to the city during the past five years. They've remained on comparatively low paying jobs while others, less loyal, left to earn the higher wages of the cost-plus war plants. It now begins to appear, as Mayor Goddard said two weeks ago, that something will have to be done for Newton's city employees if they're to keep abreast of the tide during this post war period of inflation, increased cost of living and uncertainty.

NEWTON'S TWO SENIOR DOCTORS . . .

A couple of weeks ago, it was this departments good fortune to be chosen as the one to trail an old friend, Dr. Thomas Morton Gallagher, to his home, so's to catch up with the facts concerning the discovery of ether. It was during that visit, too, the writer learned, for the first time, that Dr. Gallagher was named after the famous Dr. Morton, who discovered ether and that he had studied medicine at Dr. Morton's request. Since then, however, talking with Tim Riley, the Corner cop, we've also discovered that fifty-one male children have been named after Dr. Gallagher!

The other midnight, riding with "Doc," as he's known affectionately hereabouts since long before most of us began cluttering up the city, he said: "Sure, about fifty-one kids were named after me—including three generations in one family" . . . Dr. Charles A. Davenport, though, he insisted, was Newton's senior doctor. Both of them were athletes at Harvard, he continued, and that's why, plus taking care of themselves through the years, they're "always available."

THREE THOUSANDS BIRTHS . . .

Dr. Davenport has been "available" to the people of Newton for the past fifty-one years. He was a champion miler on the Harvard track during his college days and played varsity football there, when a gent just had to be rugged—or else. He's been a member of the Newton Hospital staff since long before we began to remember and, among other things, has presided at more than 3,000 births!

Incidentally, Dr. Gallagher also played football with the All American B.A.A. Champs. He was a bicycle racer, too, and was offered a baseball contract by the old New York Americans.

Fifty-one years ago, in 1895, Dr. Charles A. Davenport began healing Newton's ailing and in the year 1898, forty-eight years ago, Dr. Thomas Morton Gallagher settled here, so's to do likewise. Newton's two senior doctors . . .

AND THEY'RE STILL AVAILABLE . . . !

UNCLE WILLIE . . .

If Uncle Willie doesn't leave town pretty soon, the family will have to do something pretty drastic. His latest escapade with the cashier of one of our oldest banks here, isn't going to do this department even a bit of good the next time there's a little business to be done with the man who loans money over there . . .

Uncle Willie dropped in to cash a check the other day and Ben Louis, a personal friend of the writer, informed him that his account, as of October 1st, was overdrawn by more than $100.

"How much did I have in your bank on September 1st?" inquired Uncle Willie.

"$600," politely answered Ben.

"How much was there on August 1st?"

"Over $1,000," Ben replied.

"Then why bother me about your $100 in October?" roared Uncle Willie. "Did I bother you about my $1,000 in August!"

Dr. Truman B. Douglass Speaker at Central Church

DR. TRUMAN B. DOUGLASS

Dr. Truman B. Douglass of New York City, Executive Vice President of The Board of Home Missions of the Congregational Christian Churches will speak at Central Congregational Church in Newtonville on Thursday, November 14, at 8:00 p. m., on "The Christian Witness in America."

In this important national denominational post, Dr. Douglass is responsible for leadership in the total sphere of activities under The Board of Home Missions which includes the continental United States, Puerto Rico, Alaska and Hawaii, with total administrative and field budgets of about $1,591,160. The total assest, including invested funds, of The Board of Home Missions are $27,474,552.

One of the younger church statesmen with a pioneering vision, Dr. Douglass is prominent in national denominational and interdenominational circles and is active in all efforts to make the church a leader in the solution of social, economic and racial problems.

Dr. Douglass is a member of three Federal Council committees—the Committee of the Department of Research and Education, the Commission on Planning and Adjustment of Local Inter-Church Relations, and the Radio Commission. He is also a member of the Board of Trustees of the Evangelical Seminary of Puerto Rico, LeMoyne College, Tillotson College and Drury College.

In the fall of 1945, Dr Douglass was one of a deputation of seven American Congregationalists who made a trip to Great Britian at the invitation of the Congregational Union of England and Wales. The primary purpose of the visit was the resumption of active fellowship, but while there the deputation surveyed the destruction from bombings and made plans for the exchange of ministers, theological students and seminary professors when transportation difficulties are relaxed. "Wartime sufferings, losses and destruction have brought increased strength and a clearer sense of mission to the Protestant churches of Great Britian," says Dr. Douglass.

In its "modern pioneering" program, The Board of Home Missions under Dr. Douglass' leadership has done remarkable work in the field of race relations; in radio; in its aid to State Conferences in organizing new churches in residential communities that have grown up in recent years, and in its plans for work on college campuses and among returning service men and women.

A son of Iowa, Dr. Douglas is an alumnus of Pomona College and Union Theological Seminary. He came to his present post from the pastorate of Pilgrim Congregational Church in St. Louis, Missouri. Other pastorates included Upper Montclair, New Jersey, and Pomona, California.

Bishop Sherrill Officiates at Consecration Ceremonies of the Church of the Messiah, Nov. 3

—o—

The Rt. Rev. Bishop Henry Knox Sherrill, D.D., bishop-elect of the Episcopal Church consecrated the new Church of the Messiah, Auburndale on Sunday, November 3, at the opening ceremoney of the 75th anniversary of the parish.

Taking his text from St. Paul's letter to the Philippians: "I thank my God—for your fellowship in the Gospel" Bishop Sherrill preached on "Our Fellowship in Christ" saying in part:

"The meaning of the consecrated Church is not as obvious as it seems. We know that God is everywhere, yet here is one place we may surely come into his presence.

"The truly consecrated church is not of architectural beauty, nor of material elements at all. Nor do our prayers really consecrate unless our lives measure up to God's will. Smugness, unfriendliness, pettiness, human weakness all give the lie to many a consecrated spot."

The Bishop lauded the courage and faith of the rector, Rev. Richard P. McClintock and his congregation, in rebuilding the church following the disastrous fire which occurred on November 15, 1943. "With vision and determination, and with consecration," he said "they set forth in troublesome times and in the face of insurmountable tragedy and in less than three years a new church has been erected, completely furnished and now consecrated. An unforgettable day has been added to the 75 years of history of this parish."

Assisting in the consecration services were Rev. Richard P. McClintock, the rector; Venerable Arthur O. Phinney, archdeacon, of Lowell; Rev. Percival Mattson Wood who served as rector of the church from 1917 to 1934, and William A. Jackson, senior warden. The music was under the direction of Frank P. Pickett, organist.

Members of the Anniversary Committee are William A. Jackson, chairman; Miss Anne Bunker, Mrs. Earl D. Wood, Mrs. Gregory Samoylenko, Mrs. Paul H. Tardivel, Mrs. Maurice Beardsley, Philip R. Bridgeman, Edgar E. Dunlap, A. A. Robertson, Robert H. Smith, George M. Hansen, Herbert N. McGill and Dr. Charles D. Ansley.

The parish was organized on November 6, 1871 and the cornerstone of the first building was laid by Bishop Brooks on October 3, 1892, and on April 19, 1909 the church was consecrated by Bishop Lawrence. The cornerstone of the present church building was relaid by Bishop Sherill on October 15, 1944 and the first services were held in the new edifice on Easter Sunday in 1945. The new church building was dedicated on September 20, 1945.

On Wednesday evening an Anniversary Dinner was held at the Normandie Room, Norumbega Park. On Friday evening at 8 o'clock there will be a "Thanksgiving" Service in the Church with a reception for the minister and former members of the parish, and on Sunday morning at 11 o'clock a Parish Corporate Communion will be held. Rev. Richard P. McClintock will preach on "Our Faith Through the Years."

"World Order Day" Sunday

Many churches of Newton will join Sunday (Nov. 10) in special programs to mark the third annual observance of World Order Day.

The responsibility of the churches to provide moral and spiritual leadership in the present world crisis will be the theme of many group discussions and sermons.

This special day is part of a program of study emphasis in churches throughout the country this fall. Since September hundreds of special meetings and study sessions have been held, reflecting the general public interest in the peace treaty conference in Paris and the meeting of the United Nations Assembly in New York.

According to Rev. W. Henry Shillington, Executive Secretary of the Newton Council of Churches, the World Order Day Message prepared by the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America, will be read from a number of pulpits.

Declaring that "if there is to be sufficient world order to prevent chaos international relations must be changed at their source in the spirit of man," the Message emphasizes the new hope that the Christian witness offers for world order. "In the midst of preparations for war, made more fearful by new weapons, there is still the real possibility that humanity may gain the vision and will to turn in hope and confidence to God."

Expressing the fear that the new armaments race among the great powers must, if unchecked, "inevitably lead to catastrophe," the Message on World Order outlines the following imperatives for Christian citizens:

"It is imperative that we, as Christian citizens, become more informed about the bases of peace and take an active part in the shaping of foreign policy, by expressing clearly, each in accordance with his own conscience, approval or disapproval of measures proposed.

"It is imperative that we join with fellow Christians in the corporate world order programs of our churches to mobilize the Christian world community for action, and to project Christian principles into the peace settlements and the United Nations.

"It is imperative that we stand steadfast against all reckless efforts to solve the tensions of our times by violent means as well as against any weak surrender to these tensions in the form of defeatism and despair.

"It is imperative that we build up and sensitize the moral conscience of the people and a will to peace with justice which is both patient and persistent.

"It is imperative that we intensify our efforts in every field for the establishment of a deeper sense of brotherhood, through sacrificial giving to help heal the wounds of the world, through more thorough education for loyalty to humanity, through more devoted support of the missionary enterprise, through clearer manifestation of the Christian faith in our daily lives."

Ring the Bell

Bell Ringing is an ancient and honorable art. Experts in this art were leading and respected citizens of their communities in their day. Skill, patient study, and long years of practice were required to become an accomplished bell ringer.

We are being asked to ring the bell for community need in 1947. A mere tug at the rope will bring forth a faint hollow sound. Knowledge and skill will produce the mellow tones of real needs, conscientiously met.

Many of us are still in the rope tugging stage. We dip in our pockets and give a nominal gift with little thought of the many needs or of our opportunity to really contribute to better citizenship and decent living—our conception is blurred and vague because we have never been challenged really to learn how these community dollars are stretched to meet community needs.

1947 will be a crucial year. The community fund dollar will be used almost entirely in our local communities—our youth, our aged, our sick, our dependents will be served in direct proportion to our skill in "Ringing the Bell."

Costs for these services have risen just as our costs at home and business have soared. We believe in this work. Now it is for us to provide the increased income to keep our services at their high level.

"Think—then give" should be our motto. Each one of us has personal knowledge of some of the fine activities made possible by our gifts. Whether it is the youth or aged, the sick or indigent our community continues to be a better place in which to live because through the years skillful men and women have been Ringing the Bell of community need.

For thousands who know and care the tones of the community bell are clear and beautiful. For those who give, the satisfactions are lasting and those who receive are grateful through the years. Let's get at this task and may the bell ring loud and clear as each one of us takes our turn at the rope.

Post-Election

Out of the unhappy control of House and Senate by the Democrats comes the gratifying opportunity to the Republicans who have vainly worked many long years to win the country away from the course of leftist influence and place it on a course of sound finance and logic. The bulk of the people decided that the drifting of the Democrats did not make sense, and a heavy responsibility now shifts to the Republicans.

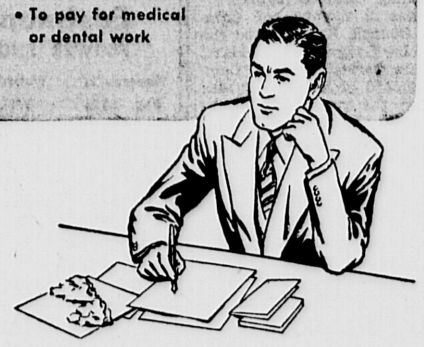

Out of the record of votes rise the names of some outstanding figures. The Republican Party has its first real chance in sixteen years to select leaders of sheer capability and character.

Among the early aims of Congress will be an income tax cut and a determination to rid the government of bureaucracy in an effort to balance the budget. Unfettering business from excessive regulation should allow the country to set its stride toward a period of real recovery in which the economics of supply and demand will rule. Labor circles must deeply reflect on the excesses of recent years and expect to be brought back nearer to a point of balance in control by modifying legislation. In this state the inclination of the voters has not been to heed the urge of union leaders, judging by the returns on the Barnes Bill ballot.

Some real progress in the development of social security measures has been effected during the past years that should be pegged as permanent gain. However, the loss-of-production factor in manpower should be remedied. Let's strive now in nationwide employment to so produce as to widely sustain turnover and prosperity with moderate profits, soberly setting about retirement of war debts as we did in the twenties—and, finally, may we hope to find men in the forefront who seek nothing more or better than serving their country—service above self.

'Uncle Elmer' and Choir at Newtonville Meth. Church Sun.

"Uncle Elmer" and his Pleasantville Choir, together with the "Pleasantville Neighbors," heard Sundays at 8:30 A. M. over WEEI, Boston, will make a personal appearance on Sunday, November 10, at 7:00 P. M. in the Newtonville Methodist Church, corner of Walnut street and Newtonville avenue.

Despite the popularity of this well-known radio group, you will find in their cast names of no great artists. It is just a friendly gathering of some twenty young men and women who are sincere in their efforts to be of service to humanity without distinguishing between race, creed or color. These young people work at their regular daily tasks every day and are employed as bookkeepers, stenographers, truck drivers, painters, clerks, school teachers and what not! They devote their spare time to bringing to an enormous and appreciative audience not only worthwhile entertainment but an extremely interesting and helpful program.

They have been instrumental in placing hundreds of wheelchairs, radio sets, and other articles too numerous to mention, in Homes for the Aged, Hospitals, and similar institutions. Their benevolent work among shut-ins and needy families is far-reaching, covering all New England states. During the past fourteen years thousands of people have listened regularly to their broadcasts in appreciation of the fine work this group is performing.

In addition to making some 500 personl appearances in New England churches, they have entertained in USO Centers, Army and Navy camps and Hospitals.

Mother, Dad and the whole family are cordially invited to see and hear this talented group of singers when they visit our community on Sunday evening. There will be no admission charged.

THE FINISHING TOUCHES—The decorating committee with designs at the Newton Junior Red Cross headquarters.

Junior Red Cross Is Preparing New Quarters

In a fine old barn in Newtonville a transformation is taking place. Dark and dusty walls have been freshened with paint the color of old-fashioned neavy cream, and careful craftsmen are putting on final decorative touches.

All this flurry of activity and fun is a project of Newton boys and girls who are members of the Junior Red Cross and are preparing their very own Junior Red Cross headquarters in the barn in back of the Senior Chapter House at 21 Foster street. Here will center their active program of local and worldwide service. The Juniors are displaying an intense interest in making their room a place to be proud of, according to Miss Jane Wyman, the enthusiastic chairman of Junior Red Cross.

All this work is being carried out in closest cooperation with the schools, and is in charge of Miss Eleanor Elliott, Director of Art for the Newton Schools, assisted by Mr. Albert R. Studer, industrial art teacher on the Junior High level. Under their supervision, color schemes have been selected and decorative patterns prepared. Junior Red Cross members who are in high school art classes have submitted original designs and from these have been selected the block prints to be used on the unbleached cotton curtains. This choice was made by a decorating committee consisting of representatives from the Senior and Junior High Schools.

The color scheme of the room was suggested by the bricks of the old fireplace, and consists of dark red with turquoise for contrast for the pattern on the curtains, and a dark red floor stippled in black, turquoise and white, and turquoise for the lining of the cupboards and display shelves. The chairs are of red leather.

Panels and murals on world friendship are being prepared in school art classes and in sufficient numbers so that they may be changed at intervals.

The painting is being done by the following boys from the Frank A. Day Junior High School: George Jordan, Frank Gentile, Bruno Visco, and Richard Young.

Sewing classes under Miss Gladys Davis, head of the Home Economics Department of the High School, are making the curtains. The following girls, working with their mothers, will apply the stencils to the curtains: Jean Fogg, Newton High School; Nancy Tibbott, Weeks Junior High; Shela Roberts, Warren Junior High; Aldyth Haney, Day Junior High; and Nancy Dillon, Bigelow Junior High.

Designs for the decorating of the room were made in the High School Art Craft Group under the direction of Miss Helen Niles The pattern chosen for the curtains was submitted by Virginia Mugford. Four wall hangings were designed by Barbara Millen, Evelyn Stone, Lenore Kanaster and Rita Visco.

The finished room will have many uses. Here the Juniors will meet to pack and prepare for distribution the many articles which they make in the classrooms, such as favors for servicemen and veterans and clothing for Family Service. There will be exhibits of the work accomplished and groups of school children will be brought to the headquarters on their educational tours. Boy and Girl Scouts will be welcomed there for certain of their activities, and groups from the Senior Chapter will use it occasionally for meetings.

Other Junior Red Cross members also are assisting the Senior Chapter. Ten boys and girls from the Frank A. Day Junior High School have volunteered to learn the use of the mimeograph as a Junior Red Cross project, and pupils in the Commercial Department of the High School have typed mimeographed stencils. In all these ways the boys and girls of Newton are learning the important principles of service and cooperation through this appealing work.

FOR EXTRA SAFETY AND EXTRA MILEAGE
THE NEW
B. F. Goodrich Silvertown
IS WORTH THE WAIT
There's no getting away from it! When you have a good thing—word gets around—and FAST! And from our view, it seems everyone is demanding the tire that OUTWEARS PREWAR TIRES.

The new Silvertown tires have been setting records for long mileage, safety and economy not only on taxi fleets, police cars and special test cars but in regular car owner use.
These new tires are built with a broader, flatter tread that puts more rubber in contact with the road, spreading the wear over a larger area. To hold this heavier tread, B.F.Goodrich engineers developed a 35% stronger cord body with stronger cords and more of them... This meant better bruise resistance, greater safety.
If you want the tire that OUTWEARS PREWAR TIRES, place your order today. A little wait will be rewarded with today's biggest money's worth in tires.

OUR TOWN AFTER MIDNIGHT

By PAUL CONSIDINE

A few years ago, when the author of this alleged column was laid up for repairs, temporarily, and the business of reading became very important so's to pass the time, every magazine obtainable, including the "amazing" variety, were welcomed, read and tossed aside. And as a result, the brainchild of a writer in the "amazing" magazine, a story having to do with a "Time Machine" has, for no apparent reason, fascinated and remained in this department's mind ever since.

In this Time Machine, a boiler-like gadget, the inventor locked himself inside and by means of push buttons, traveled through time with the greatest of ease. If he was of a mind to see for himself, how Grant was getting on with the seige of Richmond, for instance, he simply put the gears in reverse and, presto, there he was hovering over the scene, watching Grant, probably, as the General stepped from his tent smoking one of his famous black cigars . . . On the other hand, if it was his pleasure to enjoy a peek into the future, say in the year 2046, one hundred years hence, it required only a touch of the proper button and speeding into the future, 100 years, he would be in a position to listen in on the current complaints concerning the O.P.A.

LONG FORGOTTEN . . .

To those possessing the gift of common sense, a gift, incidentally, denied this writer, the Time Machine is but a figment of an author's imagination. Even our local horseplayers, enthusiastic when the story was first released, sadly admit this to be a fact. However, a meeting with John Delaney, a few midnights ago, Walter Carley, this pillar and a few others, recalled a Newton of thirty odd years ago, pretty much in the manner of the Time Machine, and brought to mind names of old time Newtonians and business establishments long forgotten.

Delaney who returned to Newton Corner recently, opening a branch agency for the "Orange" storm and screen metal windows, operated as a real estate broker in 1913, two doors from his present location. "A decidedly slower and calmer Newton Corner it was in those days, too," he said, "in which a dollar travelled a long way." His first automobile," he added, "a new model T Ford touring car, cost $350 delivered!" the same car, if it chugged at all, would bring approximately the same price today.

Your Newton-Wellesley Hospital— A Red Feather Service

Your Newton-Wellesley Hospital is maintained to give hospital care to you and your fellow citizens of Newton and Wellesley without profit and as a community service.

It is managed by representative citizens of your own and your neighboring community under the financial examination of your Community Chest.

A great number of your fellow citizens and probably you yourself have, of your own free will, vided funds to build and equip this hospital. Except for this, the cost for hospital care would be greater.

In case of need it serves you and others of your community, whether or not you or they can afford to pay the regular rates for such service.

For the year 1945 your hospital would have operated with a deficit of about $76,000. except for your contributions through the Newton Community Chest, the Wellesley Community Chest, and the Wellesley Hospital Fund. There would be a deficit every year except for such contributions.

There would be no deficit in any year if every patient paid for hospital care more nearly in proportion to cost.

But many who seek and receive hospital care do not have the means to pay even the regular rates.

And so, after investigating ability to pay in the case of each application, many are given hospital care for less than the regular rate, which rate approximates or is substantially less than the actual cost. Similarly, in many other cases, the patient pays nothing.

It should be understood that physicians and surgeons on the active medical staff and consul-

Food Parcels Should Be on Way

—o—

Without a box of food from home to open for Christmas, your serviceman overseas will be a serviceman with a heavy heart. The Newton Chapter of the American Red Cross is again offering to Newton people the service of sealing in tins of foods to be sent out of the country. Mrs. John I. Helbeck, chairman of nutrition, suggests that brownies, fudge, peanut butter, cheese and candy are particularly well adapted for this purpose. She will be at the Chapter House at 21 Foster street, Newtonville, by appointment and arrangements may be made by calling LAS. 6000. The charge for the service is five cents a tin to cover the cost of materials.

Don't delay! Assemble that package today!

SEEN AT THE NEWTON-QUINCY GAME November 9 were (left to right): Dick McGraw, Bill Whitney, Dan Lowen, and Alan McAdams carrying the "bed in which George Washton Slept" as a publicity stunt for the Newton High School senior play scheduled for November 22 and 23.

'George Washington Slept Here' to Be Presented by High School Seniors

On November 22 and 233 in the high school auditorium the Newton High School seniors will present "George Washington Slept Here." The play is the hilarious story of Newton Fuller and his experiences in running his newly acquired country house.

Under the direction of Miss Helen Sweeney the play is shaping into the well-rounded drama that its authors, George Kaufman and Moss Hart, intended it to be. It was produced on Broadway in 1940, and Jack Benny starred in the Hollywood adaptation.

Reserved seat tickets go on sale November 18 in the high school homerooms and will continue through Thursday. Tickets will also be on sale before each performance at the ticket booths at the high school. There will be a matinee on Friday with the curtain going up at 2:55, and the Saturday night performance will start at 8:15.

The part of Newton Fuller is taken by William Angevine, and Patricia Morton in the role of Annebelle plays his skeptical wife. David Briggs appears in the part of Mr. Kimber, the hired man, and James Bonnar in the role of Raymond, the brat. Others in the cast are Charles Regan as "rich" Uncle Stanley, Barbara Salinger as Miss Wilcox, Barbara Campbell as Katie, Jane Amidon as Hester, Katherine Babcock as Madge, Jean Griffin as Sue, Barbara Batchelder as Rena, James Henderson as Clayton Evans, Dick McGraw as Steve, Allan Grover as Leggett Frazer, Alan Schaffer as Tom, and Harold Burstyn as Mr. Prescott.

11-Year-Old Prodigy At H.S. Music Club

—o—

Robert Menga, eleven-year-old prodigy violinist, was the guest of the Newton High School Music Club on Thursday, October 24, in the high school auditorium. At this concert Robert played both the violin and piano for his enthusiastic audience. Beginning with the violin, he performed "Meditation," from "Thias" by Massenet, ad "Siciliano Rigandow," by Fritz Kreisler. The two piano numbers were "Impromtu," by Rheinhold, and F. Addison Porter's "Prelude Fantastique." The final violin solos were "Rondo Brillante" by Cecil Burleigh, and "The Bee," by Schubert.

Robert Menga shows as great promise for the future as did Jascha Heifetz, also a child prodigy, at this age. Robert's friends are eagerly awaiting his next concert, to be given with the Ondricek String Ensemble at Jordan Hall on January 28.

rom reports received to Wednesday, Newton has received subscriptions in the Greater Boston Community Fund Campaign of $158,893, or 49.5 per cent of its goal. This compares with 46 per cent for the same report period a year ago.

The Residential Division had its first report night on Tuesday with all 13 villages reporting. The percentage of goal reported by this division was 22 per cent. The Municipal Division has reported 77 per cent, the Advance Gifts Division 69 per cent, the Mercantile Division 57 per cent, and the Manufacturing Division 29 per cent.

New Chairman for Hospital Services

JOHN F. WHEELOCK

In line with a policy being adopted throughout the country by the American Red Cross, the Newton Chapter has remodelled its Camp and Hospital plan and has set up a coordinating Committee on Services to Camps and Hospitals, for both military and civilian installations, with Mr. John F. Wheelock as chairman. Working in cooperation under the new program will be the Volunteer Special Services such as Motor Corps, Canteen, Arts and Skills, also the nursing services, Junior Red Cross and a committee of community agencies through whom hospital needs will be channelled. Civic organizations will fill hospital requests

The next report night of the Residential Division at bank headquarters will be Friday night. Each Village Chairman through his Assistant Chairmen or Majors is urging every Captain to make returns on this second report night. The 1775 workers in this division are pledged to make every call possible prior to Friday night so that the Residential Division report will be as high as possible. The campaign in Newton ends on Thursday, November 21, and there are only two more bank report nights after this week end, these being on Monday and Wednesday of next week.

Waban Hill leads all the Residential villages with 42 per cent of goal attained, followed by Newtonville, Auburndale, and Newton Lower Falls, all tied at 33 per cent. There is great competition among the villages to be among the leaders, and John F. Brown, Chairman of the Residential Division, is confident that Friday will bring forth a most satisfactory report.

Employees of Chest agencies who make up one division in the Mercantile Division report 108 per cent of goal attained. Solicitation among all the Red Feather service employees has beeen completed and the staff of these organizations are in every way lending their support to the success of this campaign.

Signs have been installed in all of the 13 villages with large Red Feather outlines to show the progress of the campaign, both in the individual village and for

Maintaining Americanism

Even though Americans quite uniformly view private enterprise as an essential, all the world does not see precisely eye to eye with us on our form of life. Representatives of other governments, largely European, think in terms of "national economic planning"—which is not surprising because through many centuries things have been done for their citizens without much consultation as to their wishes, or through the direction of elected representatives.

Fundamentally our forefathers and hordes of our immigrants came to America to avoid paternalism, which grew so frequently into some form of oligarchy, fascism or communism. Switzerland has remained the most freely ruled land of Europe, yet the duties of, or demands upon, the Swiss citizen are severe as compared to those here.

Let us not be surprised that foreign delegates show little friendliness toward free enterprise at times. Even the English, while they have fewer labor laws than this country, and no closed shops, are trying the great experiment of socialistic operation of various branches of national life such as banking and transportation.

Our own wise George Washington in opposing foreign alliances knew the human weaknesses of men at large, when exposed in free intercourse with others, and realized that when Americans mingled with influential Europeans some Americans would accord too much courteous consideration to inherent, old-world thinking and habits.

Such mingling accounts for the generally disapproved ideas of some men like Henry Wallace. When quitting isolation we need strong, virile Americans as our contacts in maintaining the bulwark of American principles. We must face the old world and strive to maintain and merit our position of world leadership.

Submarine Explorer Coming to Eliot Church

Irwin A. Williamson, famous Deep-sea Diver and recent discoverer of the sunken Santa Rosa containing "Montezuma's Gold," will personally appear at the Eliot Church, Newton, Friday evening, November 22 under auspices of the Eliot Men's Club.

Mr. Williamson will deliver his thrilling lecture — "Danger Is My Hobby" — while showing unrivalled colored films of life under the sea. The pictures, made by ten automatically operated cameras, show combats between the lecturer and sea-monsters on the ocean floor. Giant octopi, sharks, morayeels, musclefish and sea-cows may be seen within their native submarine environment. The deadly conflict between a huge octopus and a 30 foot eel is only one of Williamson's unusual action films. A treat is assured the public in this rare combination of thrills, entertainment and new information.

Miss Refling-Hagen Guest of Boy Scouts Mothers' Auxiliary

The Mothers' Auxiliary of Boy Scouts and Cubs of Newtonville will have as their guest Miss Ingeborg Refling-Hagen on Wednesday evening, November 20. The meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Frank W. Warren, 36 Calvin road, Newtonville, at 7:45. Dessert will be served. All interested parents are invited.

Miss Refling-Hagen is a novelist, poetess and Norwegian patriarch who ran the underground press of Norway during the war. She was in a German concentration camp for three years. Because she is such a noted internationalist and writer she was asked by Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt to represent Norway at the International Assembly of Women just held in New York.

She is at present the house guest of her brother, Mr. Gustav Hagen in Newtonville.

Politics With Color

(The opinions expressed in this column are the writer's own, and do not necessarily reflect the views or policy of this newspaper.—Editor's Note).

Election Aftermath

It may be some little time yet before many of us will be able to determine just what the effect of the recent elections will be in state and nation. There is also to be considered the impact of the elections on our friends abroad. Let's take this up first.

It is now obvious that our form of government and the general effect which an election has on it is very little understood in Europe, or anywhere else for that matter. Our Englsh cousins probably appreciate better than anybody else just what happens when our government is apparently disrupted by a decisive election. On the other hand, the Russians are presumably more puzzled than the citizens of any other country. That is most unfortunate. We have enough trouble under the most favorable circumstances in getting along peacefully with the Soviet Union. This is undoubtedly the reason why both the President and Mr. Byrnes have made a point of reassuring all our friends and allies, as well as citizens of other countries, and making it crystal clear that our foreign policy will continue, as always, non-partisan. All thinking citizens in this country appreciate what a tremendous shock it would be to the United Nations and to the cause of world peace if our foreign policy should suddenly shift and become partisan. We can only hope and pray that our Russian allies and all the rest will take the sincere assurances of our leading statesmen at face value.

A brief look now at the national picture. I stated last week that I would comment on Senator Fulbright's rather startling suggestion that Mr. Truman should resign, after making a change in the Secretary of State portfolio. Senator Arthur Vandenburg of Michigan, who has collaborated so successfully with Senator Connolly and President Truman for a long time, was the man mentioned by the Western Senator as the new Secretary of State. Mr. Truman's resignation would then elevate Senator Vandenberg to the Presidency.

Well, to be frank, the idea never appealed to your columnist, even tho' lawyers may report that it is perfect constitutional. My feeling is that Mr. Truman, especially after his statement on Armistice Day, may be counted on to commence forthwith to act as President of the whole United States and not as a stooge for labor leaders, wildly-radical Democrats and the gang of big city bosses who, incidentally, took as awful beating, by and large, on November 5. I have faith that Mr. Truman will rise to the current emergency and give to the G.O.P.—controlled Congress precisely the same amount of co-operation which Congress extends to him. There is no reason, from my point of view, why the President should be expected to do more than his fair share. If the Republicans start running wild and abuse their new power, they can expect to have some little difficulty with the occupant of the White House. If co-operation becomes a fifty-fifty proposition, all will be well.

Now, what is wrong with Senator Fulbright's scheme? In addition to what has been said above, it seems to me that the voters of BOTH parties might object if President Truman should so manipulate affairs in Washington that he would be in a position to tell us all who would run the United States for the next two years.

Consider the Michigan Senator for a moment. He has been a potential candidate for the Presidency at least two, if not three times, during recent years. Never has he been nominated, altho' political experts have always stated that he was practically offered the Vice-Presidential nomination at least once. He apparently declined to accept second place. Furthermore, it is only within a very few years that he has become known as an internationalist. People used to talk about him the way they did about Governor Dewey of New York, whose views on foreign affairs were practically unknown until he emerged as the G.O.P. candidate for President in the summer of 1944. Add to that the fact that Senator Vandenberg is hardly a spring-chicken. It is difficult to imagine the Republicans nominating a man of his age in 1948, especially when we consider the fact that all our world war two veterans will be back and voting by that time. Will not these men prefer a Stassen, a Saltonstall or a Lodge, all of whom are veterans of a world war? And if that will be the situation in 1948, what would be the sense in giving the Michigan Senator a running start now for the all-important nomination. No; it doesn't make sense to me.

Massachusetts Situation

We have somewhat the same situation in this state that we have in the country as a whole. By that I mean that the Republican party must be extremely careful not to go off half-cocked and turn the entire state government upside-down and attempt to pass all sorts of legislation which it would not dare to pass if Governor Tobin was still sitting in the Executive Chamber. After all, there are many who believe, (and your columnist is one of them) that this election was not essentially a G.O.P. sweep. Cold statistics will probably prove that this election was not essentially a G.O.P. sweep. Cold statistics will probably prove that point later on. It was the savage about-face of the independent voters who had helped put Governor Tobin in office, plus the sit-down strike of thousands of Democrats all over the state, which played such a big part in the Republican sweep. Let us remember that. It is of vital importance. One reason why I speak so strongly is this: independent newspaper editors who frankly rejoice at Governor Tobin's defeat are apprensive lest the G.O.P. become once again the party of reaction. That, of course, is true of the nation as well as of the state.

Next week I shall consider, among other important matters, the present standing of at least eight Republican candidates for the Presidency in 1948.

Navy to Hold Examination for OCT Program

The Navy announced today that the first nation-wide competitive examination for its Officer College Training Program has been scheduled for January 18, 1947, and will be open to high school seniors or graduates within the age requirements. Successful candidates will be given a four-year college education at government expense and will be commissioned officers or the Regular Navy or Marine Corps, or of the Reserve, upon graduation. Application forms must be forwarded in time for receipt by December 17.

Students selected by these competitive examinations will be offered entrance in either the Naval Reserve Officers Training Corps (NROTC) or the Naval Aviation College Program (NACP). Those selecting the former program will attend one of the 52 colleges or universities having NROTC units where they will receive from the government the cost of their tuition, books, and normal fees and $50.00 a month for the four-year period of education. Upon graduation, they may be commissioned in the Regular Navy and will be required to serve two years on active duty if commissioned. Upon completion of these two years, they may apply for a permanent commission in the Regular Service or transfer to the Reserve and return to civilian life.

Those selecting the Naval Aviation College Program may go to any accredited university, college or junior college of their choice, providing they are accepted for entrance, and receive the same government benefits. After two years of study they will enter a two-year program of flight training and flight duty as midshipmen, after which they will be commissioned as officers and serve a year on flight duty. Upon completion of this duty, they are eligible for a permanent commission in the Regular Navy or Marine Corps and, if accepted, will be sent to a designated school for two years of further professional education with active duty pay. If they do not wish to remain in the Regular Service, they will be given Reserve commissions and released to inactive duty and provided an opportunity to return to college for two more years with tuition, books, and fees and $100 a month furnished by the Navy so that they may complete their college education.

Mr. Raymond A. Green, Principal of Newton High School, is acting as the Navy's local civilian representative, and will be pleased to provide specific information about this program including the place of the competitive examination, application forms, and necessary age and scholastic qualifications.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Mr. Philip O. Ahlin,
Editor of the Newton Graphic.

The special campaign edition of the NEWTON GRAPHIC this year was the best I have ever seen, and Mr. Pettengill tells me that in his opinion it is the best we have ever had in Newton. I want to express to you my personal appreciation for the time and effort you put in to make this issue a success. We have no other way in Newton of getting our story told completely except in the local papers and the November 7th issue of the GRAPHIC tells the story thoroughly and well.

I am sure that our local Red Feather services are also appreciative of the articles which you have printed about them.

Sincerely yours,
Franklin K. Hoyt, Chairman.

Editor's Note: We appreciate Mr. Hoyt's gracious compliment. It should be said here, however, that without the generous advertising support of some of Newton's civic-minded firms and individuals, the publication of the Community Chest Supplement on November 7th would not have been possible. Ed.

This professional group further "urges that the support of the Red Cross Nurses' Aides and Grey Ladies be continued temporarily in order to render assistance to the professional nurses during this transitional period from emergency wartime service to a safe, stabilized standard of peacetime nursing."

Hospital Aid Assoc. Holds Annual Treasure Sale

One of the attractive and colorful events of the year held by the Newton-Wellesley Hospital Aid Association, and one looked forward to by the members, is the annual treasure sale. Held Tuesday morning in the lounge of the Nurses' home it preceded and followed the monthly meeting of the Aid's board of directors. Open only to the 1300 and more members of the Aid and the hospital family, there was a constant stream of customers, beginning at 9:30, in front of the long tables spread with flowers, food, treasurs old and new, paintings, glass, china, colorful hand-made afghans, aprons and linens, and dozens of pairs of hand-knitted mittens. Sponsored by the Benefit Shop committee of which Mrs. Brewer Eddy and Mrs. Ralph W. Conant are co-chairmen, the sale was chairmaned by Mrs. Francis H. Williams, manager of the Shop and represented weeks of work by Mrs. Williams and the committee.

The meeting of the directors at 10:30 was presided over by the president, Mrs. Theron B. Walker, and roll call was answered by villages, each of the 48 members present standing. Reports were given by Mrs. Carlos T. Pierce, secretary, and Miss Maida Flanders, treasurer. Mrs. F. Marsena Butts, a vice-president, and chairman of the purchasing committee, told of the work her committee had done in renewing the upholstery on various pieces in the lobby of the hospital and in furnishing and decorating a recreation room for the internes.

Mrs. Stanley F. Hobbs, director of volunteer service for the hospital announced an increase in hours of the volunteers and told of a new class of nurses' aides being trained by the Newton Red Cross. Mrs. Hebbs said that volunteers are greatly needed to help with patients' flowers o nMondays and Tuesdays, their care and arrangements, and that even one or two hours per volunteer would prove most helpful.

Miss Flanders told of a meeting of the Boston Council of Hospital Auxiliaries which she and Mrs. Walker attended last week and Mrs. Hubert Carter, a vice-president in charge of patient care, gave a report of work done by her committee this past summer and fall. Plans were discussed for the annual meeting to be held the second Tuesday in January. At the close of the meeting of the directors, coffee was served, the hostesses being Mrs. Harold R. Kellar and Mrs. Ralph D. Thompson. The treasure sale continued until 4 in the afternoon.

LOOK WHAT YOU CAN GET for only $10 a month, for ten years

$3,000.00 STRAIGHT LIFE INSURANCE DEATH BENEFIT (CASH VALUE $360.30)
$736.59 CASH SAVINGS! (PLUS INTEREST)

Under our new "packaged savings" plan, one simple monthly payment continued for ten years, will provide both substantial cash savings and the life insurance protection that every family needs.

It's simplicity itself! All you have to do is decide how much you can afford to deposit monthly, bring it in to the bank (or mail, if more convenient) and we will divide it between cash savings and insurance in whatever proportions best suit your particular needs.

This example shows what can be accomplished with a regular deposit of only $10.00 a month for ten years (at age 30). Other "packaged savings" plans may be worked out for a larger — or smaller — monthly deposit; for a longer or shorter period than ten years, for paid-up life insurance or an endowment policy, instead of straight life insurance. The plan is completely flexible—may be tailored to fit your needs!

It's easy to understand, too—but because it is different, there may be questions you'll want to ask. "Must I continue the plan for the full ten years?" (No, you may stop at any time) "Do I get interest on my savings deposits?" (Yes, at our current rates). "May I make weekly instead of monthly deposits?" (Yes, plans may be arranged for as little as $1 a week), etc., etc.

To answer these and other questions, a new booklet has been prepared. Stop in or write for it now, so you can get started on this streamlined "packaged savings" program today.

Auburndale Woman's Club

The fortunes and misfortunes of persons or countries are determined in astrology by the positions of the heavenly planets, said Ranzy, speaking to the Auburndale Woman's Club Tuesday, November 12 on the subject, "Astronomy versus Astrology." In astrology the earth, not the sun, is considered the center of the pattern of the planets. Ranzy then explained the meaning of the twelve signs of the zodiac under which we are born and entertained the members with character analyses and predictions of what the stars have in store for 1947.

The business meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. Eric J. Kermath, and Mrs. F. Payson LeBaron, Day Chairman, presented the speaker. Mrs. Morris B. Strauss of the Red Cross Motor Corps spoke to the members on the need for volunteers. The need for drivers is as great now as during the war years, she said. In 1945-46 the Newton Motor Corps drove 9800 hours, compared to 1900 hours in 1940-41, the last peacetime year. Volunteers to do craft work in hospitals are also needed.

Mrs. Darragh L. Higgins announced the first of four entertainment programs for children which will be sponsored by the Auburndale Woman's Club and the Auburndale Club. The first program presents Peter Pan, the Wizard Man, November 29 at 2:30 at the clubhouse. Tickets which are thirty-five cents plus tax for children up to twelve, and fifty cents plus tax for older children and adults, may be obtained from Mrs. Higgins or at the club. The proceeds from these programs will be given by the two clubs to the fund of the Auburndale Public Library for the new Children's Wing. Other program dates are December 28, Lillian Heyward's Puppets; February 22, a children's play; and April 19, Herbert Taylor, the clown.

To Our Friends and Customers:

For the past several months, while our store has been in the process of being modernized and enlarged you have been forced to contend with unsatisfactory service and many annoying inconveniences. These conditions were caused by the difficulties of doing business while merchandise was being moved from drawer to drawer, from shelf to shelf, and the unavoidable confusion and disorder caused by the workmen.

In spite of these disturbing conditions you have been patient and understanding.

Such toleration is indeed a symbol of your loyalty to us and is humbly appreciated.

For your forbearance and cooperation we thank you sincerely, and promise you that as soon as the work here is completed you will see a Greater Hubbard's, ready to serve you more efficiently than ever!

Our formal opening will be announced soon.

Watch for it!

Zonta Club

On Monday evening, November 4, Waltham Zonta were guests of Newton Zonta at the Wayside Inn in Sudbury. In the absence of the president, Mrs. Mildred Roys, Miss Alice Doxey welcomed the guests. Miss Louise McQuiston, a valued member who is leaving Waltham to make her home in California, was presented with a fine handbag by Miss Ruth Lawrence as a gift from the club. After dinner the company adjourned to the small ballroom with Miss Betty Richardson in charge of entertainment. Solos were delightfully rendered by Mrs. Marion Merrill and Miss Alice Doxey, after which Miss Richardson introduced Miss Priscilla Staples, head hostess, who fascinatingly reviewed the history of the Inn from its opening in 1686 when occasional travelers arrived by ox-cart, horseback or on foot—stagecoaches not yet in use—to the present time when modern travel sometimes brings hundreds to its doors in a single day. During the war men from every part of the world found their way to the inn, enriching its historic tradition. Longfellow, who with his family, spent many summers there, had already made it a literary shrine by his "Tales of a Wayside Inn," which were popular in Europe as well as here. A tour of the house revealed many interesting features, among them the clock and spinet in the parlor where the Tales were told. In 1923 Mr. Henry Ford bought the Inn with five thousand acres to protect it from hot dog stands and other modern innovations. There are at this time three schools in session there and the mill grinds the corn used in the corn-bread served.

Dining With Jane and Bill

Bill—Jane, did you see the poster in the railroad station today?

Jane—What poster, dear?

Bill—The one about "Use Potato Week." It said the quantity was huge and the quality high. I think I'll buy a 100 pound bag on my way home from work tomorrow.

Jane—But, Bill, what on earth will we do with 100 pounds of potatoes?

Bill—Let's see. How many pounds do we use in a week?

Jane—About 10 or 12, I think.

Bill—Well, then 100 pounds should last us about two months. These late potatoes are good keepers so we can store the extra supply in the basement.

Jane—That's a wonderful idea, but is our basement the right temperature? It should be between 40 to 50 degrees F. to keep them from sprouting.

Bill—I think it is, but I'll put a thermometer in the basement tonight to make sure.

Jane—Remember to buy the graded U. S. No. 1. They keep best because they are free from decay and other defects that hasten spoilage.

Note—The ideal temperature for long storage of potatoes is cool but not cold—about 40 to 50 degrees F. which is well above freezing. Stored below 40 degrees F. potatoes take on a sweetish taste because some of their starch turns to sugar. This is why potatoes kept on an outdoor porch, even when protected from freezing, may have a sweet flavor. If potatoes must be kept in a cold place, they should be brought into a warmer temperature for a week or 10 days before cooking so that their flavor will be restored.

NEWTON FIRE DEPARTMENT

FIRE PREVENTION SERVICE

Property destroyed by fires caused through spontaneous ignition rank high as a cause for fires. Many fires reported as "origin unknown" actually were ignited spontaneously.

Certain materials because of their affinity for oxygen are particularly susceptible. Oily rags and other materials that have been saturated with such oils as fish oil, linseed, soybean or cottonseed oil are dangerous. A large number of other vegetable and animal oils also have a tendency to oxidize rapidly under the right conditions.

Spontaneous ignition is not confined to certain types of oil alone. Lime when wet will generate enough heat to ignite wood. Recently we had a bad house fire from this very cause. Had the bag of lime been stored away from the house the fire would not have resulted.

Mineral oils are not as dangerous in this respect even though they are of a flammable nature.

One of the most common spontaneous set-ups that is familiar to most everyone is the cloth that has been used to wipe up wet paint and then thrown in the corner or left in a pile. Here you have some linseed oil (which is one of the greatest offenders) on a piece of easily-combustible rag. When the oxidizing oil generates heat enough the rags burst into flame. There is no mystery about it. It is the working out of simple chemistry and physic laws. Ventilation where the rags are stored has much to do with the results.

It is important that we exercise common sense in the matter of storing oiled rags, mops, polishing cloths and similar articles. These are usually the largest cause of this type of fire in the home. After these articles have been used they are usually placed in a pile or closet.

To be safe they should be removed outside of the building and stored in a metal receptacle until collected by the rubbish disposal department. Those that you have to keep should be kept in a metal receptacle with the cover closed. This limits the amount of oxygen that the oils can absorb and therefore retards their generating heat., Oily dust in the vacuum cleaner should also be disposed outside of the building into a metal container.

These seem like small items, possibly because you have been lucky, but even luck runs out.

We here in Newton should give this serious thought in view of the shortage of homes and the difficulty to replace or repair them. Make your home safe from fires of this origin by disposing of all oily rags outside of the building now and as you finish with them.

Banks—

The total payments this year will be $27,388,719.00, paid to 466,718 Christmas Club depositors. The average club is $58.68. These figures compare with total payments of $25,969,037.00 to 422,476 club depositors last year.

At the same time, A. George Gilman, president of the National Association of Mutual Savings Banks, announced that total Christmas Club payments by the mutual savings banks of the nation will be $124,557,467.00 to 1,761, 377 depositors. These are the highest figures on record for Christmas Club payments.

Massachusetts stands second in the size of its Savings Banks Christmas Club, being exceeded only by New York, which has a club of $54,926,206.00 to be paid to 713,623 depositors.

The total Christmas Club savings by 8,360,000 members in 5,000 banks of all kinds in the United States is estimated at $635,000,000.

The new Christmas Club of the Newton Savings Bank starts November 25th.

Hospital—

tants give their services to ward patients and to outpatients without charge.

During the war years more than two thousand women and men gave most generously of their time and strength as volunteers — and of course without pay — to serve the hospital as nurse's aides, grey ladies, orderlies, and in a variety of other capacities. While in the past months many of these volunteers have found it impossible to give of their time because of the press of other duties, there are many who still are regular contributors. More volunteer workers are urgently needed and information concerning such service will gladly be given upon application to the Director.

There has been, as well, much appreciated volunteer service under the direction of the Hospital Aid Association.

Funds available to make possible allowances from regular rates have been limited. In consequence allowances have, in some cases, had to be less than appeared to be needed. In some cases there has had to be rejection of applications. It has been possible to make allowances only for those being in greatest need.

While the total charitable allowances made during the year 1945 have not been exactly computed, it is believed that they substantially exceeded the Community Chest grants. The total of all allowances in 1945 was over $90,000. This figure represents, for the most part, cases of inability to pay in full the established rates and as to the balance, miscellaneous necessary and equitable adjustments of such rates. These allowances were made possible (1) by income of about $$24,570. from endowments given over the years by generous and public-spirited people — and given for this purpose (2) by income of about $5,427. from miscellaneous sources and (3) by awards from the Newton Community Chest ($63,624.-04), the Wellesley Community Chest ($10,724.41) and the Wellesley Hospital Fund ($2,000.) Is it not clear that the total of these grants was used to give hospital care to those of your fellow citizens of Newton and Wellesley who could not pay as much as the regular rate or who could pay nothing?

It is hoped that from the foregoing the reason has been made clear for expecting ready cooperation in the payment of bills for hospital care. The hospital does not have what is commonly known in a business as "working capital". It is, therefore, necessary to make every reasonable effort to obtain prompt payment — or a prompt and definite arrangement for payment. When the delayed payment of bills accumulates, the cash in hand is insufficient to meet fully the hospital pay roll and to meet obligations for hospital supplies and equipment. Then it becomes necessary to borrow money from a bank and this creates additional expense.

Clearly for every dollar due and not collected a year's deficit is that much greater. Our friends and neighbors are asked to meet deficits through their contributions to the Community Chests. And deficits are created by allowances to those who cannot pay and by the amount of uncollected bills.

What it is possible to do for patients in a non-profit hospital is limited not only by its income but by conditions over which it has no control. At present there are conditions that are carried over from the war or resulting from the war — including (1) increased costs for hospital paid workers and for food, supplies and equipment, (2) an inability to attract an adequate number of paid and volunteer workers for hospital work, and (3) lack of capacity to care for all who seek hospital care. If hospitals are to keep old and attract new paid workers compensation must compete more favorably than it has with wages in other employment — not only compensation for nurses and technicians but for workers in the dietary, housekeeping, laundry departments as well as engineers, mechanics, carpenters and others.

Wages have been increased and probably must be increased further. Rates and charges have been increased and probably must be increased further.

The deficit for 1946 and 1947 operations will be much larger than for 1945 and previous years. It is inevitable that if Newton and Wellesley people wish their hospital to serve them adequately, they must, through their Community Chests, provide larger amounts than have been received in the past to meet annual deficits.

In general all hospitals are confronted by problems similar to those being experienced by Newton-Wellesley Hospital. Some have found it imperative to close sections of their hospitals.

In the light of our current financial problems of operation, the hospital's program of replacement and enlargement takes on added significance. Not only will its completion enable the hospital to care for many Newton and Wellesley people whose admission now must be denied or postponed because of inadequate bed capacity, but it is expected that a lower ratio of expense to income would be effected because — (1) some of our present buildings are obsolete and uneconomical to operate and (2) the addition of many private and semi-private rooms will greatly increase our income and will enable us better to provide for essential general and overhead expense.

It can safely be predicted that if the voluntary hospital fails to provide adequate care for the sick and injured who cannot pay the regular rates, it will be successfully urged that the voluntary hospital has failed in its obligation to the community. Then, it may be expected, the government will provide adequate care. This will be paid through taxation and be under government management and control. It is confidently believed that the people of Newton and Wellesley prefer the preservation of volunteer support and private management.

Our Town—

HORSELESS CARRIAGES . . .

Automobiles were really horseless carriages in those days, continued the old timers, and without self starters, they were coaxed to chug by means of the operators' strong right arms twirling the crankhandles. Stanley Steamers silently wended their way over Newton's dirt roads then, also. Assembled on Hunt street, in the big wooden building now occupied by Bachrach, they were a familiar sight on the highways as 'testers' put the new models through their paces. Horses shied and reared as they passed, while police wearing big helmets and shoes featuring half inch soles, kept a wary eye on the situation.

"DID WEIRD THINGS . . ."

Local businessmen, owning cars for the first time, did weird things to their horseless carriages, too, in the olden, 'golden days . . . James Reitsma, owner of the Manhattan Market on Centre street (now a delicatessen), put five gallons of gasoline in his new car one day and then deciding a bit of economy was in order, poured five more gallons of water into the gasoline tank. His car stalled somewhere along the road to Cape Cod and it required much labor on the part of Boston "mechanics" of that day, to find water in the carburetor had caused Reitsma's grief . . . Walter Hayden, owner of a restaurant on Centre street (now George's Cafe), had a heavy big car of forgotten manufacture, and mentioning that he thought it wasn't running as well as usual, was advised by a friend to put a little mothball in the radiator. Hayden did so, and after a trial spin, declared the car never ran better! . . . The night man in Dewires' Garage, now the Newton Buick Company and operated still by the Dewire brothers, kept his tires only half inflated, insisting they lasted longer that way and gave him a better ride.

THEIR PASSING . . .

The old timers drew a perfect picture of old Newton Corner, of its businessmen and its characters . . . Murray's Body Shop, Washington street (now the site of Frank Battles Pontiac Co.), Old Jim Morgan's Barber Shop, Washington street (now "Singer's"), Segal's Clothing Store, Centre street (now a frosted food store), "Web" Hayden's Market, Washington street (now occupied by Betty Bakerite and Kennedy's) "Doc" Hudson's Drug Store, Washington street (now operated by another owner under the name of "Hudson's") Arthur Perotti's, a fruit, soda and candy store, plus being a waiting station for the old Middlesex and Boston trolleys (now occupied by Fruitland and Fanny Farmer's), Bill Sweeney's Restaurant (the Waldorf now), The Post Office (now Woolworth's 5 and 10 Cent Store), and J. J. Delaney's Real Estate Office (now a beauty parlor), G. P. Atkins' and Franklin's grocery stores and Atwood & Irving's Market have long since given way to newcomers, too. The list of all that have passed is long and to many here a sad one.

UNCLE WILLIE L . . .

The stories going around about Uncle Willie are getting worse as time goes on. The latest, according to James P. Gallagher, Newton's Clerk of Court, another old timer, has to do with the time Uncle Willie faced the Judge on a charge of wife beating.

"Why did you do it?" inquired the Judge.

"Well, really, Your Honor," replied Uncle Willie, his face crimson, "it was just a sudden impulse . . . "

"Uh huh," nodded the Judge, "I see. On a sudden impulse I'm going to sentence you to 30 days in jail."

"Wal," gloomily muttered Uncle Willie, "It's all right with me, Judge, but you're sure putting an awful crimp in our honeymoon."

Community—

Newton as a whole. An additional sign is installed opposite City Hall on Commonwealth Avenue to show the progress of the Municipal Division. The Red Feathers have already been started to be filled in with the percentage of each village's results compared with that of the entire Newton campaign.

Edward A. Weeks, Jr., editor of the Atlantic Monthly, substituted for the principal speaker, Dr. Joshua Loth Liebman, at the Opening Dinner of the 1947 Campaign and spoke of the importance of social and health services being rendered by Red Feather Agencies. John E. Lawrence, General Chairman of the Greater Boston Fund, told the reasons for the $7,000,000 goal. Newton Chairman Franklin K. Hoyt presided at the meeting, and Mayor Paul M. Goddard read his proclamation. The Rt. Rev. Eric F. MacKenzie, Pastor of Sacred Heart Church, offered the invocation, and Lawrence B. Damon, President of the Newton Community Chest, extended thank to the workers for volunteering so generously to make the campaign a success.

The following most interesting incident is reported by Franklin K. Hoyt, Newton Campaign Chairman: "A veteran of World War II walked in to the office of the Newton Community Chest on Armistice Day and stated he would like to make a contribution to the Chest. He said that he was impressed with the services rendered by Red Father agncies, and after having been in combat zones far from home, he was more appreciative than ever of the help given to veterans' families and the fine assistance being rendered to people at large in their health and social problems. He made out a check for $10.00 and stated that in some way he would find it possible to continue to make equal payments monthly during the next year, signing a subscription card for a total of $120.00. The spirit and generosity of this returned veteran is a challenge to all of us. Many veterans' gifts are expected in this campaign, and if their example is followed by the thousands of others who have seen the benefits of Red Feather services in their own neighborhoods, the final successful results of the campaign are unquestioned.

During the past four years, Camp and Hospital Council over the country has performed an outstanding and remarkable service. With only 32% of the Chapters reporting, it is estimated that through Red Cross 195 millions in material gifts to camps and hospitals were given during the war years by organizations.

Cushing Veterans' Administration Hospital is Newton's first responsibility. It is to be the national center for epileptic veterans and the New England center for paraplegics. At the present time Newton has requests from Cushing for Christmas gifts for the men. Interested groups may contribute actual gifts or money for their purchases. Arrangements should be made through Mr. Wheelock at LAS. 2103.

Kiwanis Club

—o—

Bruce Smith, executive secretary of the Newton Taxpayers' Association, speaking at the Newton Kiwanis Club's noon meeting at the Y.M.C.A., and informing the Club of the proposed $65,000 parking lot for the business center in Newtonville, so's to clear the streets of parked cars, was asked by Police Chief Nicholas Veduccio as to just how it would be possible to clear the streets of automobiles. Chief Veduccio said that parking violations will occur and reoccur just as long as motorists are allowed four parking violations a year before being brought into court.

In New York City, the chief continued, a first offender of the parking rules, be he an out-of-towner or not, is assessed $15. This, he added, accomplishes miracles in keeping restricted areas clear. John Janse and other members of the Club, declared that if parking spaces are to be located in the rear of buildings it will be necessary that a police officer be on duty in each parking lot during the hours of darkness, until at least eleven p.m. inasmuch as thieves are constantly on the prowl in these isolated areas.

Mr. Smith telling the Club of the Newton Taxpayers' Association, said it is being re-activated now that the war is over and that it is a two-way proposition between its membership and the government, and interested in lowering the state budget and taxes. "We must face facts," he said. Production capacity is leaving the state and is not being quickly replaced. The cotton mills of Lowell, Haverhill, etc. leaving the state for other localities are an old story now.

The association program in Newton is developing so as to bring the government and taxpayers together for the good of the city, and to stop expenses, that in the future, would be difficult to meet.

Kiwanis Notes

Visiting Kiwanians from New Haven, Connecticut and Natick, attended this meeting. Major Elmer E. Ellsworth, principal of the Franklin and Davis schools was a guest of Kiwanis at the meeting and the Rev. Otto J. Sheibe attended as the guest of his son-in-law, Rev. Fred Groetsema.

ON THE INSIDE

by MARVIN R. GOULD

Last Saturday, November 9, before a dwindling group of 2,000 fans at Dickinson Memorial Stadium, Newton, dropped its 7th game of the season to a far superior Quincy eleven by a score of 19-0. Throughout the entire game several blunders and fumbles on the part of the Newton team was actually the reason for the defeat. In every one of the four chapters Newton was in scoring position but even the Garden City passing combination of Wales to McConnell was unable to click for a Newton TD. Quincy's three touchdowns were made by O'Brien, Leone, and Halloran, their one point after touchdowns was made by Leone, who turned out to be the star of the game. (Nuff said about our Newton football squad).

Also this same day "On The Inside" was present at another football game with another Newton team on the field. This game was before 19,800 fans at Braves Field where B.C. defeated Georgetown by a score of 20-13. This game was most exciting and breathtaking. Due to the lack of space I am unable to give you a play by play account of the game but I would like to say that if B.C. plays this Saturday the way they played last week they should be easy victors over Tennessee.

Newton teens seemed to pick the Boston Garden Rodeo Show for their meeting place of the week this week. Besides seeing cowpunchers and cowgirls, together with bulls, cows, calves and horses, we also saw Newton teenagers present. Oh well, same category.

After watching the various units of the parade in Boston last Monday, which included U.S.A. Military Police Platoon, U.S. Marine Corps units, U.S. Navy units, U.S. Coast Guard units, Mass. State Guard, United Spanish War Veterans, V.F.W. Jewish War Veterans, Disabled American Veterans, American Vets of World War II, United U.S. American Veterans, American Legion, American Red Cross, Salvation Army, and Red Feather organizations, we went to see Mayor Curley of Boston, together with Nat Klien of the Boston Globe. We were ushered into the Mayor's quarters by a Boston Policeman who was mumbling something about a 48-hour week for firemen. After getting acquainted with Mr. Curley and smoking one of his cigars I asked him what he thought of Armistice day and what it stood for. He replied with an oration which was one of the most beautiful I have ever heard. He explained that this Armistice day was more important than all others because the world was once again awakened to the fact that these men who fought, died, and were maimed and the men who came back in one piece deserved something more than just a parade. He explained that these men deserve a world of peace and good will.

While the parade was on Mr. Curley noticed a woman shabbily dressed standing at the curb across from his seat at the reviewing stand. The mayor presented this poor woman with a bouquet of flowers with his compliments.

A Message to Mr. and Mrs. Citizen
From
The Newton League of Women Voters

BOOM OR BUST

In view of the sweeping removal of Price Controls, no subject is of more immediate interest to Mr. and Mrs. Citizen than that of what is going to happen to prices. Gripe as we might have at the rigid regimentation and artificially created shortages of Price Controls, there is no intelligent member of the community today who is not slightly terror-stricken by what prices may do in these next months, and what implications for future prosperity or depression they hold. We all go around with slightly puzzled, questioning frowns wondering and hoping for the "best." "Bests," unfortunately, rarely materialize unless they are guided toward their goals. The job of everyone is to help guide these prices toward the desired end—to adopt an adult attitude toward the situation and to realize that the desired ends are an increase in Production, a lowering of present prices and an improvement in the quality of goods, along with a long term buying power on the part of the consumer.

This guidance cannot come through the efforts of the "other fellow," but rather, is the clear-cut responsibility of each and every one of us. To understand our part in it we must be familiar with the basic Economic facts which govern the future prosperity of both the Producer and Consumer. In order to meet this situation with fundamental common sense, the League of Women Voters suggests and recommends the following action:

If business is truly concerned with the welfare of the Country, it will price goods with restraint. Business and Industry will plan where possible for a mass low-price market rather than a limited high-price market. They will co-operate with Labor wherever possible to increase the efficiency of Production and insure that the benefits of increased productivity are reflected in lower prices and higher wages, as well as increased profits.

Farmers, too, must increase the productivity on the farms so that the basic foodstuffs may be available to all families. Labor must cooperate with management in finding ways to explore every avenue to Industrial Peace. Strikes must be rejected as a method of settling disputes except in the gravest emergencies. Retailers and distributors must help by keeping mark-ups and commissions at a reasonable level, and themselves buy goods only where prices are reasonable.

Consumers have the greatest responsibility of all. If shoppers reject goods on which prices have skyrocketed, the prices will come down. It will not be easy to say "no" to a juicy steak. The temptation will be great to forget about the new radio and concentrate on one thing that has been short, rather than waiting until it is possible to have the meat and the radio, too. We concede that the spending of one's money is a purely personal matter, but if we don't spend with care now, we will have a lot less of everything later on. This is the essence of self-discipline—the test of being adult. Self-discipline at this time will pay rich dividends in the future—for if we can avoid accelerated inflation there can be more goods and services for all of us than we have ever before known, as the production of the country is increasingly on consumer goods and less on the facilities needed for their manufacture. Whether this brilliant prospect for the future can be realized, will now depend on whether self-restraint can keep prices from rising. It will depend on the private decisions of everyone.

Newton Protestant Churches Join in United Church Canvass On Sunday December 8th

Idea Which Originated Here Adopted By Churches Throughout the Country

WILLIAM V. M. FAWCETT

DAVID W. TIBBOTT

For the sixth consecutive year the Protestant Churches of Newton are banding together in a United Church Canvass to be held Sunday, December 8th. Co-chairmen appointed to head-up the movement for 1946 are William V. M. Fawcett and David W. Tibbott.

The United Church Canvass idea originated in Newton in 1941. Its success attracted nation-wide attention and today, churches in hundreds of communities throughout the nation unite in an annual drive for new members and for financial support. Wherever United Church Canvasses have been conducted they have resulted in increased giving; better attendance; greater interest of laymn in church affairs; and a fuller public awareness of the importance of religion to the community.

A feature of the canvass will be Layman's Sunday, Sunday morning, December 1st when laymen will occupy the pulpits in the churches of the city to speak on the needs and importance of the church. Over 10,000 "invitations" will be sent out inviting people to attend Layman's Sunday service.

Large posters will be conspicuous on church lawns throughout the city for two weeks preceding the Canvass Sunday. They will be striking reminders to all church members and friends to "keep their Church bells ringing" by generous giving and by loyal attendance.

The bells of all Newton churches will ring out on Sunday afternoon, December 8th to signal the start of the canvass.

Mr. Boris Goldovsky, organizer and director of the New England Opera Theatre and head of the piano department at the Longy School of Music, was presented at Newton High School Wednesday morning, November 13, by the music club and introduced by Mr. Henry Lasker, the club's faculty advisor.

Mr. Goldovsky lamented the fact that great opera is often betrayed by the manner of its portrayal in American theatres. He said that opera is the marriage of music to the theatre, and its music is only part of the performance; the action of the Additional subscriptions are continuing to come in and all amounts received up to Wednesday night, November 27th, will be included in the final total reported to the Greater Boston Community Fund.

Many Attend Parents' Night at High School

On last Friday evening, one of the most successful Parents' Nights of the past few years was held at the Newton High School from 7 to 9.30.

That the orchestra was excellent, the evening pleasant and the demonstrations good were a few of the sentiments of various parents as they departed from the school at the close of the occasion.

Ushers strategically placed on each floor of each building, guided the parents to the various study and class rooms they wished to find. The rehearsing of the orchestra could be heard at any time between 7.30 and 9.45 from the auditorium, while many parents looked on.

To delight the sports-minded girls from the gym classes and

OUR TOWN AFTER MIDNIGHT

By PAUL CONSIDINE

Once upon a time, we had a night cop in our town, one Thomas Whelan by name, who, when answering inquiries concerning his activities as a police officer, was wont to say, "My mere presence discourages crime . . . "

So far's the records show, it's never been quite clear as to whether or not it was Whelan's presence that discouraged criminal activities or, that maybe, due to his size, Mr. Whelan's ponderous progress along the city sidewalks gave ample warning to any and all law-breakers on his beat, pursuing their trade at the moment, that it was time to move on . . .

It is a fact, however, that during Whelan's tenure as guardian of the peace in the Chestnut Hill district, few breaches of the peace occurred there. A large man, he made the rounds of Hammond and the adjacent streets up there nightly, gliding along the tree bordered sidewalks, more or less in the side-wise manner, so's not to become wedged between the stately Elms, and performed his duties in the efficient manner . . .

Now retired, it is rumored around the vicinity of the local John T. Burns and Sons Company office that a prominent professional man, A. C. Bellinger, is about to call Whelan back to service as a one-man guard for the properties of the Bellinger Company in general and the belongings of A. C. Bellinger in particular . . . "SOMETHING WILL HAVE TO BE DONE" . . .

A life-long resident of the Garden City, Mr. Bellinger is said

Misinformed Consumers

Judging from a survey recently made by the Los Angeles Merchants and Manufacturers Association, the American public has a great deal to learn about merchandise. The survey revealed that most of the people queried were under the impression that more than half of the customer's dollar went for net profit to the lucky storekeeper.

That, as the saying goes, would be nice work if you could get it. However, the merchant is far from being in the golden position a misinformed public thinks he is. On the average, something less than five per cent of the customer's dollar represents net to the store. And in some staple lines, such as foods, where there are no style trends and obsolescence problems to add to the cost of operation, the net is often less.

Such figures indicate the injustice that is done when buyers' strikes and other consumer rebellions are directed at the storekeeper. It's all very well to protest at eighty-cents-a-pound meat and dollar-a-pound butter if you're so disposed—but place the blame where it belongs. Today's prices are simply the direct and inevitable reflection of today's governmental, industrial, agricultural and general business costs, and they can't go down appreciably unless those costs go down, which include labor and taxes.

The merchant, chain and independent, large and small, old and new, is doing a fine job under tough conditions. He's got problems enough without being blamed for those over which he has no control.

Open House at Newton Red Cross Chapter House

The Newton Chapter of the American Red Cross is having "Open House" on December 2nd and 3rd. "On Monday afternoon, the 2nd, from two to four, the general public is invited to come and see us," according to Mrs. P. Edward Eden, "Open House" Chairman and co-chairman of Volunteer Special Services with Mrs. William L. Young. "Agencies, woman's clubs, churches and other groups are receiving invitations to visit us Monday evening, between the hours of eight and ten. On Tuesday afternoon from two to five, we will be host especially to all school people and the Parent-Teacher Associations.

"We are naturally a bit proud of our newly decorated house and barn at 21 Foster street, Newtonville," continued Mrs. Eden. "We are eager to display it in its pristine glory, but that is not the chief reason for our party. In the minds of most people Red Cross is recently and generally related chiefly to wartime activity. This seems to be an auspicious moment to show the public that we are now, and in the future, continuing active peace-time programs.

"We are eager to present to the citizens of Newton what we think is a true picture of our daily life as we work and play together in and outside of the Chapter House. Not only is Red Cross a serious worth while work, but it is also really satisfying fun. Come and see us. Maybe you will want to join our interested group of workers."

Politics With Color

by P. W. C.

(The opinions expressed in this column are the writer's own, and do not necessarily reflect the views or policy of this newspaper.—Editor's Note).

My readers will undoubtedly both understand and forgive me if I abandon the subject of politics this week and evote this space to something which is, for the most at least, of far greater importance to our community. I refer to the Newton Community Chest, which is an integral part of the Greater Boston Community Fund.

What is the story and why does it seem fitting and proper to use this entire space in talking about the Community Chest?

Your columnist is no prophet, but, at the time this column is being written, (Tuesday afternoon) it seems possible that the technicle closing date of our LOCAL drive, Thursday evening, Nov. 21, may find Newton in the very unusual position of having failed to go over the top. Much, of course, can happen in forty-eight hours, but there is the definite possibility that the entire $321,000.00 will NOT be in hand. What to do?

My readers are reminded that the official closing date for the Greater Boston Community Fund drive is Tranksgiving eve. In other words, even tho' our Newton drive is over on the evening of Nov. 21, there remain quite a few days during which extra contributions may be accepted. After all, much as our Chest officials would like to go over the top on schedule, the important thing is to GO OVER THE TOP.

Now, first of all, let me say that any contributions which can be secured AFTER Nov. 21 should be turned in to our local Chest office at 93 Union street, Newton Centre. If any questions of procedure arise, telephone the Chest H. Q.—Las. 5120. There will olways be somebody there at any hour of the day. The Executive Secretary, H. J. (Pete) Pettengill, lives at 56 Nehoiden road, Waban and his home phone is Las. 2429.

Let me now list just a few things which YOU can do from this point on, still acting on the assumption that a fair sum of money will still be needed AFTER Nov. 21. First of all consider YOUR OWN pledge to the fund. Was it all that you could possibly afford to pledge or were you somewhat conservative, for what seemed like good and sufficient reasons. (Increasing cots of living, stationary salaries, etc.) If you decide that you could squeeze out another dollar or two, why not send along this additional pledge? Think what several hundred extra pledges would mean to our own hospital, our family service work, our boy and girl scouts and all the other fine Red Feather agencies in Newton. It would give you a warm feeling inside to realize that you had done two things at one stroke. First, you would be saving Newton's wonderful reputation for NEVER FAILING to go over the top in these drives; secondly, you would be indirectly helping to maintain the high standards of efficiency of all our Red Feather agencies.

The next thing which you can do, after giving due thought to your own pledge, is to make a careful survey, provided you are an active Chest worker, for the purpose of determining if ALL prospect cards were PROPERLY covered. Personally, I have picked up several cards which would normally have gone back to the Chest H. Q., for eventual study and action, when the press of current business is over, but which I held, for the very good reason that there seemed to be a chance that the prospect might still be reached or might be persuaded to change his or her mind.

The above applies, of course, only to actual workers in the drive. The average citizen can do quite a few things himself. He can keep his eyes and ears open and discover if some neighbor, close friend or business associate has NOT been canvassed or has given only a rather modest sum. A fe wtactful words here might help a great deal.

Finally, let everybody ask himself this question, when all alone with his or her conscience." Have I done ALL I can do to put this crucial drive over the top?" Considering the amount of money I spend on my family and myself for PLEASURE in the course of a year, can I HONESTLY say that I have done my best?

Readers of this column may rest assured that the writer is going to ask himself the same question over this week-end. What do you say? LET'S GO.

Franklin K. Hoyt, Newton Chairman, states today:

"It appears from returns received through Wednesday night that there are still large numbers of cards that have not been covered and while we are not extending the campaign in Newton beyond the closing date of November 21st, we are urging that all workers who have not completed all their calls do so in the next few days and make returns to their bank headquarters during business hours up to and including Tuesday, November 26th, when a final accounting will be made. The Fund Campaign in Boston closes Wednesday evening, November 27th, and all returns received between our closing night and Wednesday afternoon will be included for Newton's final report in the Greater Boston Campaign.

"I want to express my sincere thanks and deepest gratitude to all leaders and workers who have assisted in this campaign. Every dollar is needed to provide for the urgent needs of our agencies for 1947, and I am confident that all workers will see that every last person is solicited and every last dollar is brought in to make our campaign a success."

people on the stage must correspond to that music. This coordition is what he hopes to get by producing the operas in English, which the performers themselves understand. He also said that people living in art should do justice to the great masters. "We owe a debt to the composers to play what they have written and a debt to the public to interpret it as written."

New Appeal for Blood Donors

—o—

Mrs. Dana F. Baird, chairman of tthe Newton Chapter Red Cross Blood Donor Service, made an urgent appeal today to Newton residents to make appointments for the Mobile Blood Donor Clinic which will be in Newton on Thursday and Friday, December 5th and 6th.

Under the sponsorship of the State Department of Public Health, a mobile unit will be at the Red Cross Chapter House, 21 Foster street, Newtonville, on the two days of the clinic ,according to Mrs. Baird. A competent doctor will be in charge to direct and supervise, and four registered nurses and one skilled technician will be in attendance. A blood custodian takes care of the blood from the time it is collected until it is safely at the Laboratory where it is processed into the various Blood Fractions.

The Massachusetts Blood Donor Program has progressed to a point where it is now possible to provide whole blood to all individuals who have donated to the program. This blood is also available to the immediate family of the donor. Those people in the community who have not donated to the Massachusetts Blood Donor Program will be entitled to whole blood if and when the supply permits. All blood supplied from the State Program will be furnished free of charge.

A first contributor to the State program is entitled to a pin. If this donor has also contributed to the American Red Cross-Armed Forces Blood Donor Program, he will then be given credit for these previous donations, and for a total of four donations the donor is entitled to wear a white ribbon with the State pin. For eight donations there is a white and blue ribbon, and for sixteen a red, white and blue ribbon.

This project has the hearty endorsement of the Newton-Wellesley Hospital and of the Newton Medical Association. They wish to point out its tremendous value to Newton Citizens when emergencies arise.

Appointments may be made by calling the Chapter House at Lasell 6000.

Taxpayers Assoc. Elects Officers

—o—

Newton, November 15. In an address delivered before the annual meeting of the Newton Taxpayers Association in Newtonville on Friday evening, Nov. 15, Norman MacDonald, Executive Director of the Massachusetts Federation of Taxpayers Associations pointed to the need for a powerful taxpayers organization in Newton. Mr. MacDonald emphasized the steadily rising costs of government and the resultant rise in the cost to the taxpayers in the form of various taxes. He stressed that only through careful research can these costs be held at reasonable levels or reduced while a high standard of municipal service is maintained. The Newton Association in plotting a program of civic service promises to become one of the active forces in the community said the State Director.

At this meeting Bruce Smith, Executive Secretary of the local association called attention to the most recent bulletin of the Newton Taxpayers Association dealing with the problem of street parking in the city. "This study", said Mr. Smith, "was intended to crystalize your opinions on the relationship between parking lots and traffic congestion. If parking areas are provided you will foot the bill in one way or another. There is some reason for saying that if 'no parking' regulations were promulgated and enforced much of the congestion in the various shopping centers would be eliminated. As the Chief of Police has pointed out, enforcement may be difficult with the present limitations on parking violation offenses but if that obstacle is surmounted much of the cause of traffic congestion can be removed by the construction of parking lots, and their general use instead of the street for parking of automobiles.

Chairman Fred C. Alexander of the Public Works Committee reported that a project to construct a water main on Russell road, Ward 3, at a cost of $3,780 had been held in committee pending the arranging of a bond issue of $50,000 for the Water Department. The bond issue has been approved by the Board of Aldermen.

The Board also approved an appropriation of $18,600 for Public Welfare, old age assistance; $8,000 for aid to dependant children; $400 for additional office expenses in the Accounting Department and $50 for additional office expenses in the Engineering Department.

Following a report by Alderman Theodore A. Lockwood, chairman of the Finance Committee, the Board voted to give the Treasury Department authority to purchase $100,000 worth of U. S. Treasury Bonds for the Hoarce Cousens Industrial Fund.

The sum of $250 was appropriated from the Engineering Department for auto maintenance. Held in committee was a bill of $105 from Dr. Hermon Norton to the Veteran's Service Department for services rendered.

It was voted by the Board to levy a charge of $10 on contractors who accept bid books from City Departments, this amount to be refunded when the books are returned.

Public hearings were held on orders for laying out, grading and accepting the following streets, taking land therefor etc., under the Betterment law:

Drew road, from Pond Brook road to Nickerson road, Ward 5; Pond Brook road from Brookline street to beyond Drew road, Ward 5; Woodcliff road from Elinor road southerly to end, Ward 5; Ardmore road from accepted portion to Myrtle street, Ward 3; Allen avenue from accepted portion to Pine Ridge road, Ward 5; Linwood avenue, from Melville avenue, southwesterly, Ward 2; also for construction of drains, sewers, etc., taking land therefor in: Olde Field road, from Boylston street to Haynes road, Ward 5; Sewer, Drain in Private land, from Chandler place to Newton land, Ward 5; Drain and sewer, Haynes road, from Olde Field road, west, Ward 5; Drain and sewer, Private land, Haynes road to Paul Brook sewer, Ward 5.

Dennis M. Cronin appeared in behalf of Nunziato Visco of 258 Nevada street, in regard to the acceptance of Linwood avenue, stating that the assessments to his client would total nearly $1,000 while the value of his property would remain the same as it was swamp land and useless for building purposes. Anthony Neapolitano of 248 Nevada street also appeared in opposition.

The petition of Rita M. Balch for a nursing home at 217 Bellevue street, Newton was granted by the Board, only one member being opposed. Other petitions granted were:

Herbert L. Ray, variance of the Zoning Ordinance requirements, 31-41-43 Austin street, Newtonville, division of three lots.

Daniel MacLeod, variance of zoning ordinance requirements, 10 Oakland avenue, Ward 4, garage set back line.

Held in committee was the recommendation of Building Commissioner Arthur Campbell that the Building Code in reference to duplex houses of frame construction be amended.

President Joseph B. Jamieson announced that the next meeting of the Board will be on December 2.

Disaster Institute Held In Newton Nov. 18, 19

(Photo by Hicks)

PREPARATIONS TO COPE WITH DISASTER are being discussed at the two-day institute held by the Newton Chapter Red Cross. Shown above are James P. Shaw of the North Atlantic Area Red Cross Disaster Staff, Dr. Stewart Hamilton, director of the Newton-Wellesley Hospital; and Miss Hilga Nelson and Miss Elizabeth Porter of the Newton District Nursing Association.

In order to review Red Cross emergency preparedness and plans in case disaster should strike within the city of Newton, the Newton Chapter, an efficient American Red Cross held a two-day Disaster Institute on November 18th and 19th. Mr. James P. Shaw, member of the Area Disaster Staff conducted a series of conferences with Chapter committees and city officials.

According to Mrs. Billings Harris, Executive Secretary of the Newton Shapter, an efficient OCD organization functioned during the war to plan for the possibility of enemy action. The OCD is no more, and now the Red Cross is performing the important function of adequate preparation against peacetime accidents and hazards. One important purpose of these meetings was to clarify the respective duties of city government officials and of the Red Cross in order to avoid duplication of effort but at the same time ensure that all needs would be met. It was pointed out that every disaster presents a different picture, and that every possible emergency needs to be anticipated.

With all meetings held at the Newton Chapter House, the opening session was a conference between Mr. Charles B. Floyd, Disaster Chairman, Mrs. Harris and Mr. Shaw. They went over in detail the agenda for the two-day program.

Mr. Shaw then met with Mr. Lincoln Alvord, Survey Chairman. The work of this committee was compared to that of a reconnaissance group of an army. It is their function to study the hazards with which Newton might be faced such as fire, explosion, transportation accidents, and so on. During a disaster, the chairman would proceed at once to the scene and study such needs as food, shelter and clothing, and immediately make contact with the Chapter House where emergency headquarters would be set up.

During the next hour there was a conference between Mr. Shaw, Chief John L. Keating of the Fire Department, Sergeant Dowling who is in charge of traffic for the Newton Police Department, and Mr. Ralph B. Emery, Chairman of First Aid. Responsibility for calling for Red Cross service was placed with the Fire and Police Departments, and they are to feel free to request assistance at all times.

On Canteen activities, Mr. Shaw went over with Mrs. Ernest H. McClure, Chairman, Mrs. Forrest Lange, Mrs. James Lewis and Mrs. Edmund Miller plans for the efficient management of mobile canteens and for the feeding of large groups of people. Arrangements may be made with stores in advance as to the purchase of food and supplies.

Mr. Arthur Campbell of the Shelter Committee reported on available shelters and for shelter aids to be provided by the Recreation Department of the city under Mr. F. Ewing Wilson.

The next period was given to the Medical Sub-Committee. Dr. Stewart Hamilton of the Newton-Wellesley Hospital joined this session which was attended by Miss Hilga S. Nelson, R.N. and Miss Elizabeth Porter, R.N. of the District Nurse Association. This group went over the part which Newton Hospital will play in case of disaster and what facilities are available.

The first day wound up with Mrs. Robert W. Moore Jr. and Mrs. Sarah Woodworth conferring on Nurse's Aide activities.

On Tuesday morning Mr. Shaw met with Mr. Harold F. Young, Street Commissioner, and Mrs. R. M. E. Badger, Chairman of Motor Corps. Mr. Young reported that there are plenty of trucks for emergency use, and Mrs. Badger stated that she has twenty-five active drivers, and fifty private cars with drivers which could be called to service in case of need. Also Red Cross has several vehicles of its own.

Mr. James Reynolds of the Public Welfare Department is Chairman of Registration and Information. With Miss Ethel Knight, Red Cross Home Service director, and Mrs. Paul M. Goddard, Chairman of Staff Assistance, the duties of this committee were outlined as the registering of all dead, injured or otherwise afflicted, and the furnishing of information regarding the same. This committee is composed of social workers and Red Cross Staff Assistance.

Mrs. James Dunlop represented the Central Purchase Committee of which she and Mr. Walter Webling Jr. are in charge. They would handle all commitments made for the purchase of supplies. All relief in time of disaster is in the form of grants rather than loans.

Available clothing facilities were discussed by the Clothing Chairman, Mr. Richard Bolger and Mrs. P. Edward Eden representing Mrs. Margaret P. Braff who is Mr. Bolger's assistant.

The Institute wound up with a general meeting on Tuesday evening attended by the workers already mentioned and also representatives from all other groups who would have assigned responsibilities in case of disaster, such as the Boy Scouts and the Chamber of Commerce. The over-all plan of relief as Red Cross sees it was gone over, and Red Cross chartered obligations summarized.

It was pointed out that in the North Atlantic Area there were seventy-two disasters last year. Newton citizens may rest assured that if and when their turn comes, there will be rapid and efficient mobilization of all necessary forces.

The Community Fund must go forward. Seven million dollars is the minimum needed to enable Red Feather health and welfare agencies to serve the people of Greater Boston in 1947. Give now!

The new directories have 1784 pages as compared to 1512 pages in the old issue. There are 447,000 listings in the new book, or a rise of 50,000 over the last issue.

For the first time, the new book will list the following new exchanges: Bowdoin and Richmond in Boston, Porter in Cambridge, Bayside in Dorchester, and Perkins in Watertown.

Bruising is one of the most important problems of every McIntosh apple grower. The solution will be found in either less handling or a better container, or both, pomologists say.

Three banana bulbs privately imported into Iceland in 1939 were grown in an electrically-heated hothouse and have produced fruit. Now the Iceland government is experimenting with growing banasas in hot-water-heated hothouses.

The Community Fund counts on you.

Rotary Club

Ian Ross MacFarlane, radio commentator, accredited White House correspondent, and foreign correspondent for various press associations, was the guest speaker at the meeting of the Newton Rotary Club on Monday.

Mr. McFarlane, who also was Christian Palestine Association a delegate to the American Conference in Boston delivered a very much informed and inspiring address on the question of Palestine as a future homeland for oppressed Jewish people all over the world. He called the problem "Unfinished Business of World War I" and made a most intelligent plea for informed public opinion in America to assist in the settlement of this most vexing problem. To those members of the club who noticed that Mr. MacFarlane wore a black patch over one eye, may be interested to know that he is not copying the late Floyd Gibbons but that he lost the sight of one eye as a result of a land mine explosion at El Alamein.

Closing Date for Christmas Mail

With millions of men returned from overseas this year, postal officials face the greatest volume of Christmas mails in history. Since last June, postoffices have been preparing for this coming Yuletide Season. Two weeks ago, at a conference held between postoffice and railway mail executives, the problems involved in the movement of mail were discussed. They recalled the severe snow storms which hampered the movement of mail last year and which, if repeated before Christmas this year would definitely and finally disrupt all mails and make delivery virtually impossible. While labor conditions are improved this year, the transportation problems are not improved when it is recalled the vast amount of equipment required throughout the nation to move millions of tons of mail around the clock.

With a knowledge of all prevailing equipment and conditions, a joint schedule of final closing dates for assured delivery of Christmas mails to all parts of the nation was announced and sent to all Postmasters, stores, business concerns etc. by Postmaster Patrick J. Connelly of Boston. The final closing dates are as follows:

Christmas Gift Parcels:

November 21 to Arizona, California, Oregon, Washington.

November 25 to Alabama, Arkansas, Colorado, Florida, Georgia, Idaho, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Louisiana, Minnesota, Mississippi, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, New Mexico, North Dakota, Oklahoma, South Carolina, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Wisconsin, Wyoming.

November 26 to Delaware, Dist. of Columbia, Indiana, Kentucky, Maryland, Michigan, New York, New Jersey, North Carolina, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Virginia, West Virginia.

Turkey, Fixin's In Good Supply For Thanksgiving

There should be plenty of drumsticks and fixin's to go around on Thanksgiving, despite the heavy demand for poultry and turkey caused by the meat shortage earlier this fall, a survey by the nation's leading food distributor discloses. Prices, however, are expected to be high.

Reduced military demands have more than offset the slight drop in this year's production as compared with the 1945 record figures, the report by A. & P. Food Stores points out, with the result that there will be at least as much if not more available for consumers. Heavy cold storage holdings add to the encouraging picture.

This year's turkey crop is placed by the U. S. Department of Agriculture at slightly in excess of 600,000,000 pounds, while the 1945 figure was the record 677,000,000 pounds. The 1946 poultry production is estimated at approximately 3,200,000,000 pounds compared with 3,700,000,000 pounds last year. Poultry in storage at this time is estimated at 230,000,000 pounds compared with 134,000,000 pounds in the same 1945 period, while holdings of turkey are three times greater than last year.

As for the fixin's, the 1946 crop is expected to hit an all-time high of 475,000,000 bushels; cranberry production is now estimated at more than 800,000 barels compared with 656,000 barrels in 1945 and a 10-year average of 624,000; and onion production may soar to 37,500,000 fifty-pound sacks, two million more than the previous high set in 1944.

The heavy cranberry producing State of Massachusets estimates its crop this year at 575,000 barrels, which is 14 per cent higher than 1945 and 33 per cent larger than average. Wisconsin production is expected to total 150,000 barrels, and New Jersey, third producing state, is placed at 90,000 barrels.

Celery, winter squash, nuts, grapes, pumpkin and apples are available in good supply, while the heavy wheat group assures an ample supply of bread for dressing.

'Lifesaver Gadget' Put On Market By Ford Service Dept.

Bruised fingers and injured dispositions of motorists who experience flre or motor trouble on lonely roads at nights have won the sympathy of the Ford Motor Company.

Said fingers and dispositions henceforth can be protected with a "lifesaver" gadget placed on the market by the Ford parts and service department. The gadget is a utility light fitted with a 12-foot extension cord and a plug to fit the cigar lighter socket. A hook on the plastic bulb protector will permit the troubled motorist to hang the light in the spot where it will do the most good.

Irving L. Pierce, director, Ford Parts and Service division, predicts a great demand for the gadget.

Perhaps the shortest bombing mission in history occurred during the invasion of Pelelieu when United States Marine pilots flew 1,400 yards from the end of the runway on the recently captured airfield to Bloody Nose Ridge to drop napalm fire bombs in support of ground troops.

Dec. 1 Is Deadline For County Canning Champ Nominations

Nominations by counties for the state food preservation champions of 1946 will be submitted to the Massachusetts Department of Agrieulture by December 1, Commissioner Frederick E. Cole has announced.

Co-operating in the contest are the Department of Agriculture, the Massachusetts State College Extension Service, and the National Garden Institute, donor of the trophy on which names of winners will be engraved.

Plans call for the forwarding of names of nominees by the county home demonstration agents to Commissioner Cole. Final selection of a winner from each county will then be made by the Agricultural Advisory Committee of the Department of Agriculture. The 11 homemakers will be honored at the banquet of the Union Agricultural Meeting in Worcester in January. The cup on which the names of the winners will be engraved, will also be exhibited there. It is planned to later place the trophy in some conspicuous place such as at Horticultural Hall in Boston.

Winners in the contest will be judged on how well they typify the sort of home food preservation program as advocated by the Extension Service. The amount and type of preservation, size and make-up of the family, kind of farm or employment of husband, and savings realized in food money, are other points to be emphasized.

"The purpose of the contest is to focus attention on the urgent need again this year for producing and preserving food," Commissioner Cole said. Any homemaker in Massachusetts may enter the contest. Further details may be obtained from your county home demonstration agent at your county Extension Service office.

Could This Be Your Son?

Sixteen-year-old Frank informed his parents he wasn't going to finish his last year of high school; his war plant job paid him $45 weekly. His father learned he had been absent from work and was frequenting the local beer palaces with a Navy deserter who had organized a gang of the neighborhood boys to work for a local small-time racketeer. Unable to reason with his son, who saw only the easy money and excitement of his associations, Frank's father consulted a Red Feather youth center. Soon an understanding advisor made friends with Frank and with reasons the boy understood convinced him of the foolishness of his present way of living, and helped him decide to return to school. Now Frank is well on his way to his high school diploma, and he has just been told he is eligible for a scholarship at the state university.

This could happen in your family and perhaps the Community Fund has assisted you sometime during your stay in Dedham. Anyhow, please make sure that you contribute as much as you can this year to your own Community Fund. We say, Your Own Community Fund because every contribution makes better living for you. This year it is more important than it has ever been because of deficits which have accrued during the war.

Post War Home Device By The Westinghouse Co.

HYDE PARK, Mass., Nov. 21—First production models of the new household Precipitron, the electrostatic air cleaner designed as an antidote for the housewife's daily dusting drudgery, today moved off the assembly line of the B. F. Sturtevant Company Division of Westinghouse Electric.

Described as one of the first scientific "wonders" ready for the postwar home, the device removes 85 to 90 per cent of all dust in the circulating air stream in homes as large as eight rooms, it was reported by Walter Goodwin, manager of the Precipitron department. It is even effective, he said, against tobacco smoke, whose particles are as small as 1/250,000 of an inch in diameter.

The Precipitron was developed before the war in the Westinghouse Research Laboratories by Gaylord W. Penney, but until now mass production units have been made only for factories, stores, laboratories and Army and Navy installations where clean air is essential, he related. During the war, the Precipitron "laundered" air in plants that made bombsights, tanks, binoculars, guns and other apparatus that required precision manufacture.

Introduction of a household Precipitron before this was delayed by wartime restrictions, Mr. Goodwin said. One hundred test installations in homes were made shortly before the war, and these served as the proving grounds for the newly-designed "Home Central" Precipitron now in production.

In response to surveys by the company, housewives in these homes reported that with the Precipitron in operation, they had to dust no more than once a week, and that clothes, furniture, draperies and curtains all stay clean for long periods of time.

Home-owners will be able to buy a Precipitron either in a compact cabinet model about the size of a refrigerator, or built into a furnace unit by furnace manufacturers. The cabinet model will be sold by specially authorized contractors throughout the country, while the Precipitron built into furnaces will be available through the furnace manufacturers' regular dealers.

Did You Know?

Anyone can go to Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children for advice or to report situations requiring protective services. Have you a problem regarding children? Is there some child or children that you think are physically, morally, or medically neglected? Children whose parents are not adequately supporting? Some girl who needs advice? The names of all complainants are confidential.

There is also a Children's Home at 476 Parker street, Roxbury, which accommodates thirty children; children who need temporary care, children who need immediate removal from their homes because of extreme neglect or abuse, children who are deserted or abandoned, children placed there by the courts for protection when adults are prosecuted. Many children are also admitted on voluntary applications to be studied by experts at our hospitals and clinics.

On January 1, 1946 an office for the South Norfolk District, which covers Dedham, was opened at 369 Washington street, Dedham, Dedham 2550.

In 1945 Dedham referred thirty-one problems to the Society — problems which included physical neglect, intemperance, broken homes, non-support, juvenile delinquency, illegitimacy, forced marriage, insanity, moral neglect and others.

to deplore the necessity of employing his own police department, but recent happenings on Centre avenue, one recent early a.m., when Mr. Bellinger, arriving there with a deer tied to the front mudguard of his car after a non-stop run from Maine, entered his office for not more than two minutes and returned to find the deer missing, has aroused that usually amiable gentleman to the point where he confided in friends recently, at the Newton Lodge of Elks, that "something will have to be done . . . !"

P. S. . . .

The Elks were enjoying a succulent venison stew, prepared by Fred Burns, of the John T. Burns and Sons Company, at the time.

BOZO . . .

During the past couple of months, a canine answering to the name of Bozo, has been paling around with the tax drivers in Newton Corner during the night hours. The taxi stand's pretty close to a cafe there and it begins to appear that Bozo, like June, will soon be bustin' out all over, unless he loses his appetite, or else takes a dislike to restaurant food. Of doubtful ancestry, he's the possessor of the gentlest, big brown eyes this side of Pershing road, and when food's on the table they glow very much in the manner Nelson's did when he pick up the fourth ace that time. Last week he followed this department home and when the nicest little old lady in the world said that what, with it being Friday and all, there wasn't a think available he'd like, Bozo, the smoothie, simply ambled across the room on his piano sized paws, rolled his big brown eyes in her direction and, presto, she suddenly recalled there was one large sized pork chop left in the refrigerator. A heather, as well as a bum of the first water, Bozo finished the chop in a few gulps and has been a daily visitor since.

AROUND TOWN . . .

Last week, listing the old business establishments in Newton Corner, McCammon's shoe store was forgotten. So far's the writer knows, McCammon's is the oldest store in the Square . . . Wilson's grocery was somewhere in the same league, but went out of business a few months ago . . . Last Monday night thieves entered two homes in Newton Centre . . . Plan E may go before the electorate at the next election . . . Newton's street department foremen are requesting a pay increase . . . 14 former presidents attended last Wednesday's Kiwanis meeting . . . Dr. Ernest Marcoux will be next year's president of the Club . . . Fire Chief John L. Keating ably directed firemen from Waltham and Newton at the two-alarm fire on Crafts street, last Tuesday . . . Increasing traffic through Newton Corner is proving Alderman Lockwood's plan for that busy square a wise one . . .

UNCLE WILLIE . . . or . . . WHEN GREEK MEETS GREEK . . .

All's well so far's the banking situation's concerned. Ben Louis said we could still borrow from his bank even though our Uncle Willie is pretty much of a so and so, and Bob Wilcox, after a visit from Uncle Willie, still likes us, too, which although amazing is, as they say in Bulgaria, good. With Ben's money, Bob's clothes and, maybe, a Pontiac from Frank Battles once in a while, Our Town After Midnight may yet cross the sacred portals of Waban!

But Uncle Willie! He's awful, that's all. Visiting Bob Wilcox, last week, he intimated Bob's slacks resembled Jack Janse's and his jacket, said Uncle Willie, looked like Bill Sullivan's. The perfect host, Wilcox, laughingly ignored Uncle Willie's childish prattle, insisting that he help himself to another herring. Uncle Willie chuckled happily. "I would love another," he said, "but I am embarrassed, Laddie. I have already had six." "You've already had ten," corrected Wilcox, "but who counts around here?"

Two Alarm Fires Damage Plumbing And Paint Buildings

—o—

The second two alarm fire to occur in this city within 48 hours broke out Tuesday morning in a large barn at the rear of 17 Crafts street, Newtonville, which has been used as a paint shop by Russell E. McCassey, Inc., painting contractors, who have an office at 1261 Washington street, West Newton.

The fire is believed to have been caused by a short circuit in an agitator, used for the mixing of paint. When the fire broke out there were four men at work in the shop. One of them, Robert Darnell of Clinton street, Newton who went to the telephone to put in a call for the fire department was trapped by the flames and had to break a window to escape from the building. He suffered a severe cut on his right hand.

Following response to the telephone call at 9:58 a. m., an alarm was sounded from Box 242 and at 10:30 a second alarm was ordered by Chief John L. Keating bringing assistance from West Newton, Auburndale, Newton Centre, Chestnut Hill and Newton Highlands, while at the same time Engine 6 of Newton Lower Falls and Engine 7 of Newton Upper Falls covered in at Engine 2 house. Aid was also sent from Waltham.

The building was located within a few feet of two houses and also was near the property of the Roy S. Edwards Lumber Company. Firemen succeeded in preventing the flames from spreading to surrounding buildings.

On Sunday evening two alarms were sounded for a fire in a 2 story wooden building at the rear of 307 Walnut street, Newtonville, occupied by the Orr Heating and Plumbing Company. The blaze which is believed to have been started by embers from a fire in a pile of leaves spread rapidly from the outside of the building to the interior.

Richard Hay, 22, of 132 Jewett street, Newton, a member of the Fire Department was burned about the hands and was taken to the Newton-Wellesley Hospital.

The first alarm was sounded from Box 32 at 6:45 p. m. and the second at 6:46. The "all-out" signal was given at 9:45.

First Move Made Towards Next Year's Hallowe'en Parties

—o—

About 100 village coordinators, building chairmen and interested guests held an informal get-together at the Newton Centre Woman's Club house on Monday evening to discuss the recent Halloween celebration and offer suggections for the 1947 event.

Mr. William G. Read, general chairman of the Halloween Committee for the second time, under whose direction this year's parties proved to be the most successful since they were first started six years ago, conducted a short informal meeting and called on a number of those present for brief remarks. Valuable suggestions were offered and these will be taken into consideration when the plans for next Halloween are formulated.

Refreshments were served at small tables, around which groups of committees sat and talked over their experiences in handling the parties. And it seems certain that out of these chats will come ideas that will greatly facilitate future procedure.

Among those attending were Mayor Paul M. Goddard, Mr. F. Ewing Wilson, Commissioner of Recreation; Mrs. Ragna Hoxgaard, Supervisor of Recreation, and chairman of the Program Committee; Mr. Roy S. Edwards, president of the Newton Chamber of Commerce; Mr. Harold B. Gores, Assistant Superintendent of Schools; Mr. Rupert C. Thompson, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce; Mr. E. F. Haberstroh, publicity chairman, and Mr. J. J. Garrity, supervisor of Recreation in Lexington.

At the conclusion of a discussion period, Mr. Read paid gracious tribute to Mrs. Hovgaard. He termed her the "spark plug" of the entire Halloween organization and accorded her the warmest praise for her tireless efforts, her conscientious and energetic work, her efficient handling of a stupendous amount of detail and her unfailing good nature in the midst of trying problems.

The arrangements for this enjoyable meeting were ably handled by Mrs. F. H. Underhill of Newtonville, and assisting her as pourers were Mrs. Rupert C. Thompson, Mrs. John F. Underhill and Mrs. Harold B. Gores.

A Lecture on Christian Science

Entitled

Christian Science: The Religion of Love, Which Heals

by

Mrs. Elisabeth F. Norwood, C. S. B. of Brookline, Massachusetts

Member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts

Before a large audience in First Church of Christ, Scientist, Newton, Mrs. Elizabeth F. Norwood, C.S.B., of Brookline, delivered a lecture Monday evening, November 18th. Mrs. Norwood was introduced by Mrs. Ernestine M. Kyle, Second Reader, who said:
Friends:

On behalf of First Church of Christ, Scientist, of Newton, I extend to you all a most cordial welcome.

There is a message in Christian Science for every individual. There is not a human need in the consciousness of mankind but can be met and satisfied through a correct understanding of God, as revealed in Christian Science, and of His law of love and health for His own creation man. All may hear and understand this message, for it comes to you from the heart of Love; the Love which is God.

Our lecturer this evening is a member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass. She is well qualified to speak to you on the subject: "Christian Science: The Religion of Love Which Heals."

It is my happy privilege to introduce to you Mrs. Elizabeth F. Norwood, of Brookline, Massachusetts.

The lecturer spoke substantially as follows:

Christian Science is metaphysics, above the physical realm, beyond the range of material vision. Christian Science is divine revelation and is spiritually discerned. This, however, does not make it difficult for one to understand Christian Science; for, being a Science, it is logical, and that which is logical is easily understood when earnestly approached with an open, unbiased mind.

When turning to any religion, the first question one generally asks is, "What does this religion teach concerning God?" In the first epistle of John we read, "God is love," and on this statement and the authority of the Bible that God is All, Christian Science is based.

Sometimes we find a person who considers himself an atheist, that is, one who disbelieves in the existence of a God, or a Supreme Being. But truly there is no such person as an atheist; for any thinking person knows that he is not self-created, that he does not govern the universe or control events. He knows that there is something outside of himself, above, beyond himself, which is in control. He may call that something power, force, or some other name, but that something is his God.

In Christian Science God, who is Love, is incorporeal, that is, without a material body. If God, Love, were corporeal, somehow, somewhere, sometime, someone would have seen God. But in Exodus (33:20) it is recorded that God says, "Thou canst not see my face: for there shall no man see me and live." Although Love cannot be seen by the material senses, the presence of Love is mentally realized.

Incorporeal God is infinite, that is immeasurable, boundless, unlimited. A corporeal God, with the largest conceivable body, would be outlined, limited, and finite, and could occupy only the space which that corporeality could fill. In the Bible we read, "Do not I fill heaven and earth? saith the Lord" (Jer. 23:24).

A corporeal, finite God would be available only to those who were in the very place where this corporeality might be, while the Christian Science God, filling all space, is available to all mankind, at all times.

God, who is infinite, incorporeal Love, is also divine, meaning heavenly, holy. In that which is divine there is nothing more to be desired. Divine Love is the healing presence, and its infinitude, its all-inclusiveness, forbids the existence or presence of another power. This divine presence being everywhere, man is always in the healing presence.

When Moses, who brought the children of Israel out of bondage, was told by God to "go up hence," he asked God whom He would send with him, and God answered, "My presence shall go with thee, and I will give thee rest" (Ex. 33:14). It was as if God had said, "My presence fills all space, therefore you will always be in My presence wherever you may be; you can never be out of My presence, and in My presence is all that you can ever need."

God also is Mind, and because this Mind is infinite there can be no other mind. Because this Mind is good, there can be no evil mind. In "Miscellaneous Writings" by Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, we read (p. 173), "If Mind, God, is all-power and all-presence, man is not met by another power and presence, that—obstructing his intelligence—pains, fetters, and befools him." This one Mind, divinely intelligent, this all-knowing Mind, controls and governs the entire universe, including man. It was Mind which rolled back the river Jordan; it was Mind which parted the Red Sea for the children of Israel to walk through; it was Mind which rolled away the stone from the sepulcher. In the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, we read (p. 143), "If Mind was first chronologically, is first potentially, and must be first eternally, then give to Mind the glory, honor, dominion, and power everlastingly due its holy name."

God also is Spirit, incorporeal and supreme, the divine Being in which there is nothing physical. Understanding the infinitude of the one Spirit, good, enabled the Master to cast out evil spirits, and thus prove them to be unreal.

In Soul, another name for Deity, we find the sinlessness, the holiness, the immortality of God. Only that which is sinless can be immortal, for sin is identical with mortality. Because Soul is infinite, there can be but one Soul. Soul is Love, and because Love is easily understood, Soul is easily understood.

Principle is another name for God. It is not difficult to realize that Principle is incorporeal, but Principle is no more incorporeal than Life and Love. All adjectives describing God are applicable to all synonyms for God. Principle, supreme and infinite, is the great Lawmaker. His laws are spiritual and divine, and they are destructive to material so-called laws, which would hold man in bondage to sin, to sickness and death. Principle never sways one hair's breadth from perfection.

God also is Life, divine Being, which is ever conscious; and because Life is infinite, filling all space, there can be no death. To really understand the infinitude, the supremacy, of Life means victory over death. "Life demonstrates Life," we read in the Christian Science textbook (p. 306).

God also is Truth, always highest in authority, always operating, ever present. The very mission of Truth is to destroy error, which, because of the infinitude of Truth, must be unreal.

We have found that there is but one God, by whatever name He may be called. Let us stop for a moment and realize the wonders this great fact demonstrates. The understanding that there is but one Mind means no controversy, no quarreling, no disputes in the home, in the office, in social, political, business or church affairs. The realization that there is but one Life means spiritual existence only. Life never interrupted by death. The understanding that there is but one Truth means no misconception of God or of man, of substance or law, employment or supply. The result of knowing that there is but one Love is happiness for all. One infinite Love means no envy, no jealousy, no sense of personal possession, no slights, no unkindness, no fear, for Love never faileth.

We have still more to learn about God in Christian Science. He is self-existent. God exists because of Himself; man exists because of God. God is individual, all-inclusive, the center and circumference of man's being. God is the only creator; He is our Shepherd, and as Mrs. Eddy declares in "Miscellaneous Writings" (p. 150), "He guards, guides, feeds, and folds the sheep of His pasture; and their ears are attuned to His call."

God is our Minister, ministering to our every need; God is the great Physician, "who forgiveth all thine iniquities; who healeth all thy diseases" (Ps. 103:3). God is our Father-Mother. I should like to tell you how God, expressing motherhood, healed a little boy, about three years old, of grief. The mother of this little boy had passed on, and from the moment the child knew about it he had cried night and day, until the physician who attended the family—no one in the household was a Christian Scientist—despaired of the child's welfare. However, a neighbor told the little one's father that she had heard that Christian Science was a very helpful religion, and perhaps if he should take his child to a Christian Science Sunday School it might help him. The father did so. I recall seeing him come in with the child in his arms. The little one was still crying, but in a few moments he looked up with a smile and said, "I have found my mother." He had found his Father-Mother God in the Sunday School of The Mother Church.

In "Miscellaneous Writings" Mrs. Eddy says (p. 151): "Erother, sister, beloved in the Lord, knowest thou thyself, and art thou acquainted with God? If not, I pray thee as a Christian Scientist, delay not to make Him thy first acquaintance." The Godlike qualities which one exemplifies in his everyday life reveal how well one is acquainted with God.

Man, the Spiritual Idea of God

It has just been said that God, Mind, is the only creator. Mind creates ideas, for in no other way could Mind find expression. His entire universe consists of ideas, humanly viewed as lesser and greater ideas, all reflecting Him in various degrees. Mind's highest idea is man, His image and likeness. This spiritual idea, man, is as eternal as God: he knows no birth, no death; he is forever complete by reflection, and always at the point of perfection. This spiritual idea is the male and female of God's creating. Being the reflection of Love, man is lovely, loving, and lovable. He is the living idea, for he is the reflection of Life. This idea, man, lives in the bosom of his Father-Mother God. What could be closer to infinite Being! Man in God's likeness knows all that God knows, for God is the Mind of man. God's perfect idea, man, is a compound idea because he reflects all the qualities of God and expresses all right ideas, the right idea about substance and law, supply, employment, relationship, business, and home. Knowing the truth, that these are all spiritual, perfect, eternal, and present, man cannot know anything untrue about them. He cannot be holding to matter's substance, to law as man-made, to supply or employment as lacking, to relationship and home as unhappy and mortal. Spiritual understanding and material believing cannot dwell together in the consciousness of God's man. God's man has not a mortal consciousness, separated from God by fear, ignorance, or sin because his consciousness is divine, and is at one with his God. This idea, man, is spiritual, holy, and free; no sorrow, no envy, no fear or ingratitude blurs the holiness of his thought; no sickness, disease, poison or pain mars the transparency and holiness of his substance, for his substance is Love, perfect Love.

Mortal Man Is the Dreamer

Having found the man of God's creating, never unhappy, dying, or sick, never burdened or impoverished, never in bondage to fleshly inheritance, but always an heir with Christ, let us take heed lest we forget the man of God's creating, when we look into the mist of mortal mind, the mist of corporeal sense testimony, which would obscure the spiritual idea, man, and try to befool one into believing that mortal material man is God's man. When we look into the dream existence, which tells of mind and matter, pleasure and pain, good and evil, the dream existence where one child appears brilliant, another dull, one child rich, another poor, one child well, but another sick, one child happy, but another unhappy, let us remember that God, who is Love, is not responsible for the dream, which will become unreal in individual consciousness as one finds his true existence in divine Mind.

One should always strive to see himself not as a mortal, but as God's man. A little boy, who had been brought up in Christian Science and had been taught that he was a child of God, on going to school, and being told to write his name on the blackboard, wrote "Johnny Jones, child of God." He did this several times, and then his teacher told him to write "Johnny Jones," and no more. The child obeyed, but he was so faithful in holding to the spiritual fact that he was a child of God, that every time he wrote "Johnny Jones" on the blackboard, on a slip of paper he wrote, "child of God" and put the paper in his pocket. The faithfulness of this little child in accepting only the truth about himself is a lesson to us all.

The Two Chief Commands

In her textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," Mary Baker Eddy refers to Christian Science as the "Science of Soul," and asks (p. 467), "What are the demands of the Science of Soul?" She answers, "The first demand of this Science is, 'Thou shalt have no other gods before me.' This me is Spirit. Therefore the command means this: Thou shalt have no intelligence, no life, no substance, no truth, no love, but that which is spiritual. The second is like unto it, 'Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself.'" In proportion to one's love for God he desires to obey Him, and reflecting God, he has the ability to do so. One keeps the First Commandment by refusing to accept as true that which corporeal sense reports about substance and Life, by rejecting mortal mind's false reports about intelligence and Love.

The second command does not read, "Thou shalt not hate;" it reads, "Thou shalt love." Some people seem to think that there is a middle ground between loving and hating. Really there is not; one either loves or he hates. There is nothing between honesty and dishonesty; an act is either honest or dishonest. There is nothing between reality and unreality; a thing is either real or it is unreal—it cannot be both. If one's thought for his neighbor (and one's neighbor is not just one who lives in his neighborhood, but everyone of whom he thinks) is without a tinge of envy, criticism, unkindness, or any quality unlike love, then one is loving his neighbor. But if there is in one's thought anything unlike love, then, sad to say, he is hating his neighbor.

One is not required to love any error which a neighbor may express, but one should separate error from person and see man as God sees him, perfect and upright. Doing this, it is not difficult to love one's neighbor.

Sometimes fear prevents one from loving his brother man. For instance, a little girl, about seven years old, moved with her family into a new locality, and one day she remarked to her mother that she was afraid of Mr. A, that whenever she saw him approaching, she stepped behind the hedge. Her mother, who was a Christian Scientist, replied, "Why, Mr. A cannot be more than God's image and likeness, and you cannot be less." No more was said until a few days later, when the child volunteered that she was no longer afraid of Mr. A, that she enjoyed seeing him and speaking to him, and that he spoke lovingly to her. Mr. A had not changed; he was a loving, kind man, though his manner seemed somewhat pompous to a little child. But when he and the child were placed on the same basis, children of God, there was nothing to fear, and they loved one another. The child could not be afraid of God's man, and Love's likeness could not reflect anything that could cause fear.

I knew a woman who thought that she loved everyone, but when she encountered a problem which caused her great suffering she examined her thinking more carefully; she turned the searchlight of Truth into every nook and corner of her consciousness to see what unlike the Christ might be lurking there. Before long she thought of a person whom she could not honestly say she loved, and in a few moments another one came to her thought whom she could not truly say she loved, and in a short time she had quite a group of persons on whom she was not showering love; and right then and there she demanded of herself that she be obedient to the command, "Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself." It was not long before she was physically free, and the ugly manifestation which had been visible disappeared.

Christ Jesus

In Science and Health we read (p. 494), "Divine Love always has met and always will meet every human need." Almost two thousand years ago the world was in great need of a way-shower, and divine Love met that need by sending Christ Jesus to redeem mankind, to show mankind the way of Life.

Jesus was born of the Virgin Mary, who heard and accepted the angel message that she was to become the mother of the babe Jesus. The angel told her, "He shall be great, and shall be called Son of the Highest: and the Lord God shall give unto him the throne of his father David: and he shall reign over the house of Jacob for ever; and of his kingdom there shall be no end" (Luke 1:32, 33). According to the Scripture, at the early age of twelve years Jesus was found "in the temple, sitting in the midst of the doctors, both hearing them, and asking them questions." And when sought by his parents and asked by his mother as to why he had not followed them on their journey home from Jerusalem, he answered, "Wist ye not that I must be about my Father's business?" (Luke 2:46, 49.) In the Glossary of Science and Health (p. 589) Mrs. Eddy defines "Jesus" as follows: "The highest human corporeal concept of the divine idea, rebuking and destroying error and bringing to light man's immortality." Jesus consecrated himself to God; he glorified God and prayed, "Not my will, but thine, be done."

The Christ was the incorporeal, spiritual man, the divine idea, forever dwelling in divine Mind. The material Jesus was visible to the material senses; the Christ was invisible to the material senses. There is but one Christ, and there will never be another Christ. The Master's true selfhood never knew matter, sin, nor death; his true selfhood knew God and Life eternal. Jesus was so conscious of the facts of his true being that he could take refuge in Truth and find himself free from all evil, even the malice of his foes.

In Science and Health (p. 333) we read, "Christ expresses God's spiritual, eternal nature." Surely Christ Jesus exemplified the divine nature, at all times and under all circumstances. Even on the cross, he had compassion for his mother, healing for the thief crucified beside him, and forgiveness for his enemies. In the Christian Science textbook it is written (p. 26), "His mission was to reveal the Science of celestial being, to prove what God is and what He does for man."

The Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science

Before his crucifixion and ascension, the Master said to his disciples, "And I will pray the Father, and he shall give you another Comforter, that he may abide with you for ever; . . . I will not leave you comfortless: I will come to you" (John 14: 16, 18). The teachings of Christian Science parallel the teachings of the Master, therefore it is easy to realize that Christian Science is the other Comforter, promised by the Master. It was necessary for this other Comforter to be discovered in order that mankind might know and understand it, and Mary Baker Eddy, who from childhood turned to God in prayer and steadfastly communed with her heavenly Father, was called by God to reveal the Comforter. Christ Jesus was Mrs. Eddy's pattern in her great work, and the Bible was her only authority, teacher, and textbook.

Prior to Mrs. Eddy's discovery of Christian Science, she met with a severe accident, and although medicine and surgery could not heal her, she recovered immediately after calling for the Bible and reading the account of the Master's healing of the palsied man. After this experience, she spent three years studying the Scriptures to gain an understanding of God's great power to heal and His spiritual law. With her thought illumined by the inspired Word of the Bible she wrote the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures."

It was not a path of roses which Mrs. Eddy trod to give Christian Science to the world, for like the Master she encountered opposition and persecution, but she worked on, to bless even those who opposed her. She worked to bring holiness to the unholy and loveliness to the unlovely. Like the Master, she worked in "wondrous love," and was "glorious in humility." All Christian Scientists and many others are profoundly grateful to Mrs. Eddy. They love her, and well they may, for she has brought to the consciousness of mankind an understanding of the great and only God; she has opened for them the very gates of the Holy City.

In her textbook Mrs. Eddy writes, "When God called the author to proclaim His Gospel to this age, there came also the charge to plant and water His vineyard" (Pref. xi: 22). Always obedient to God's call, Mrs. Eddy, after writing the textbook, established the Christian Science organization, thus becoming the Founder of Christian Science as well as the Discoverer. Mrs. Eddy wrote the Church Manual, which governs the Christian Science organization. Each By-Law in this book was God's answer to her prayer. Also Mrs. Eddy founded the Christian Science periodicals, and at the age of eighty, The Christian Science Monitor, an international daily newspaper. The periodicals and the religious article which appears in every edition of the newspaper take healing messages to mankind, messages of encouragement and joy, messages which enable their readers to gain some understanding of Christian Science.

Perhaps we may liken these messages to fresh seeds, to be sown in the gardens of thought, to be nourished by Love and strengthened by Truth. In the consciousness prepared for these seeds, they quickly spring up, yielding an abundant harvest of lovely and helpful thoughts, blessing the one in whose garden they grow and blessing those to whom they are given. What a happy experience always to have in one's mental garden a strong, sturdy blossom of courage and gratitude, a delicate bloom of goodness, compassion, and culture, and a sweet-smelling blossom of kindness and Christly affection, to pluck for a brother in need of these qualities. If tares should creep in, through some hidden working of error, the seedlings of Truth would uproot them; and where tares had seemed to be, lovely blossoms would grow, expressive of grand and unselfish thoughts. As these messages reach numberless people seeking the Christ, the whole world will become a garden of beauty, filling the air with the fragrance of Love.

Mrs. Eddy not only gave to the world the glories and beauties of the healing Christ, but she courageously uncovered the workings of the carnal mind, the subtle activities of evil. She did this in order that mankind might recognize these evils for what they seem to be and what they claim to do, and then, through the understanding of the all-power of Love, reduce them to their nothingness, their powerlessness.

The purpose of evil always is to block the activity of good, to stop right thinking and right acting. The carnal mind claims the power to direct mortal man's thinking and acting, and make him believe that such suggested evil thought is his own. The activity of the carnal mind would cause one to be mentally lazy and to let the persuasive or dominant thinking of another control him. To one under the seeming influence of material personality, no uncovering of error, no true presentation of a situation makes the slightest impression until Truth awakens him to realize that God has given him the right to think for himself, that, in reality, he is God-directed. In Science and Health (p. 106) Mrs. Eddy writes: "God has endowed man with inalienable rights, among which are self-government, reason, and conscience. Man is properly self-governed only when he is guided rightly and governed by his Maker, divine Truth and Love."

Healing in Christian Science

Christ Jesus demonstrated supremely the religion of Love, which heals, and he promised his followers that they should do the same works, provided they believed on him, for he said (John 14:12), "Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that believeth on me, the works that I do shall he do also." The Master's treatment was true prayer, and he worked to glorify God. Christian Science treatment is prayer, and every honest Christian Scientist works to glorify God. The prayer of a Christian Scientist is one of gratitude to God for having made man spiritual and perfect, and for having maintained man's perfection and his at-one-ment with God.

Disease is not ignored in Christian Science practice; it is recognized as a false belief, without intelligence. There is nothing good about disease, therefore it cannot be of God's creating, for in Genesis (1:31) we read, "And God saw every thing that he had made, and, behold, it was very good." Since God is the only creator, in reality disease has never been created, and therefore does not exist.

The way to diagnose a case in Christian Science is to discover the quality of a patient's thinking—whether his thoughts are lovely or unlovely, honest or dishonest, of human or divine origin; for every thought finds expression on the body. In each case there are human needs, mental and physical, to be met by Truth and Love. The greatest human need in every case is a higher understanding of God and a greater faith in His healing Christ. And there are other needs. In every case there is the need of freedom from conscious or unconscious fear, freedom from believing in the error, sometimes the need of freedom from pain, inflammation, or swelling. But whatever the need, divine Love is ever present to meet it. Regardless of what name mortal man may give to disease, God's name for it is always the same—illusion, a lie, unreality.

The Master demanded two things in his healing work: a change in the consciousness of his patient and a change in the physical evidence. The thought of the patient was changed from believing in the error to understanding the truth of his being, and the physical condition was changed from a discordant to a harmonious one.

When one understands that divine Mind is all there is to govern in every realm, then mortal mind surrenders its false claims. In the well-known hymn, "Onward, Christian Soldiers," there are the lines, "Christ, the royal Master, leads against the foe." Christ is Truth, and the foe is mortal mind. Christ, Truth, leads against every false argument of mortal mind and destroys it, setting free the sufferer.

All mortals encounter problems in their human experience, and this is not surprising, for the Master said to his disciples, "In the world ye shall have tribulation," but he did not leave them victims of the tribulation, for he added, "Be of good cheer; I have overcome the world" (John 16:33).

Through his understanding of God and God's love for His children, the Master overcame all the errors which the world presents.

The testimonies which appear in the chapter "Fruitage" in Science and Health were written by those who were healed by reading this book, and they give conclusive proof that Christian Science represents the healing Christ. On the cover of Science and Health, encircling the cross and the crown, are these four commands of the Master: "Heal the sick, raise the dead, cleanse the lepers, cast out demons;" and the contents of this book explain the Master's teaching and enable one to fulfill his commands, to prove that "being is holiness, harmony, immortality" (Science and Health, p. 492).

Sometimes, under the weight of problems, there comes the temptation to assume a false sense of personal responsibility when there should be complete reliance on God. Many years ago, Mrs. Eddy appointed one of her students to a position which was new in the Christian Science organization, and realizing that this student might assume a sense of personal responsibility for the work, sent her this message, "God has undertaken for you." Immediately all sense of carrying a burden rolled away, and the student went joyously forward with her work. The message of Love had healed her of the false sense.

A healing message never ceases to function; a declaration of Truth never dies, but continues to live, to operate, and fulfill its mission.

Many years after Mrs. Eddy sent that message, a young mother, whose little boy was perilously ill, went to a Christian Science practitioner for help for the child. She went to the very person to whom that message had been given, so long before. The practitioner, seeing that the mother was filled with fear and a great sense of personal responsibility for the safety of her child, gave her the message just quoted, and she started home holding to these words of Mrs. Eddy, "God has undertaken for you." When she arrived at her home her child was well. A message from divine Love never loses its power to heal.

Not long ago I was talking with a young Christian Science practitioner, and having heard of several beautiful cases of healing accomplished by her work, I asked what she felt was the outstanding point in her practice. She quickly replied, "I cannot help loving those who come to me for healing." Here was the answer: the divine Love which this practitioner exemplified, touched the consciousness of her patients, and they were healed. "Love never faileth."

When one perceives that God is the Father of man and that man is the spiritual idea in divine Mind, when one perceives that there is, in reality, but one existence, spiritual existence, and receives these truths into consciousness, he has taken two of the steps necessary to make his own demonstration and to heal others. The intellectualist may perceive the logic of these statements, but sometimes, because of his pride of intellectuality, does not receive into consciousness that which he has logically perceived. The materialist may perceive these truths, but because of his materiality is not interested to take them into his consciousness. However, the spiritually-minded person, after having perceived the truth about God and man, opens his consciousness and receives this truth.

There is still another step to be taken, in order to bring out a demonstration, and that is, to conceive, or hold in consciousness, that which one has perceived and received. When one's mental picture of man is permanently spiritual, he finds man without sin, without disease, without death, perfect as his creator.

Present-day Salvation

In Philippians (2:12, 13) Paul writes, "Work out your own salvation with fear and trembling. For it is God who worketh in you both to will and to do of his good pleasure."

In the Glossary of Science and Health (p. 593) Mrs. Eddy gives the definition of "salvation" as follows, "Life, Truth, and Love understood and demonstrated as supreme over all; sin, sickness, and death destroyed."

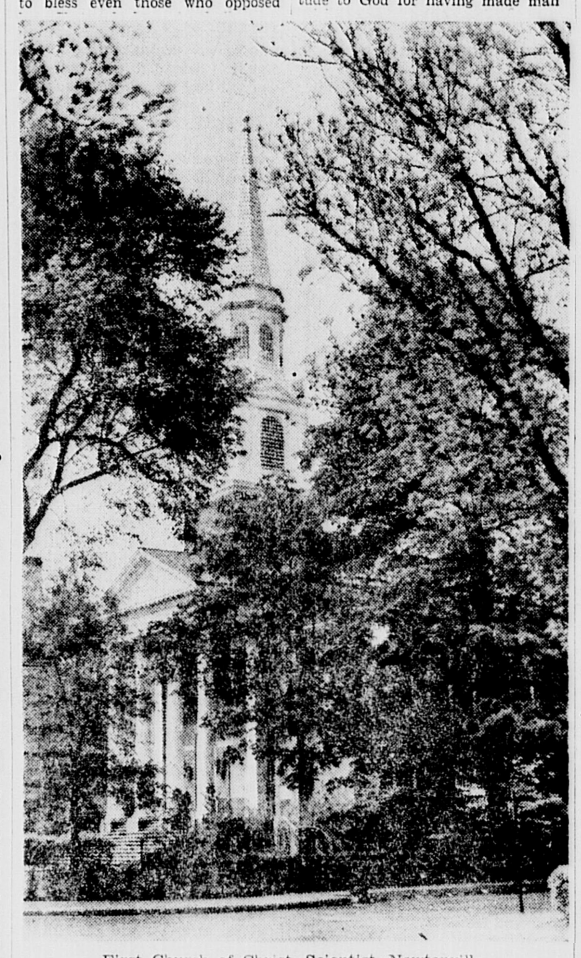

Christian Science teaches a full salvation, a present-day salvation, an individual salvation. No one can work out another's salvation, however much he would like to do so. Even the Master could not work out the salvation of another, but by his consummate example of Christliness he showed others how to work out theirs. Each individual must see the necessity of working out his salvation and be willing to do it. One works out his salvation as he overcomes sin, and he overcomes sin by learning that sin has no intelligence to attract him, that sin gives no real pleasure, but delivers one to the suffering which sin always brings. There are three steps to be taken in overcoming sin. The first step required is to recognize sin as sin, not to ignore it, not to excuse it, by merely declaring that sin is unreal, for sin is real to an individual as long as he serves sin. The second step necessary is to repent of sin, and the third step is reformation. Having taken these three steps, one is free to serve good and good only. The Christ, Truth, comes to individual consciousness to destroy all sense of sin. God's great law teaches that he who sins must suffer.

Paul indicated that "bringing into captivity every thought to the obedience of Christ" (II Cor. 10:5) is working out one's salvation. Nothing short of spirituality, honesty, and consecration will enable one to advance Spiritward. To think for one moment that the consciousness of the Christ, Truth, could be attained without these qualities would be to misunderstand our Master, who stood pre-eminently among men, the most honest, the most consecrated, the most spiritually-minded person that ever walked the globe. The commands of the Master to heal the sick and raise the dead make healing a necessity in working out one's salvation. Christ Jesus is the Way-shower, and he healed the sick and raised the dead. In Acts (4:12) we read, "There is none other name under heaven given among men, whereby we must be saved." In her Message for 1901, Mrs. Eddy writes (p. 10), "Theoretically and practically man's salvation comes through 'the riches of His grace' in Christ Jesus." Whatever would deprive mortal man of working out his own salvation, whether he advances slowly or rapidly, is opposed to the teachings of Christ Jesus and Christian Science.

The real man, a spiritual idea in divine Mind, has never had to work out his salvation, for he is already at one with the Father, with an eternal salvation. In belief it is mortal man who has his salvation to work out, and he will do it only as his thought becomes spiritualized; materiality blocks the way. "He that soweth to his flesh shall of the flesh reap corruption; but he that soweth to the Spirit shall of the Spirit reap life everlasting" (Gal. 6:8).

Christian Science calls upon each one to adore God, to understand God, and to demonstrate God; to acknowledge Christ as God's Son, and to accept Jesus as the Way-shower, and to obey Paul's admonition, "Let this mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus" (Phil. 2:5).

The Master said, "Come unto me, all ye that labour and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest" (Matt. 11:28). Christian Science says, "Come to the Comforter, the healing Christ, and all your needs will be met; 'Love never faileth.'"

Pinza, Noted Singer, At Wellesley Concert

EZIO PINZA

The Welesley Concert Series will present Ezio Pinza, famous basso, on Wednesday evening, December 4, in the second concert of the 1946-47 season. A capacity audience heard and enjoyed Manuhin at the opening concert andan equally large number is expected to hear Pinza, who is as pre-eminent among singers as Menuhin is among violinists. Pinza, however, is nearer the sources of music in folksong, for he is a natural singer and claims to be self-taught. He can sing an Italian folksong with completely satisfying authenticity. Yet he is said to have fifty-five operatic roles at his command, which is an enormous achievement for any singer self-taught or otherwise.

His program at Alumnae Hall will illustrate these unique qualities in a most interesting and varied way. He will sing arias from Mozart's "Magic Flute" and "Marriage of Figaro," and it has been his singing of Mozart which has gained him the acclaim of critic and concert-goer alike. There will be two arias by Monteverdi, infrequently heard, and songs from the noble tradition of Legrenzi and Handel. These will call upon the basso cantate quality of his rich voice and its extreme range. Recent music, however, will not be overlooked and songs by Faure, Respighi and others make up the concluding groups.

Pinza's appeal to all types of concert-goers. His basso of the Metropolitan Opera Company he has established for himself a popularity comparable only to that of Caruso. Ordinarily heavily bearded and made-up for operatic roles, his concerts show him to be a strikingly handsome man and of great personal charm.

The Concert Series Office in Billings Hall, Wellesley College, is open Monday through Friday, 10:30 to 3:30. A limited number of tickets, in good locations, is still available.

HOW DOES CHRISTIAN SCIENCE HEAL?

The disappearance of organic and functional disease, as well as of trouble in other forms, is continually recorded among those who have turned to Christian Science for help.

The method of such overcoming of difficulty is prayer,—a spiritually scientific manner of thinking based on the teaching of Christ Jesus.

What this prayer is and how anyone can understand it and use it effectually in accordance with his need are fully explained in the Christian Science textbook,

HELPFUL HEALTH HINTS

Prepared by
NEWTON TUBERCULOSIS and HEALTH ASS'N, Inc.

If you ever "eat out," you want to know about restaurant sanitation.

Eating places that have poor sanitary conditions endanger the health of their customers. Most people know that proper sanitation in food handling prevents the spread of disease. People like to eat in restaurants that are spotlessly clean. It is pleasant to be served at a soda fountain, if the clerk who touches the sandwiches has freshly-scrubbed hands.

Most restaurant managers understand how important cleanliness is. They realize that germs can be spread by fingers, flies, rats and mice, and by unclean water, food or utensils. A few of the diseases that can be spread in public eating places are colds, dysentery, tuberculosis and paratyphoid.

To prevent the spread of these and other diseases, dishwashing and rinsing should be done with very hot water and some type of germicide. Proper storage and refrigeration of food is essential to health. Protection against rats and mice helps to keep food safe from contamination. In this age of DDT, no restaurant should have flies or cockroaches.

The personal cleanliness and good health of restaurant employees helps to protect the health of people who "eat out." Careful cooks and waitresses never touch the edges of clean cups or glasses. They always pick up the silver by the handles. They keep free from contamination all surfaces that come in contact with food. Also, they stay at home when they have colds.

Some restaurant managers send their employees to a chest X-ray clinic periodically to make sure that they do not have tuberculosis.

All these precautions in the handling of food and managements of eating places are valuable aids to public health.

These health bulletins are a part of the health service of the Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association which is supported by the sale of Christmas Seals.

Bigelow Junior High To Hold Auction

A real old fashioned auction, one of the first of its kind ever to be held in the Garden City, will take place on Friday evening, December 6, in the auditorium of the Bigelow Junior High School, Newton.

Sponsored by a group of public spirited parents and teachers, it is a truly novel affair in the way of a community project. Every school has need for more funds than those provided by the regular school attachments. Bigelow has athletic uniforms and many other minor necessities that mean so much in giving the pupils a little enjoyment outside of the class room.

A plea is being made by the Auction Committee to all the residents of Newton, particularly those living in Newton Corner, to please look in their cellar and attics for articles that will help make the auction a success. Anything that is salable is acceptable, or if a truck or car is needed, just call Mrs. Samuel Abrams, Big. 6266 or Mrs. Gustave H. Umbsen, Dec. 0219, and the article will be picked up.

Mr. Ralph Waldo Emerson of Chelmsford, Mass., a professional auctioneer, well known in this part of New England, has been engaged for the evening. Articles to be auctioned can be inspected by the public from 5:00 to 7 p.m. the night of the auction. The auction will start at 7:30 p.m.

The Committees in charge are as follows:

Auction: Mrs. Samuel Abrams, Mr. John H. Newton, Mr. Frank Avantaggio, Mr. Manuel Gulesian and five pupils, Alice Marshall, Edward Tulis, Richard Dodge, Adrienne Depper and Jean Rambeau.

Telephone: Mrs. Gustave H. Umbsen, chairman. Captains: Mrs. Albert Rogan, Mrs. Arthur B. Norley, Mrs. George H. Larsen, Mrs. William T. Cass, Mrs. Howard Rich and Mrs. William H. McAdams. Each captain will choose about 8 workers to assist her on the telephone committee.

Arrangements of Articles for Sale: Mrs. Samuel Abrams, Mrs. Arthur B. Norley, Mrs. John Rambeau, Miss Marion S. Hamilton and a group of boys and girls from the school.

Following the reception there will be dancing with music furnished by Bartholomew's Band. A turkey-bridge will also be held.

Former City Engineer Harvey Honored

Ernest H. Harvey of 18 Rowe street, Auburndale, who has retired after serving as city engineer in Newton for over 50 years has been presented with a framed copy of a resolution adopted by the Planning Board concerning his retirement in which they paid tribute to his character and ability and his service to the city. The presentation was made by City Engineer Willard S. Pratt in behalf of the Planning Board.

The resolution reads as follows:

"RESOLVED, that the members of the Planning Board have learned with deepest regret of the retirement of Ernest H. Harvey as city engineer of the city of Newton. Mr. Harvey has served in the City Engineering Department for over 50 years. His outstanding traits have always been geniality, kindness and fairness to everyone with whom he came in contact. As a member of the Planning Board and Board of Survey he never refused an assignment, however difficult, and never failed to volunteer his services to further the work of both boards, no matter how pressed for time he may have been because of his regular duties as city engineer. He rarely missed a meeting of either board, although such meetings were invariably held at night and he must frequently have been fatigued by his daily tasks. In his relations with citizens who came to his office for advice and assistance, he was invariably patient, considerate and helpful. In a word, Mr. Harvey has always been a devoted public servant of the highest type, and the city of Newton has indeed been fortunate in retaining him in its service for so many years.

"The members of the Planning Board view his retirement with real regret, and he takes with him the sincere regard and affection of all of us who have come to know him so well. We have learned to look upon him as a true friend as well as an engineer of outstanding ability. It is our earnest wish that he may have many years of happiness ahead of him, and that his retirement will not sever the valued friendship which has resulted from our close association.

"The secretary of the Planning Board is directed to transmit to Mr. and Mrs. Ernest H. Harvey a copy of these resolutions with the sincere greetings of the board."

Enriched Bread and Peace Time Changes

—o—

War Food Order No. 1 which required bakers throughout the United States to enrich their bread with iron and B vitamins, has been canceled and passes into history. The wartime law has not required enrichment of white flour sold for family use, but about three-fourths of all this flour at present is enriched voluntarily, or to comply with state laws.

Where does the wartime experience in improving white flour and bread leave the country nutritionally, and what happens now?

Food economists of the Bureau of Human Nutrition and Home Economics who recently analized the nation's food supply from 1909-1945, reported that American civilians got more iron and B vitamins in their food during the recent war years than at any previous time in the 37 year period. Enrichment of white bread and flour was credited with playing an important part in this nutritional gain.

Four years' trial, say the food economists, seems to indicate that enrichment of flour and bread is an effective, practical and economical way to raise the level of thiamine, riboflavin, and niacin the B vitamin and iron, since practically everyone in the country uses flour and bread in some form. The ingredients to enrich all the flour and bread in the country would not cost more than 18 cents per person a year, at 1945 prices.

To date, 19 states and Puerto Rico and Hawaii have passed laws of their own, providing for enrichment of white bread and flour sold within their borders. Massachusetts does not have this law at the present time.

The rest of the country, enrichment is now on a voluntary basis. Consumers will need to read the labels closely to know whether both the white bread and flour that they buy are meeting nutrition enrichment standards.

Purple by Demand

The other change that the peace time food counters finds is in the meats. Missing from much of the meat now selling over the counter will be the purple Federal grade stamp which, from the beginning of the war, has offered a guide to the housewife as to the quality of her meat purchases. The reason for its absence is that federal grading no longer is compulsory since the OPA ceiling prices on meat were removed October 15.

However the federal grading services may still be had by those packers and slaughterers who wish it. The extent to which it is continued depends largely on the demand by housewives and other consumers for meat with the federal stamp.

"Take Our Word for it!"

"We've Never Had a Tire that Sold as Fast as the Tire that . . . OUTWEARS PREWAR TIRES"

"When you've got a good thing, word gets around fast . . . and word about the new B. F. Goodrich postwar Silvertown is certainly spreading around here.
"Seems everyone wants the tire that Outwears Prewar Tires! That's why it's so hard to keep them in stock—even with the factory's outstanding production.
"B. F. Goodrich users have been telling their friends about the wonderful tire mileage they are getting from the broader, flatter Silvertown tread . . . how it covers more road surface, hugs the road better, helps prevent skidding and slipping.
". . . And they've mentioned the 35% stronger tire body, the result of an entirely new type stronger cord with more cords per ply. All this, you know, means greater safety—better resistance to bruises and road shocks.
"Any way you look at it, the new Silvertown is today's most-for-the-money tire for your car . . . well worth waiting for."

OUR TOWN AFTER MIDNIGHT

By PAUL CONSIDINE

Thanksgiving Eve, in Our Town, was a more or less busy one and Thanksgiving Morning, from 12:01 until dawn, automobile and trolley travelers kept the Garden City's pulse fairly active. Traveling along Waltham street, West Newton, with Enrico Caruso—not the shade of operatic fame, incidentally, but a gent of considerable personal fame in the tonsorial field, we set the windshield wipers chasing themselves, endlessly, from hither to yon, as the first snow of the season blanketed the turn just abaft of High street, at exactly 4:15 a.m. by the Benrus on Enrico's robust wrist.

Enrico moaned. "It will be up to the hips by daylight," he murmured to himself, "and tomorrow business will be awful. They'll let their hair grow down their backs before they'll come out for haircuts . . ."

It appeared that 'Ric's prediction might be correct, as to snow, but in less than three minutes all was clear again and as this alleged column is being typed, it seems likely that come daylight, Old Man Sunshine may even contribute his share toward making this 1946 Thanksgiving Day a happy one for everybody.

Notice To Consumers of Electricity

The attention of retailers, manufacturers and other commercial users of electricity is directed to an advertisement of the Boston Edison Company which appears on Page 3 of this issue.

The advertisement quotes Utilities order U-14 prohibiting certain uses of electricity in the interest of saving coal.

The Civilian Production Administration is rigidly enforcing this order and have already dispatched 3000 telegrams to violators throughout the nation. Failure to observe provisions of the order may result in the discontinuance of electric service and punishment by fine or imprisonment.

Newton Lions Club

—o—

State Representative George E. Rawson of Newton was the guest speaker at the meeting of the Newton Lions Club on Thursday, November 21.

Speaking on "Some Impressions of the 1946 Election" Mr. Rawson said:

"The American People won the election. They were fed up with shortages of all kinds — meat, automobiles, housing, refrigerators, clothing, shirts and about everything else. They were tired of the inconvenience and the hardships caused by strikes. They were disgusted with high taxes. They had become sick of government interference with all their ways of life, with snooping into their private affairs. The slogan "Had Enough, Vote Republican" caught on and swept the country.

It is probable that there will be great changes in national policy in the next two years. A serious attempt will be made to balance the Federal budget and a definite reduction in Federal taxes is probable. There will be a clean out of unnecessary Federal employees. The extaordinary powers which the Congress granted to the executive during the war will be taken away and the government will be returned to the people, where it belongs under the terms of the Constitution. It is my opinion that we can look for a clear cut, courageous Federal labor policy instead of the bungling of the last few years. The traditional role of government in labor disputes is that of umpire only. In the last dozen years, however, government has generally interferred as a partner of labor — and that is weighing down the scales of justice with a thumb. There is a very good chance of legislation to prevent strikes in industries necessary to the public safety and health.

In Massachusetts there will be an administration devoted to economical, honest, humane government. There will be close cooperation between the Governor's office and the General Court. Men and women of character and ability will be appointed to public office. There will be an end of personal government on Beacon Hill. I have known Bob Bradford for a long time. He has it in him to become one of our greatest governors."

Rep. Rawson Appointed to Recess Commission

Speaker Willis of the House of Representatives has appointed Representative George E. Rawson of Newton a member of the Recess Commission on Redistributing the State into councillor, senatorial and representative districts.

Politics With Color

by P. W. C.

(The opinions expressed in this column are the writer's own, and do not necessarily reflect the views or policy of this newspaper.—Editor's Note).

Lewis vs. The United States

At long last the government of these United States has been forced to realize that the John L. Lewis situation must be settled once and for all. Either Lewis is bigger than our 140,000,000 citizens and their elected government officials or else he is NOT. Up to date, he has successfully defied anybody who stood in his way, both in war and in peace-time. We shall now find out just what the score is.

Of course, the average layman finds himself more or less at sea when he tries to weigh the complicated legal aspects of this crucial problem. That, incidentally, seems to be the rock on which our government has floundered up to this point. It appears that all of our officials, including the President himself, have spent far too much time juggling the legal technicalities. If, perchance, the present law is on the side of the majestic Lewis, it is high time that the law is changed. If necessary, the President should summon Congress into an extra session and enact sufficient law to either put John L. Lewis behind the bars, where many lawyers believe he belongs, or to strip him of the vast powers he now possesses.

The 1948 Election

Last week I said that I would say something about "at least eight Republican candidates for the Presidency in 1948." Curiously enough, in browsing through my favorite Boston evening paper last night, I noted a most interesting discussion of the G.O.P. prospects for the nomination two years hence. This columnist referred to the same eight men whom I had in mind, plus two others whom very few people have seriously considered until the recent election. These two men are Senator Baldwin of Connecticut, a former Governor of that state and Senator Martin of Pennsylvania, also a former Governor of his state. As a matter of fact, both men are stepping directly from the Governorship into the U. S. Senate.

The Big Eight, (my own phrase) include such old warhorses as Senators Taft of Ohio and Vandenberg of Michigan, the new Ohio Senator, John W. Bricker, another former Governor, the present Governors of New York and California, Thomas E. Dewey and Earl Warren, former Governor Harold Stassen of Minnesota and the two Massachusetts Senators, Leverett Saltonstall and Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr.

Now for a few brief comments about one of these outstanding public servants, one of whom could conceivably capture the G.O.P. nomination.

Like it or not, one of the two or three leading contenders at this moment is the highly efficient, but rather drab and colorless Senior Senator from Ohio, Robert A. Taft, who made an excellent run against the late Wendell L. Willkie in 1940. Unquestionably one of the ablest and most energetic members of the Senate, he is also extremely vulnerable as a G.O.P. nominee. He can scarcely be classed as a two-fisted internationalist. Also, he made a public statement immediately after the Nuremberg findings were announced which, from the writer's point of view, was exceedingly unfortunate, to put it mildly. One wondered if this man was not at heart an isolationist. If he is, that alone should disqualify him from serious consideration in 1948. Furthermore can you visualize Senator Taft campaigning all over the country and stirring the imagination of young men and women and world war two veterans? I cannot.

United Nations Site

Let us hope that the coming change in administration on Beacon Hill will not in any way militate against the Bay State's chance of securing approval for a permanent site for the UN in this vicinity. The Russians' proposal for a referendum on this matter is quite logical in view of what happened in Westchester County. However, the Blue Hills appears to offer a perfect solution of a trying problem. There would be no necessity for uprooting numerous families in a strictly residential district. It would certainly be a most wonderful thing for this state if the permanent site of the UN should be selected in this area.

"I Predict"

Without in any way claiming the same omniscience as Drew Pearson or other radio commentators who go out on a limb each week with a forecast of things to come, I should, nevertheless, like to take a look into the future, once in a while, and hazard a guess at some likely political development. It may be strictly local, or state, national or even international. As a starter, we will stay very close to home.

I predict that Newton will have a new Mayor, come January, 1948. As a matter of fact, I think that there is very little chance that Mayor Paul Goddard will even attempt to secure a fifth term.

I further predict that Newton will be operating under Plan E or some similar form of government within ten years and maybe earlier.

Christmas Sale at Hospital Benefit Shop

—o—

The annual Christmas sale of the Benefit Shop will be held at the Shop, 795 Washington street, Newtonville, on Monday, December 2 and Tuesday, December 3. The first day, the hours will be the same as for the regular day, but on Tuesday, the doors will open at 10 o'clock and close at 4.

Many of the articles, left from the recent Treasure Sale, as well as new goods will be on sale, and will include glass, china, games, aprons and other items which will make attractive gifts for the holidays.

Additional gifts for this sale from those who were unable to contribute to the other, or from any who wish to make a further contribution, may be left at the shop or at the real estate office of Mrs. E. M. McHugh, next door to the shop.

Newtonville Woman's Club

The regular meeting of the Newtonville Woman's Club will be held on Tuesday at 2:30 p.m. in the club house with the President, Miss Estelle G. Marsh, presiding. Mrs. Louis F. Billings of Newton Centre will tell the reasons why club women should be more Federation minded, telling of the many advantages of attending the regular meetings of the Newton Federation. The speaker of the afternoon will be Maud Preston who will tell about the styles and various hints to improve beauty and poise. She is an outstanding authority on style and should prove most interesting for she has much humor in her talks.

An opportunity will be given to the members who have not already contributed to the children's Christmas party to do so. This is a standing philanthropy of the club.

Mothers' Rest Club

On December fourth, Mrs. Robert Muther of Pleasant street, Newton Centre will open her home to the members of the Mothers' Rest Club of Newton. Mrs. Muther will have as her assistant hostesses, Mesdames John Colony, Herman Holt, Jr., Richard Norton, William Steinsick, and G. Horace Williams. Luncheon will be served after which the members will work on garments so necessary for the mothers and children benefitted by this club and the Junior Mothers' Rest Club.

Mailing Xmas Seals, Big, Satisfying Job Says Mrs. Robinson

11,200 motions — and 1600 letters enclosing Christmas Seals from the Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association, Inc., go out to the people of Auburndale this week.

That was the box score of Mrs. Arthur G. Robinson, director of the Walker Missionary Home on Hancock street, Auburndale, who gives some interesting information on this project from personal experience last year. As chairman of Christmas Seals, a community service of the Auburndale Woman's Club, it was her job to send out 1600 letters, each with 200 seals and return envelope enclosed. As Mrs. Robinson states with a wry smile, that really means 1600 letters folded and addressed carefully so that the name appears legibly in the open-face envelope, return envelope, seals and Association folder enclosed—and all 1600 envelopes licked and stamped! Incidentally, many of Mrs. Robinson's friends who merely stopped at the home for a friendly chat, found themselves licking and stamping envelopes while they talked with their hostess. "They were really quite a help, too," smiled Mrs. Robinson.

$1026 was received in Auburndale alone last year, an increase from $899 the previous year. In contrast, less than $400 was received when the service was first started in this village. In proportion to the number of residents, Mrs. Robinson was proud to say that Auburndale ranks among the highest in the Newton villages.

The work isn't over, of course, when the stamps are sent out. A complete tabulation is made on individual cards of stamps received or returned and reasons noted. Money trickles in up to April, Mrs. Robinson states. In a special account at the Newton Trust Co., deposit slips are made out in triplicate, one copy being kept by the chairman, one by the bank, and one sent to headquarters.

Since last year was the first time the organization decided to enclose 200 stamps instead of the 100 in former years, Mrs. Robinson found it interesting to note the comments received on this: some people automatically kept them all, some kept just what they could use, some people were angry, some commented that the Association was doing a good job, while others stated they were increasing their subscription because somebody in the family had tuberculosis.

One of the difficulties of a Christmas Seals chairman is to keep addresses accurate. Many people move during the year and it is necessary to find out where each has gone so his card can be corrected and sent back to headquarters to be re-assorted. Emulating Sherlock Holmes Mrs. Robinson kept her ear to the ground all year to hear of changes in addresses. Fine cooperation was received from the local post office, where they checked her final list and took out 100 cards of people who had moved and left forwarding addresses. In spite of that vigilance, 72 letters came back.

Planning, purchasing and serving about 4000 meals a month to the missionaries who came to the Walker Missionary Home from the ends of the earth is no small task, and is only one phase of Mrs. Robinson's work. Since the war ended, activities there are increasing all the time, so she has reluctantly relinquished her chairmanship for 1946 to another member of the Auburndale Woman's Club, Mrs. F. Payson LeBaron of 28 King street. "It is a tremendous job," Mrs. Robinson stated, "but highly rewarding in the feeling of kinship and warm appreciation for the people in my community."

Vets Organize Handicraft Project

—o—

Two enterprising veterans, Bernard J. Bergman and C. E. MacMaster, have come up with a "Co-operative Handicraft" project which promises to become an excellent outlet for other veterans with hand-tool skill.

Although still in the "cellar workshop" stage, as soon as materials and machines become more available the plan is to open in one of the local shopping centers. Bergman, recently discharged from the Navy was formerly employed in the manufacture of jewelry, and MacMaster, before he joined the Marines in the Pacific, was a salesman. Currently, they have pooled their talents and are offering for Christmas presents or stocking-fillers, hand-punched brass nameplates for a door.

The leters are well-formed, and the name clearly discernable. Mail orders will be taken and promptly filled at 71 Walker Street, Newtonville, or may be made by phoning Bigelow 0361.

Norman McCarthy, a member of the Newton Fire Department received a severe hand wound which required seventeen stitches while fighting a blaze at the home of Joseph F. Batten, 71 High street, Newton Upper Falls.

Pack One Induction Held Nov. 22nd

An induction of Pack One took place at the Cabot School on Friday evening, November 22nd under the supervision of Walter P. Chase, Squanto District Commissioner of the Norumbega Council of the Boy Scouts of America.

Miss Helen L. Thompson, principal of the Claflin and Cabot Schools, was chiefly instrumental in setting up this organization because of the need of the attention to boys between the ages of nine to twelve years in an all out program to make the youth of today, better citizens.

Walter B. Chase, Squanto District Commissioner inducted Cub Master, Charles Scipione, Jr. and two assistant cub masters, Galen Bloom and Victor Knapman. He used four candles in the form of a square symbolic of the Cub promise: "I promise to do my best, to be square, and to obey the Law of the Cub Pack," and signifying the entrance to Pack One, Cub Scouts into Norumbega Council, Boy Scouts of America. He also inducted Mrs. Herbert A. Webster representing the Cabot-Claflin Parent Teachers Association, which is the sponsor of Pack One, and Mr. Carlton McCullough, president of the Newtonville group and co-sponsor of Pack One.

The following committeemen of Pack One were also inducted: Gilbert Isgur, Chairman, Henry Hawkins, Secretary, Chandler Butler, Treasurer, William Brooks, and Lloyd Tarlin. Robert Pettit, Scout Executive of Norumbega Council, spoke on the ideals and accomplishments of the Cub Scouting movement, and welcomed the group into the Norumbega Council.

George Shannon, Cub Scout Chairman for Norumbega Council, inducted the Cub Master and presented the Pack flag. There also was an induction of the following Den Mothers by Dr. Clarence Reiman, Neighborhood Commissioner for the Newton area: Mrs. Stanley Morton, Mrs. Henry Hawkins, Mrs. Gilbert Isgur, and Mrs. Lewis Tedstone. Mrs. Mabel Hagen, President Mothers Auxiliary and Mrs. Newell Trask, Treasurer, also were present at the meeting and presented the American flag to the Pack.

The Pack Commissioner, Robert Toher, also welcomed the Pack into the Council.

The following Den Chiefs have been inducted: Robert Long, and Eric Swansfeldt.

The following boys were inducted into Pack One in a regular ceremony by the Cub Master and his assistants:

Richard D. Batchelder, Barry M. Bloom, Alvin F. Brackman, John K. Brooks, Kenneth I. Butled, William Bradford Connor, Michael S. Conrod, Frederick L. Ginsburg, Richard G. Hartigan, Steven H. Hawkins, Edward C. Hume, Lee Stuart Isgur, Richard D. Kannair, F. Richard Knapman, Russell E. Laprise, David Morton, Melvin H. Parsons, George Harris Patten, Herbert Pheeney, Kevin Pheeney, Paul D. Quinlan, Raymond Scichilone, Richard S. Scipione, Bradley R. Strahan, Lloyd D. Tarlin, Jr., Lewis W. Tedstone, Sheldon Witten, Billy Wood.

Many parents of the boys were present, and they were told of the principles concerning Cub Scouting and its enjoyment by every member of the family, stressing the point that every member has a definite part to play.

Central Church to Hear Dr. Carl Heath Kopf

Dr. Karl Heath Kopf of Boston, well known to radio audiences for his Sunday broadcasts "From a Window on Beacon Street" will speak at the Central Congregational Church in Newtonville on Tuesday evening, December 3.

Flying from California to Manila and return, Dr. Kopf went to the Philippines this fall as the special representative of the Congregational churches to attend an important interdenominational post-war planning meeting and to survey the work of the American Board of Foreign Missions, of which he is a Vice President. By jeep, on foot and by plane he covered Congregational fields on Mindanao, Luzon and Negros with American Board missionaries traveling some 22,000 miles in three months with 16,000 miles by plane.

In the Philippines Dr. Kopf talked with Christians in cities, towns and isolated villages with pastors and officials and had a personal interview with President Roxas, head of the new Filipino republic, who pleaded for more Christian education and aid in rebuilding schools and churches. Some 90% of the churches were either destroyed or badly damaged.

A speaker of simplicity, conviction and appeal, Dr. Kopf reaches a large unseen audience each Sunday by radio in broadcasts that are beamed to every creed and race. In writing of his broadcasts WEEI says, "The tremendous trifles of our lives inspire a fresh and plain spoken philosophy of strength, tolerance and progress. His is a spoken word every man can call his own."

Dr. Kopf's radio work career began at the conclusion of a European tour in 1938 when he returned impressed by the need of finding some way to bring religion to more people in the world outside the church doors. He has been a "feature" of WEEI since that year.

Born in New York State, Dr. Kopf recalls that he first yearned to be a scientific farmer and spent most of his summer vacations on a farm. Called to the Christian ministry he followed graduation from Princeton University and Boston University School of Theology, with two pastorates in Massachusetts churches before becoming minister of Mt. Vernon Church, Boston in 1933.

In 1943 Dr. Kopf traveled about the USA visiting military camps and specifically the Friends Service Camps.

Blood Available to Citizens When One Of Family Donates

It's good news for persons who have given their blood to the Massachusetts Blood Donor Program! Actual donors and members of their immediate families are now eligible to receive whole blood as needed, and free of charge. Blood will be supplied for these people directly or it will be available to replace whole blood received from a hospital blood bank. The expansion of the program will mean that all Massachusetts will be included as soon as sufficient supplies are on hand. It is only fair that those who have actually donated their blood should receive the benefits first.

Surplus blood plasma from the supplies collected during the war have been released by the government to the Red Cross and is available to licensed hospitals. However, in many instances, red blood cells, which are removed in the processing of plasma, are needed also. These are primarily cases in which the patient has lost a large quantity of blood such as from hemorrhage or severe accident. Blood fractions, obtained from whole blood, are needed before and after operations. The importance of building up the supplies of plasma which will soon become depleted, and particularly of whole blood, cannot be overestimated, according to Dr. Loren D. Moore, director of the blood program for the Department of Health. In June alone when there was an epidemic of measles, more than 6,000 Massachusetts children received from the state some 12,000 cubic centimeters of gamma globulin, the newly discovered immunization fraction, to lessen for them the dangers of measles.

The mobile unit from the State Department of Public Health is to visit the Newton Chapter House on Thursday, December 5 from 10:45 to 4:45 and Friday the 6th from 1 to 7. Mrs. Dana F. Baird, Blood Donor Chairman suggests that you call Lasell 6000 for an appointment. Donors between the ages of 18 and 2[illegible] should bring with them minor release.

Mrs. Marion M. Moulton of 52[illegible] California Street has already made her twenty-ninth appointment for the giving of blood. Many other Newton citizens also have most creditable records in this satisfying form of giving for which there is no dollar value.

64 Take Exams for Fire Dept. Positions

Fall Fair at Presbyterian Church

Tuesday, December third, has been announced as the date set for their Fall Fair, by the Ladies organizations of the First United Presbyterian Church at Newton Corner. This is an annual affair and anticipated with great pleasure by the members and adherents of the congregation, both old and young alike. This event will take place in the spacious church parlor and connecting vestry, which will be entirely rearranged to accommodate the activities of the day.

The five 'Groups,' constituting the Ladies Aid Society of the church, will each present their own table of saleable articles, designed primarily to cater to Christmas gift-buying patrons. Tea, accompanied by delicious home-made refreshments, at a cost of fifty cents—will be served continuously through the afternoon and evening.

Altogether this bazaar, which is the first one in the life of this Church, since the congregation moved from Boston to Newton, promises to be of outstanding interest and the members of the organizations sponsoring it, are hoping that many of the ladies living in the community will plan to visit them on this special 'occasion.'

Hinckley, new President of the Babson Institute of Business Administration, will speak Sunday morning, December first, in the Church of the Open Word, (Highland avenue, across from the Newtonville Library) at the regular morning service, 11 a. m. Dr. Hinckley, trained as a scientist and as minister of the new church, of which he is President of the So. East Association, received his Ph.D., from Harvard in 1932, served eight years as head of the English department of the University of Tampa, Fla., and six years as Dean of Kalamazoo College in Michigan, of which he was part of the time acting head. From Kalamazoo he was called to the Presidency of Babson Institute, July 1, 1946. Everyone is welcome to come to hear Dr. Hinckley on Sunday and to meet him afterwards over a cup of coffee in the Church Parlor.

Telephone men working on our 12-month, $45,000,000 construction program

New switchboards and dial equipment in most of our 600 central offices; new buildings or additions in over 200 places; hundreds of miles of new wire and cable; tens of thousands of new telephones—these are the main items in the huge construction program which eventually will bring to New England more and better telephone service than it has ever had before.

The job is big. We'll spend $45,000,000 on it in the next 12 months and additional millions in coming years. The first aim is telephones for all who want them; the second, restoring and then exceeding the highest standards of service we have ever given.

The Telephone Company plans to give you the improving and expanding service that New England wants. To do this requires constant research and the skilled work of telephone people. It also requires the yearly investment of millions of dollars, put up by thousands of individual investors confident that their money will be safe and that it will bring them a reasonable return.

Newton Community Fund Pledges Now 94% of Goal

Although the Campaign of the Greater Boston Community Fund closed Wednesday night, there will be continued activity in all of the 51 cities and towns and in the various Boston divisions during the next week or two to clean up all outstanding pledge cards in the hope that the Fund may still reach its total of $7,000,000.

The total amount of subscriptions to the Fund are not available as we go to press, but Newton reports as of Wednesday noon $301,653 or 94 per cent of goal. "If Newton is to reach its goal of $321,000 in this campaign," states Franklin K. Hoyt, Newton chairman, "every card will have to be covered and increased subscriptions will have to be obtained from not only those who have not made pledges but also from those who have already subscribed. Citizens of Newton are urged to send subscriptions direct to the Chest Office, 93 Union street, Newton Centre. I hope that every person who has not already subscribed will make his subscription promptly and that those who have made subscriptions will give serious consideration to increasing their gifts. Our Red Feather services who are recipients of the funds raised are facing the possibility of seriously curtailing their work unless the full $7,000,000 goal to meet minimum needs is raised. Newton has a big stake in this campaign, and every worker and citizen is urged to do everything possible to help Newton reach its goal."

In the Residential Division, Chestnut Hill has reached 112 per cent of its goal and Waban Hill 100 per cent. Newton Highlands is 97 per cent, West Newton and Waban 95 per cent. Newton Centre has reached 93 per cent, while the other villages are all close to 90 per cent. The Mercantile Division leads all the Newton divisions with 102 per cent of goal, with the Residential following at 94 per cent, the Manufacturing Division at 93 per cent, Advance Gifts at 91 per cent and Municipal at 83 per cent. In the Mercantile Division, Women's Section, Newton Centre, Newton Highlands, Waban, West Newton, and Chest Agencies are all over the top. In the Men's Section of the Mercantile Division, Automobiles, Beverage Stores and Taverns are over their goal. In the Advance Gifts Division, Chestnut Hill leads with 106 per cent of its goal. In the Municipal Division, Assessors, Engineers, Executive and Library have all reached 100 per cent of goal.

On the closing night of the Newton Community Chest Campaign, awards of Red Feather letter openers were made to leading villages or sections in each division and also to Everett W. Varney, captain of Team 20 in Newton Centre, who lead all Residential teams with 137 per cent of goal; to George Hansen, captain of Team 5 in Auburndale, whose team reached 135 per cent of goal. Further awards were made to John W. Brush, captain of Team 16 in Newton Centre, and Richard G. Norris, captain of Team 1 in Chestnut Hill, for being over 100 per cent on the third report night.

Chairman Hoyt presented handsome Red Feather pins to the chairmen of each of his 11 divisions in the campaign and recognized the office staff with a gift of a Ronson lighter to H. J. Pettengill, executive director, and corsages to the office girls. Mr. Hoyt thanked the volunteer leaders and workers for the cooperation they had given him in this campaign and he asked that the work continue until all calls have been made in the hope that Newton might reach its goal.

Lawrence B. Damon, president of the Chest, in presenting an electric numeral time clock to Chairman Hoyt, stated that no chairman had ever worked harder for a successful campaign. He called for the loyalty of the organization to support "Jim Hoyt" until the final results can be tabulated and asked every leader to follow through with his workers to "Ring the Bell" and put Newton over the top.

Auburndale Club

The Auburndale Players again proved their versatility in the presentation of their fall play, the exciting thriller, "Night Must Fall". The entire cast was flawless, and Maude G. Higgins, the director, has added another achievement to her already long list of successes. The cast enjoyed an after-the-play party in the club lounge. The Reading Committee of the group is already reading plays for the spring production.

Friends of Harry Bryce, former steward at the club, will be sorry to learn of his recent illness. Harry is at the Middlesex County Hospital and would appreciate hearing from his many friends.

Mrs. Harry E. Thompson announces the next club dinner will be served Friday, December 6th. A Christmas play will be given by the members. In the cast are Mr. and Mrs. Eric J. Kermath, Mrs. H. Drew Flegal, Lindell Layman, Mrs. George Betten, and Mrs. Albert Terkelsen.

The first club lounge bridge was held recently under the co-chairmanship of Mrs. Arthur Read, Mrs. Paul Monroe, and Mrs. Raymond Brooks.

A formal dance is scheduled for Saturday, December 14th with music supplied by Paul Ambler's Orchestra. Mr. and Mrs. Lester

The new Drama Group of the York head the committee.

According to Walter Fuller, night manager of the Puritan Hotel, almost all traveling people and hotel dwellers, if it's at all possible, make the trek to the old homestead, so's to share Thanksgiving Day with the old folks, and, maybe, with them, live once again in the happy memories of childhood for a few short hours . . .

AROUND TOWN . . .

Anyone observing traffic conditions in Newton Corner during the 'rush' hours between 7:30 a.m. and 9:30 a.m. and again between the hours of 3 p.m. and 6 p.m. will realize, in the positive manner, that the plans of local Aldermen, now in the blueprint stage, are practical and should be put into effect there in the very near future . . . Marie Doherty, pianist at the Kiwanis Club meetings, plays all the old favorites every night, at the Log Cabin . . . There's another detour on Centre street between Sargent and Cotton streets . . . Cherry street, West Newton, is open to traffic again and now sports a new cement surface . . . Lowell avenue is not yet completely surfaced . . . According to the driver of a trailer used to deliver new automobiles, freight houses are jam-packed with new automobiles . . . A local automobile dealer told this department, last week, that in his opinion, anyone in the market for a new car will be able to buy one after the first of the new year . . .

OUR READER WRITES US . . .

Dear Columnist:

If I were you I'd be careful to choose—the stories I'd write and the one's that I'd "lose,"
For if I had an uncle like yours, I know
I'd bury my head out in Buffalo's snow.
The tale of a missing State of Maine deer and of poor Mr. Bellinger to whom it brought cheer, spells the name of Uncle Willie to my psychic mind or ask Freddie Burns cause he's not so blind.

Now your dear relative is hiking—on to Newtonville
I'm certain he isn't riding, cause the bus is ten cents still.
I know he's visiting a cleanser there,
for I've seen him sitting in Bob Wilcox's chair.
You really should take him in hand and say,
"Now Bob is busy you stay away."

Sorting out cleansing is very nerve racking sport jackets, check pants—there all very exacting.
Supposing a coat that belonged to Jack Janse,
Should get the same tag as Hal Pillsbury's pants.
A sanitary expert wants the coat just styled for his back and the man from 'Sherman" couldn't commute hither and yon in a sack.
A gent like Frank Battles in a competitive field couldn't sell Pontiacs in Hudson Seal.

Bill Sullivan's clothes, now "Hoods Whipping Cream is Back" have to be just so 'from de west out to de slack'
So if Willie is corrected, and his habits bettered, too, maybe the Elks will invite him to the next Venison Stew.
Titus Pincus MacWadd.

THANKSGIVING CONTINUED . . .

One of the most difficult tasks facing a gent who writes for his home town newspaper is usually that of avoiding 'traps' or innocently giving a friend the 'business'. Happily, all of the 'traps' set for this department have been laid by pals, more or less, not intended to maim, and so far's the writer is aware, there have been no complaints from any source, concerning the 'business' angle . . .

Once, however, this pillar fell hook, line and sinker for a gag set up by the late Sammy Leehan and George O'Neil, both police officers, at the time. Referring to Sammy in the column as the police department's most eligible bachelor, he received much 'fan mail' and with O'Neil, plotted constantly as to ways and means of getting hunk. It was fun for a long time, particularly so, being as how by constant diligence, plot after plot was successfully avoided . . .

Alas, all good things come to an end sometime, and one midnight, sitting with them, in the family jaloppy, the writer forgot to hold his left hand high. 'Twas Thanksgiving morning! A sense of peace and well being, mingled with suffocating odor of cigarette smoke, anesthetized the left hand, or something, for after listening to their touching story of the lonely street sweeper in Nonantum, his pleasure when complimented on the care he gave his flaming red hair, Our Town also complimented him in print.

The next day we discovered the guy wore a wig—and with a half dozen kids, how could he be lonely!

THANKSGIVING CONTINUED . . .

Police around town are telling a story concerning another member of the department, Jimmy McHugh. It seems, according to the story, that McHugh who likes to give the impression he's a hard hearted gent, met a youngster on his beat, one of a family of nine, and kiddingly inquiring, Thanksgiving Eve, about the amount of turkey she planned to eat the next day, discovered no turkey would be available, but that her mother had purchased one chicken.

"What?" growled McHugh. "No turkey for Thanksgiving?"

The little girl nodded her head . . .

"Get in!" ordered McHugh.

The youngster obeyed and McHugh, driving to the nearest meat market, slammed his way inside, emerging a few minutes later with a monster bird.

"Go on home!" he growled, giving her the turkey.

Bet those nine kids had a swell Thanksgiving . . .

Holiday Service at Christian Science Church 10:45 A.M.

A Thanksgiving Day service was held by First Church of Christ, Scientist, Newton in the church edifice on Thanksgiving Day morning at 10:45 o'clock.

The service was opened by the congregation singing Hymn No. 374 in the Christian Science Hymnal," We thank Thee and we bless Thee."

Then Mr. Wallace G. Strathern, the First Reader, read the Thanksgiving Day Proclamation by Pres. Truman.

This was followed by the Scriptural selection, after which the congregation united in silent prayer which was followed by the Lord's Prayer with its spiritual interpretation from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy.

Hymn No. 282, "Praise the Lord, Ye Heavens, Adore Him," was then sung by the congregation.

Then followed the Lesson-Sermon especially prepared for Thanksgiving Day. The subject of this Lesson-Sermon was "Thanksgiving," and had for the Golden Text: "Let the peace of God rule in your hearts, to the which also ye are called in one body; and be ye thankful" (Colossians 3:15).

After the responsive reading which consisted of passages taken from the Scriptures, Mrs. Ernestine M. Kyle, the Second Reader, read the citations from the Bible, while Mr. Wallace G. Strathern the First Reader, read correlative passages from Science and Health.

Among the Scriptural verses was included: "He sent his word, and healed them, and delivered them from their destructions. Oh that men would praise the Lord for his goodness, and for his wonderful works to the children of men!" (Psalms 107:20,21).

The following citation was among those from Science and Health: "As time moves on, the healing elements of pure Christianity will be fairly dealt with; they will be sought and taught, and will glow in all the grandeur of universal goodness" (p. 329).

A solo "Song of Thanksgiving" by John Randall Dunn was sung by Mrs. Marian H. Haynes after the Lesson-Sermon had been concluded.

Testimonies of gratitude for healings and benefits received during the past year filled the time given to this part of the service.

The closing hymn was No. 150, "In Mercy, in Goodness, How Great is Our King."

The first reader then read the "scientific statement of being" from the Christian Science textbook (p. 468), and the correlative passage from I John 3:1-3.

The benediction followed: "Be Ye Thankful."

Trade School Makes New Desks Out of Old

The Newton Trade School is converting old desks into new ones for Newton's schools. This is a valuable contribution because desks are expensive and very hard to obtain. The new desks are double ones enabling more pupils to sit in one room; there would be now, for example, 18 double desks instead of 30 single ones. Besides providing more space for the pupils in the room, they also allow more actual writing space.
